students and faculty become part of the lives of those around them. While the building
becomes only a shell, known as Northville
High School.

With summer days fading into life long memories, August 28, 1995 caused the alarm clock to be set, clothes to be bought, and rides to be found. Starting earlier in the year than ever before, students were forced to make their way up the hill to a high school bursting at its seams. 1,246 students found their way to the front doors of NHS, each facing his own challenge of the coming year.

As one looked for familiar faces by the Auditorium, at lunch, and in class, you quickly realized that among the American Eagle and J. Crew class masses, a lot of hidden personality and spirit existed. That personality emerges as students bonded over shared memories, stories and fears of the past and future years.

The winding trail holds eager Explorers at the end. South Manitou Island was a great experience for all who attended and was a great time of revelation for all of the students.

With so many activities,

Although six periods, five times a week may have seemed routine, there was always something going on to shatter the monotony. Students could easily find 24 hours worth of activities. With

Student Life

at Northville has been more diverse than ever. Working with the community and citizens around the world, students have had many interesting adventures this year.

all of these events, and not much time, sleepless nights took over, bringing either ditch days or stimulating caffeine addictions the following morning.

Once the weekend hit, it became even harder for parents to locate NHS students. Some hung out at a friend's house, while others ventured out of Northville to explore new territories. College campuses, fast food restaurants, and coffee houses were infested with teenagers pushing their curfew to the final few seconds.

Ordinary clothes were thrown into the back of the closet on several occasions. When spirit was at an all time high, students dug up pajamas, wigs, clown suits and leisure suits in an attempt to make their classes number one. Homecoming and prom brought formally dressed couples out on the town. While "The Diary of Anne Frank" brought costumed actors and actresses on stage.

But even when the craziness was coming at students at full speed, sometime they just had to hit the brakes and slow down on their way up the hill.

High school students lives often involve projects including their classes. Senior Katie Johnson helps out making Root Beer Floats for the senior class at the Victorian Festival.

Another aspect of students lives is to involve themselves in community and outside activities. Senior Kyle Hitchcock participates in a dunk tank for kids of all ages.

Senior Alyssa Macfarlane joins a group of African students on her summer trip to Africa. The NHS students who went on this trip were all exposed to living life in another culture.

was the main goal of our three month hiatus. While some students were working on their tan,
others were getting ready for the coming year.

Summer activities began as soon as June 18th hit. Our jobs kept us busier than most people would have liked, but provided

R

some extra cash for weekends and for approaching college expenses. The students on the African and Russian trips explored new cultures, and Summer Institute participants filled their days intellectually. Upper classmen laughed as we watched the sophomores return to the hill for Driver's Education. Seniors spent lots of time on college tours, trying to decide where to head after NHS. Cedar Point was, as always, a favorite weekend getaway. When August arrived, practices began. The band could be heard from morning 'til afternoon, and one of the many sports teams was always walking over the bridge. Before we knew it, it was time to return to school.

Summer also brought a time for education. Senior Jenny Redden and her new found friend enjoyed themselves in the ceramics intensive at Western Michigan University's section of Summer Institute.

Unfortunately summer brought some students back to school. Senior Andrea Crawford and sophomore Greg Last come back to the high school in mid - August to begin practicing for the upcoming marching band performances.

1996

Working to reach a personal

Style

of expression,
many students
turn the task of dressing into an art form.

With many trends running throughout the halls, a walk to class can become a fashion show.

If you are trying to generalize the style of an average high school, walk from the band room to the science corridor, and then you'll realize it's hopeless! This year Northville's halls were splattered with everything from thrift shop merchandise to game day's formal dresses and ties. Concert T-shirts and jeans remained popular, as did just about anything else comfortable. Seniors transformed Humanities test days into unofficial pajama days, and could otherwise be seen in their "Class of 96" tie dye T-shirts. Freshman, on the other hand, went for the slightly more polished look (they'll grow out of it). Michigan's cold winters prompted the return of flannel shirts in order to keep warm in the school's icy classrooms. Sandals were an essential, and beads complemented any outfit. Guys continued to ignore their hair and wear baseball hats, while most of the girls went for the no-spray, natural look. One thing you can count on, anything found in your closet, you can bet someone else is wearing at school.

Styles of student definitely vary from student to student. Before the Homecoming parade, senior Katie Johnson and junior Andy Weiss are perfect examples of the clash from rags to riches.

The senior courtyard displays an array of styles. Most seniors (including Marsha Keller, Lynne George, Michael Jobulian, Sara Sant, and Jessica Chall) sport the casual jeans and comfort shirt.

Casual dress and attitude seemed to be the style this year. Junior May Raschke shows off her casual up-do and clothes during art class.

routines of class.

To each his own when it comes to entertainment,
which can vary from a Tori Amos concert to a talk with Kelly, a favorite waitress.

Living in Northville, we have to get a little creative with our means of entertainment.
Many hours were spent this last year in coffee houses, listening to acoustic guitars. There was always someone at the mall or movies. Royal Oak and Ann Arbor were new attractions, and many traveled to U of M or MSU to visit their graduated alumni friends. King Edward and other garage bands entertained us more than once; any type of concert was especially popular. Our favorite late night spot was indisputably Big Boy and Denny's. Seinfeld and Friends dominated Thursday nights. As always, football and basketball games attracted a crowd, and many spent time participating in recreational sports such as hackysacking, rollerblading, and volleyball. Most of the time, however, we could just be found hanging out at someone's house.

Coffee houses have been a place of refuge for more a large majority of students this year, especially since the opening of Northville's Tuscan Cafe. Senior Kara Lloyd uses coffee as a way to stay both warm and awake!

NHS Cheerleaders always put on an entertaining show, no matter where or which division of girls. This years Varsity cheerleaders performed a powerful show at this years homecoming pep rally.

Cheap Free Stuff. A great way to entertain students is with anything free. They are always happy to take donations or accept free admission to any event. Senior Ben Adis is more than willing to accept free bread samples from the Great Harvest Bread Company.

this year.

Some were liked, while others only led to debate.

What ever
the outcome,
life on the hill
will never be the same

Lots of new policies greeted us this year as we returned to NHS. Northville's booming population clogged hallways, and crowded classrooms. Many Humanities students were forced to camp out on the floor in the forum for the first few weeks of school due to the number of chairs available. The lack of parking left some Seniors still trying to find a ride to school, while those lucky enough to obtain spots found their spaces numbered. The new attendance policy, three tardies equal an unexcused absence, quickened the pace of many students, even though we were all a little sleeper without our Wednesday mornings. The hall monitors remained as strict as ever, and the library stringently enforced its new "no backpack" rule. Food in the hallways and classrooms was still forbidden. Much to the students' dismay, it was slightly more of a challenge to get a teacher to hook you up to the Internet, and the F4 key was removed from E-Mail. Thanks to Student Congress, we gained a little freedom when the English Courtyard was opened to walk through. Despite all the new rules and regulations, we managed to survive yet another year.

All of the staff (esp. hall monitors) have been "cracking" down on students with food and drinks in the hallways. Senior Rohit Jha seems to have snuck by the faculty as he drinks and talks to senior Katie Johnson.

This year's e-mail system is still a big hit. The F4 key has been banned from the mailing system so that this chat function will not disturb classes. Kashif Siddiqi has found time to write to a friend using this high tech system.

Parking spaces have not so much been a controversial issue as it has been a helpful one. With the increase in seniors it seems that fewer and fewer students are getting spaces. Fortunately Erica Whichello has gotten one for herself and her Escort.

I went to Western Michigan University for the Summer Institute of Arts and Sciences (SIAS). My intensive area of study was Ceramics. I learned a lot through my instructors, but I learned even more through my peers. My favorite part of SIAS was the peer groups. There were many diverse people participating in SIAS and we all taught each other about many things: religion, politics, sports, relationships and much more. I learned a lot about my self through others and made many friends that will last a lifetime. -Jenny Redden

I attended the National High School Institute at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. The program consisted of a five week series of classes and a research project in the fields of science and engineering. The classes included studies in mechanical engineering, astronomy, linguistics, ethical issues in medicine, and music technology. His research project addressed aero- and hydronamics. I was one of sixty students accepted into the program. All those who attended lived in campus dorms. During the same time period, National High School Institute, in cooperation with the university, ran a total of eleven similar program ranging from theater to politics. - Jim Malloure

I went to the SEEKS Summer Institute program at Adrian College in July. My intensive area was Freshwater Ecology, But I also studied in exploratory classes like anthropology, holistic medicine, and self-awareness. I had a great time with the other students participating, and made some good friendships. I learned more about myself and the world around me. Summer Institute was a rewarding experience that I will always remember. -Adrienne Dunkerley

Along with Kristy DeLeonardis, I was fortunate enough to spend part of my summer in Goddard Hall at Eastern. Though I went to learn about computers and multimedia, SI 95 taught me more about life than any other event, class or group. Living in a dorm with 100 other unknown students, I was able to experience a mock college environment, complete with cafeteria food, and late night games. The friends made have remained close, and the experince dear to my heart. Though only two weeks bound us together, we were able to share a lifetime of memories, growing emotionally and mentally. -Patrick McNeal

This summer I had the opportunity to study Political Science at Eastern Michigan University for two weeks. My instructors made a point to demonstrate their lessons through interesting activities and field trips. The most rewarding aspect was interacting with students from various backgrounds. Through this program I learned a lot about myself and what is really important to me. -Kristy DeLeonardis

SADD is an organization that raises awareness about drinking and driving. A major goal of SADD is to lift people's self-esteem without the use of drugs or alcohol. Our meetings on the second Tuesday of every month prove that membership has been improving. Our officers and chairpersons have worked especially hard this year. SADD could not be possible without our great advisors Charile Stilec, Jack Wickens and Judy Patton. Members participate in activities like the Victorian Festival, Maybury's Haunted Forest Walk, the Shanty Creek SADD Conference, Window of Life, Grim Reaper and Red Ribbon Week. Help save lives, don't drink and drive!

Sponsor Charlie Stilec's dedication is much appreciated by the members.

Teenagers and music? An unbeatable combination, according to the Broadcast Writing and Production class this year. These students pooled their talents and energy to create THE WHIP, NHS's very own radio station. Every Friday morning from 7:00 - 7:25, student deejays took to the airwaves with music, original station identifications, and conversation. As air personalities, broadcast students experienced a glimpse into the life of a disc jockey while students in the halls enjoyed a musical change of pace.

As well as the WHIP, many senior participate in the Hill Top Shoppe. This activity is sponsored by Michael Burley and Wayne Saunders. Students are taught how to successfully merchandise and run a small retail business operation.

Band

The Northville High School Symphonic, Marching, and Jazz bands all enjoyed another great year in the music department. As the largest band NHS has ever had, the 170 member Marching band started out the year with halftime shows at the football games. Led by drum majors Nicole Accioioli, Adrienne Dunkerley, Matt Falkiewicz, and Beth Patterson, and assisted by drum majors Jeremy Abbey, Jenny Cole, Andrea Crawford, Travis Gilshire, and Katacia Williams, the band performed successfully. Marching band finished their fall season with Band-o-Rama and an appearance in the Christmas Walk. The band was again divided into separate class hours because of its large size, and both band continued in the symphonic performances. Each band played well in the Choir/Band Christmas Concert. Symphonic Festival in the spring was a great experience for both bands, who upheld the high standards set in years before. Jazz band also competed successfully in Spring festival, and once again received an invitation to the Detroit Montreaux festival. The 95-96 school year came to close at the Music Department honors nights and all the bands enjoyed an exciting year.

Choir

The NHS choirs enjoyed a successful, fun-filled year. The choirs performed to sell out crowds at the Fall, Christmas and Spring Concerts, exhibiting their hard work. Select groups earned high overall ratings at the solo and ensemble festival. Girls Ensemble hosted the Treble Chorus Festival once again, while Treble Makers and BackBeat performed at the pep rallies. Concert Choir was busy earning money for their Spring trip to Boston. Choir members saved through babysitting, washing cars, caroling, selling wreaths and chocolatee, and delivering Val-o-grams.

Fall Play

The very serious fall play, The Diary of Anne Frank, received rave reviews, and standing ovations all four nights. The cast and crew deserve a lot of credit, dealing with a short rehearsal period, and little use of the Auditorium before the week of opening night. The cast worked diligently, even rehearsing on Halloween and Saturday nights. Director Gary Strum, with the help of Assistant Director Ben Adis, brought respect and experience to the fall play. Mike O'Brian returned to assist the crew. Jeremy Abbey, technical director, and Matt Woody, construction head, turned a bare stage into a haunting story of a young girl and her diary, locked in an attic during the Holocaust. Tina Juntunen played Anne Frank, no one could believe it was her first show. Nick Barnes played Peter, tackling the part with the greatest of ease. Travis Gilshire and Beth Patterson played Mr. and Mrs. VanDaan. Other cast members include Mary Rivard, Matt Gillis, Sara Wood and Rick Galan. Anne said, "Deep down, I believe people are really good at heart." The show brought the terrifying reality of WWII into the minds and hearts of all students.

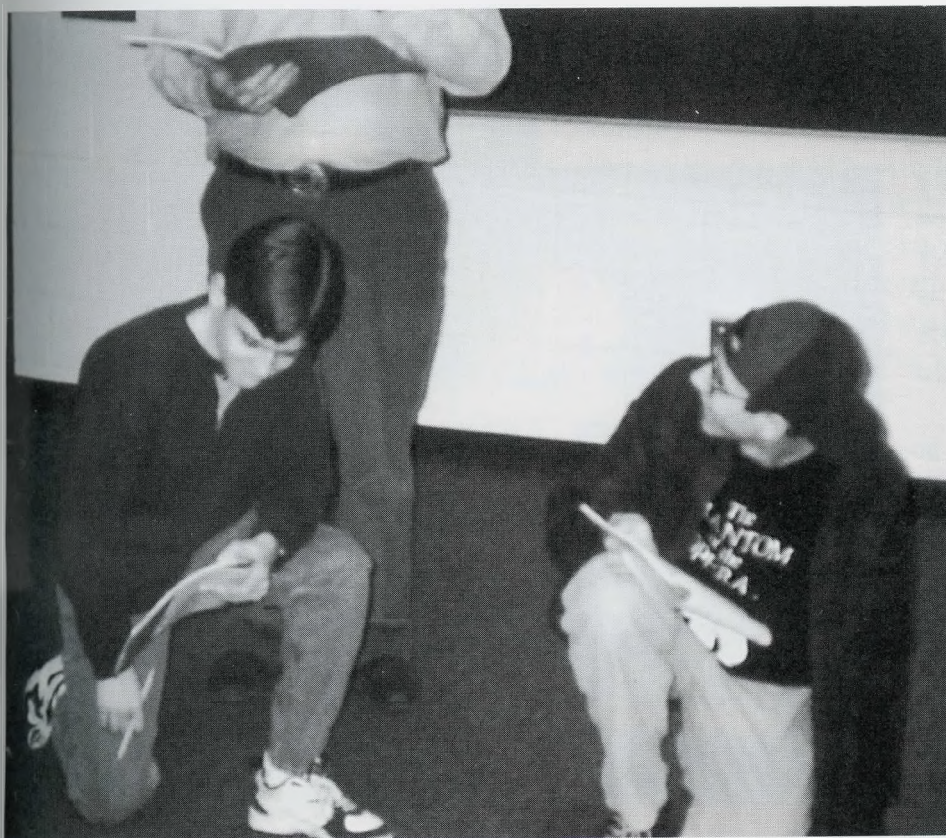

In her senior year, Kara Lloyd enjoys her last role in a fall production.

Each year, students of all grades team up to challenge their minds in this scientific competition. Coaches Mr. Sharrar and Mrs. Vala help the students acquire the necessary skills to compete against other schools. The Science Olympiad has had great success in the past, and is still continuing the academic tradition.

With events like Designer Genes, Road Scholar, and Water Quality, the team is able to explore science from a broad spectrum. Again doing well at the March 16th competition at Thurston High school, the team hopes to have fun and gain good knowledge of science in the process.

interest. With Andy Song as team captain both Junior Varsity and Varsity keep a competitive edge.

There is a tournament a month for these sixteen intellectual students involved. With a supportive school and strong team, the NHS quiz bowl team is bound for success.

Connections Around the World

Eniko Visky is a senior from Hungary. As her first visit to America, she thinks it's different and very cold. This weather is one reason that Eniko does not really like Michigan. But although, there is "a lack of things to do", she does like it because it is "conservative", and "not very strict". She also wonders how Americans can enjoy such "fattening food" and there are "so many cliques". Eniko's hobbies include volleyball, swimming and reading, and hopefully she will pursue her plans to visit Washington D.C. And we can probably learn from a foreigner's point of view when she says, "Be more open to each other in school".

Senior Duangkamol Wiyaporn, which we all know by "Mol" is from Thailand. She loves the freedom and the idea of "hanging out". Mol really likes Northville High School because "it is small", in contrast to the 60 students per class in Thailand. One of her hobbies is Tai Kwan Do, an exercise for the body and mind. Although she'd like to practice it here in Northville, "it is too expensive". The most exciting thing for Mol was the first snow. She had never seen snow before coming here, and although it is cold, she really likes it. Mol hopes to come back to Michigan again soon, in order to "visit my friends and host family".

Axel Von Freyhold is a junior, and this is his first visit to America. From the warm weather of Spain, Axel thinks it's "way too cold". Although it was "hard adjusting for a month or so", Axel now loves "hanging out with the people and making new friends". To Northville, Axel thinks it "gets boring", but that most people are very friendly. He agrees with Eniko, that some foods are "too fattening, but the homecooked ones my host family makes are really good". Axel enjoys playing the guitar and playing soccer, tennis, and volleyball. Axel wants to "say hi to Northville High School. I hope nobody forgets me."

Behind the Iron Curtain

On Wednesday, June 28, 1995, twelve students, seven adults and two sponsors set out to explore the countries behind the iron curtain: Russia, Poland, Hungary, and Austria. Their first stop was St. Petersburg. After three different flights, they arrived to the grand city of St. Petersburg. Overwhelmed by the architecture, the students took in a taste of Russian culture. Sights visited by the students included the Hermitage Museum, The Peter and Paul Fortress, St. Isaac's Cathedral, the extravagant Petrodvorets, and a night at the opera. An overnight train took the group to Moscow. Red Square, St. Basil's Cathedral, Lenin Mausoleum, the Kremlin, and the Armoury Museum met the many interests of the group. They also were able to experience the Subway, McDonalds and the Moscow Circus. Once again the students climbed on a train, but this time it was a much longer ride. After an early wake-up call by customs, the wheels on the train were changed, and the group was on their way to Warsaw, Poland. Tour highlights in Warsaw included the Old Town, the Warsaw Ghetto, a movie about the raze of the town during World War II, and the Chopin Monument. After that, the group boarded a bus and were back on the road. Krakow was the next stop. The tour took them through the town square, Wawel Cathedral and Palace and the Jewish Quarter where parts of Schindler's List were filmed. They traveled to Auschwitz to see the concentration camps of W.W. II. Bernard Offen stopped by the hotel to tell of his experiences in Auschwitz II - Birkenau. A highlight of this city was a trip that no one will forget. Travelers included Mr. Ford and Mr. Aune; seniors Tim Howie, Tom Howie, Karen Juntunen, and Rob Krueger; juniors Chris Bond, Keith DePoorter, Tina Juntunen, Tara McClure, and Brian Wagner; sophomores Sacha Baker and Chris Farah; and 1995 graduate Ann Draper from Novi.

Out of Africa

On Sunday June 25, 1995, a group of NHS students and teachers headed out of the airport bound for the continent of Africa. On the way they stopped over in Sofia, Bulgaria for about 7 hours. Then they were on their way for their final destination, Nairobi, Kenya. After the 26 hour plane rides and layovers, the group was taken to the African Expedition headquarters to brush up on some African common sense and to freshen up. Not long after they were on their way to their first lodge. There they experienced their first game drive. Some of the many animals they saw were: zebra, impala, giraffe, elephants, and towards the end of the trip some lions. After a day or two there they traveled to meet their camels. There whom ever wanted to get a chance to ride a camel or walk to our camp site. After two hours we arrived in our camp site. All of the tents were already set up and dinner was on the fire. At night many of us heard strange sounds that we later found out were Hippos in the river our camp over looked. The next day we started up on camels again and head further down the river to camp again. The next lodge we headed to was at Lake Nakuru. Lake Nakuru is known for the thousands of flamingos that flock there. The lake is about a foot deep which makes a good feeding place for the flamingos. There we witnessed a nice strong rain. It had been raining off and on all throughout camping but not at all like this. The next day we headed for the Masia Mara which means large open space to go camping again. It was a 12 hour ride there and we got into camp about 2 am. This game park was an area where the Masia tribe lived. It also was the place where we saw our first lions. In the morning we got up and got in the vehicles and headed out on a game drive that lasted all day. We just kept driving through fields spotting animals. This was one experience that none of us will ever forget.

With their new found friends, the NHS students prepare to return home.

Der Deutsche Verein

Dieses Jahr war der Deutsche Verein sehr erfolgreich. Unsere Suche nach einem besseren Verständnis der Deutschen Kultur ist immer reich gewesen.

Am Anfang des Schuljahres organisierten wir uns ziemlich schnell. Beim Oktoberfest sagten wir ein grosses "herzliches Willkommen" zu unseren neuen Neunklässlern. Wir aßen und tanzten auch dann viel. Wir mögen sagen, vielen Dank an Frau Kammeraad für das Spiel. Wir machten viel spass damit. In November gingen wir zur Universität von Michigan, um die Produktion "Nestwärme" zu sehen. Wir können ja sagen, daß es uns gefiel; die Leute, die da waren, freuten sich sehr. In Dezember feierten wir unsere Weihnachtsfest und hatten unseren Bonbonverkauf. Mit unserem Verkauf war alles in zwei Tagen ausverkauft! Das Deutsche Camp ist ein berühmter Erfolg. Dort mit den Schülern von den anderen Schulen sprachen wir sehr viel. Bis das Ende des Jahres ging alles so wunderbar.

Wir mögen jetzt sagen, vielen dank an Frau, unsere Lehrerin. Ohne sie gibt es kein Deutsch bei Northville High School. Wir mögen auch sagen vielen dank an unseren Präsidenten, Scott Galea; unsere Vizepräsidentin, Wendy Tao; und unsere Schatzkammermeisterin, Kara Guminski.

Donna ist schon seit zwei Jahren unsere Sekretärin. Sie wird bald fertig mit Northville High School sein. Wir müssen ihr einen besonderen grossen Dank geben. Wir werden sie sehr vermissen.

Peer Mediation

Purpose of peer mediation:

1. To assist students to resolve conflicts in a peaceful, constructive way.
2. To eliminate student-to-student conflicts which are interfering with teaching and learning at Northville High School.
3. To enable students to take responsibility to solve their own problems and think for themselves rather than an adult to give them solutions.
4. To give students the opportunity to learn lifelong skills which they will use as they interact in post high school education, in the workplace and in their personal lives.

El Club de Español

¿Qué hay de nuevo la escuela? The Spanish Club! With the help of Señora Wireman, Northville High School finally started a club for spanish students. We started off the year with a bang at our Christmas Posada. Members were able to get a taste of spanish culture. Other activities planned for the year include a field trip to a restaurant, watching a spanish movie and special activities for Foreign Language week with the german club. Participants hope that the spanish club will be a permanent tradition here at Northville High School.

Mustanger

The 1995-1996 Mustanger Staff was headed by Editors Alyssa Macfarlane, Kyle Hitchcock, Jennifer Cole and sponsor Ms. Hall. Difficulties in finding a publisher started the year off slow until the Pen & Ink Co. of Plymouth accepted the responsibility. Working with the the help of Ms Omiatek's computer class, the first two layouts were created, then the editors continued to produce the rest on their own. Two different Journalism classes provided the editors with plenty of stories for a full paper. The Journalism classes enjoyed gaining new writing skills and the knowledge of how a paper is run. The students also learned the elements of a paper, how to write stories, journalist jargon and journalism etiquette.

Wolf of the Earth

Howls of thunder let loose.
Night rose from Mother Earth.
Eyes glowed through gloom
Bright as the sun
Eerie as the moon.
Bodies hidden under black shadows
Waiting to pounce on prey.
Legend says. "They are human."
Hunter of the night,
Savages of the soul,
Crying out for help.
Lonely and lost
In deep mental holes.
Dark figures go through rolling hills
Like storms erupting in the sky.
We all are wolves of the earth,
Lying somewhere deep inside.

--Becky Rankin

Light as a feather
Small, but meaningful Sandwiched with value
Satisfying to those who use it well.
Symbolic imprinting

Heads, I win.
Tails you loose!

Broken Glass

Friendship is broken glass what appears scratched and chipped on the outside is often smooth and brilliant inside sparkling, shimmering and shining in light raining down like glassy tears must be carefully handled and is difficult to dispose of no two pieces look alike every one is unique

The Shadow's End

I know of a place
that doesn't exist
where no one forces
you to resist
where even the meek
become the strong where no one tries to prove you wrong.

Where people go to take a walk where friends can just sit down and talk where happiness
is common where no one cheats
to win the race.

Where smiles are more familiar than frowns

where no one
laughs
at fools and clowns
where no one knows
a word like hate
where no one lives
by ominous fate.

Now in this place
that is extinct
none must limit
what they think
no one judges
you at all and people help you if you fall.

One day I vow
to find this place
so I can walk
without disgrace
and maybe then I'll find a friend and take them to The Shadow's End.

Yearbook

With the late arrival of last year's book, the Palladium staff decided to switch to the Herff Jones Company. With the excitement and confusion of working with a new publisher, the staff tried many new ideas and learned new skills from their representative, Tony Noto.

With over forty people turning out for the first meeting, Editors Patrick McNeal and Andrea Crawford were surprised to find at times there was not enough work for everyone. But as the year continued, and deadlines piled up, the staff thinned out, leaving only the truly dedicated. Surprisingly, the Freshmen onslaught this year helped in all areas, particularly with picture cropping.

With the larger staff, the editors decided to develop a more journalist book. Katie Johnson's exceptional writing was used as the base for the first sixteen pages, which were redesigned, attempting to show what NHS is truly like.

A special thanks goes to Mrs. Olson, our advisor, who spends countless hours and dollars feeding us and keeping the room under control. Without her, the Palladium would surely not be the same.

1995 and 1996 have been one of the best years for Pep Club. Along with our membership, our participation within the school has grown. Although Basketball and Football are where most of our attention in the past has gone, this year we branched out to support all the teams of NHS. Once again Pep Club was involved in Spirit Week and organized the pep rally. As the years go on and Pep Club becomes a more recognized club, hopefully all teams will feel the support of the NHS Pep Club.

The Rotary Interact Club is an organization that serves our community and others around the worked by assisting those in need. Mrs. Whichello, the supervisor from the Northville Rotary Club, was a great help to the group this year. She supported our ideas and provided some funding from the NRC. The Club rocked the year to a great start with the Superdot/King Edward concert. This program provided a safe environment for the young adults of our community to enjoy themselves. Other community activities this year included caroling at the White Hall retirement home, and volunteering at an Ann Arbor soup kitchen to help the homeless. Our international project this year consisted of collecting old school books, reading books, and other school supplies. We sent these supplies to a Rotary-founded school in Ghana, so the children there could receive a better education. In its second year of existence, the Rotary Interact Club has had a successful year, and we hope to continue to grow from the strength of the community.

Hoop Dreams

Samantha Leger scrambles to keep the ball from her opponent.

The 1995 Girl's Basketball team had one of their best seasons in the history of Northville. The Girls started off the season on the right foot with a championship trophy at the South Lyon tournament, defeating Harrison and South Lyon. This is the first championship trophy that Northville has received from the South Lyon Tournament in many years. Due to the dedication and hard work of the team, we were able to beat our two biggest rivals, Salem and Canton. The Salem game probably had to be the most exciting game, with a win at the game buzzer by Karla Kalso's three pointer.

The Canton game was our best played game as a team. Everyone played a great game. These two games were very important wins that came at very crucial times in our seasons. Despite the resignation of former coach Gary Schwan, the team was able to stay together and begin to get with their new head coach Pete Wright. Coach Wright made the transition very easy and fun.

The team finished the season with a loss in the District finals to Salem in a close game. This is the farthest the team has made it in years. We ended with a record of 16-6 which is an improvement from last years record of 13-7.

Women's Swimming

The women's swim team, coached by William Dicks, Pam Heiden, and David Wayne, had a successful year. They began in September with a second place finish at the Plymouth Relays. On Homecoming weekend they competed at Fenton Relays and took home the first place trophy and a few meet records. Captains Rebecca Anderson, Alicia Doehler, and Amity Heckemeyer led the team to a second straight Western Division Championship and runner up in the WLAA with a 8 - 1 dual meet record. Northville qualified two relays, three individual swimmers, Amity Heckemeyer, Amy Kohl, and Kristen Warnke, and two divers, Karen Fisher and Michon Slanina, for the Michigan High School Association State Championships at The University of Michigan.

Men's Swimming

Going for the gold.

The men's swim team drove into 1996 with great performances and accomplishments. Led by eight seniors, the team rebounded from last year to capture a fourth place finish at the Plymouth Relays. Swimmers Jeff Sieving, Craig Sieving, and Evan Whitbeck, all qualified for state meet while diver Chris Anderson set a new pool and varsity diving record.

The Equestrian team had an incredibly successful year. After winning the district championship they traveled to states, where they finished a reserve champion C team.

The high point rider this year was Lisa Grutza. She earned a total of 90 points, setting a new record. At the district meets Lisa and her horse, Sahara, took four firsts in Hunt Seat and Western Showmanship. At the state meet she also took firsts in Hunt Seat Equitation and Western Bareback.

Other great successes taken by the team were first in Trail; Tiffany Bench, and Saddle Seat Bareback; Jennifer Cole at the district meets. At the State Championships the team brought home many awards. Some top awards were two first, three seconds two thirds, and three fourths. Natalie Thompson and Emma Wilkiemeyer both had their most successful meets at states, each receiving some of the top awards.

The Halloween stall

decorations put up at states were spectacular. All the decorations, including blinking pumpkin lights and wooden stall plaques were brought with the participants own money.

Despite a few disappointing defeats and the short tempers brought on by the wind, cold and rain, the team persevered to lead the competition until the last class on the third and final day. Although sleeping in small campers and cramped cars was rough on the team, they will gladly return to competition next year in hopes of winning again.

Women's Volleyball

Working Hard.

Coach Murray's emphasis for this years volleyball team has been defense. Led by this years captains Sarah Gregerson and Tami Taylor the team had made great strides in that area. The netters have won their last five matches, upping their season record to 6-3 in conference play. They should make a solid run at the conference championships to be held in February.

Gymnastics

Last year marked the first year that Northville combined with Novi to have a cooperative gymnastics team. The team was very successful and some highlights of the season were as follows: Division Champions, Regional Champions, and a Fifth Place Finish at State Finals. This year the team is still very young, made up of sophomores and one junior, but they are still breaking many of the records set last season.

Pom Pon

The NHS Pom Pon team earned both new and previously earned honors under the leadership of their new coach, Patti Paciocco, during the 1995-96 season. They started the year off strong by bringing home first place from the Northville Fourth of July parade and carried this success through to summer camp, where they were the first team ever from Northville to earn the title of Grand Champion. The girls received first places in every category evaluated at camp: speed learning, kickline, and original routine. Eight team members also made the Mid American Pom Pon All Star team: Meredith Belloli, Lauren Bethell, Jennifer Cooley, Sara Cooley, Becky Engle, Becky Witek, Chrissy Collings, and Jessica Doinidis. The team preforms original routines at the home varsity football, soccer, and basketball games and also entered their annual dance, regional, and state-level competitions. The team shared many memorable experiences together, among them their annual guy-girl routine, and will lose ten seniors next year; captains Chrissy Collings, Lisa Wisniewski, Becky Engle, and Meredith Belloli, and team members Jenny Cooley, Andrea Francis, Becky Witek, Jamie Vannier, Beth MacRae, and Cindy Phillips. But despite these losses, the NHS pom pon girls are looking forward to another funfilled and successful season in 1996.

Coached by Margaret Surdu and assistant Tracie Surdu, the NHS Cheer Teams got off to a great start attending the Universal Cheerleaders Association (UCA) Cheer Camp at the University of Michigan this summer to learn new materials and compete with other squads.

Camp Championship was the final competition for the summer. Freshman won Camp Champs for their Sideline Cheer, Second place for the Building Cheer and four Spirit Stick Awards. JV won Camp Champs for their Building Cheer, First place in the JV Home Pom Dance Competition, Third place in Sideline Cheer and three Spirit Sticks Awards. Northville's Varsity Cheer Team is continuing the tradition of winning the Camp Championship Overall. Varsity won Camp Champs for Sideline and Building Cheers, Second place in the Varsity Home Pom Dance Competition and four Spirit Stick Awards. The teams plan to defend their League Championship title in 1996.

The crowds at the football and basketball games enjoyed the cheerleaders performances throughout the year. They kept spirits high and did a great job increasing enthusiasm in the games.

Swing Kids

The season was very successful for the Northville Golf Team. The team was led by captains James Damico, Brian Glock, Jeremy Sova and Kaoru Yoshida. Other seniors include Jamie Belanger and Mike Clancy, all who will be greatly missed next year. The varsity team won 10 matches and lost 3. Jeremy Sova and Rob Rankin received all-division honors at the Conference meet. The Mustangs narrowly missed making a team appearance at the state meet after losing by only one stroke at Regionals. Kay Yoshida, however, tied for third and played in the state meet individually. There, he placed in the top 20 out of 200 players. This was a great performance, especially due to the adverse weather conditions at Michigan State University's Forest Akers Course. With numerous returning players, the golf team should continue with a successful 1996 season.

Women's Golf!

The Northville High School Girls Golf Team had another successful season in 1995. They finished with an overall record of 11-1, winning the Western Lakes Division with a record of 7-0.

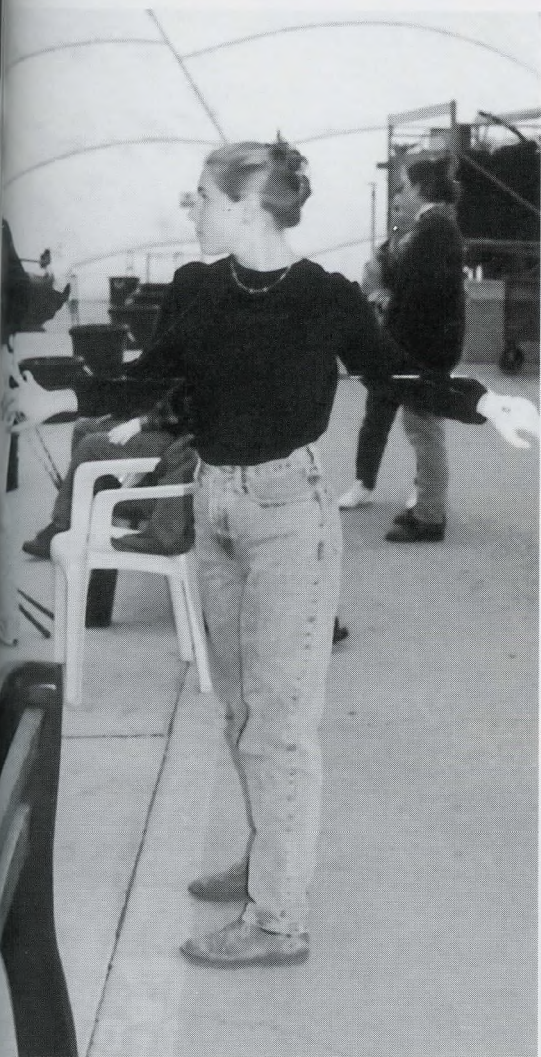

Tournament play included: 11th place at the Brighton Invitational, 9th Place at MHSAA Regional Tournament and Second Place at the Western Lakes Conference Meet.

Western Lakes All Conference honors went to Lindsay Casterline for medalist and to Emily Baldwin for finishing 5th.

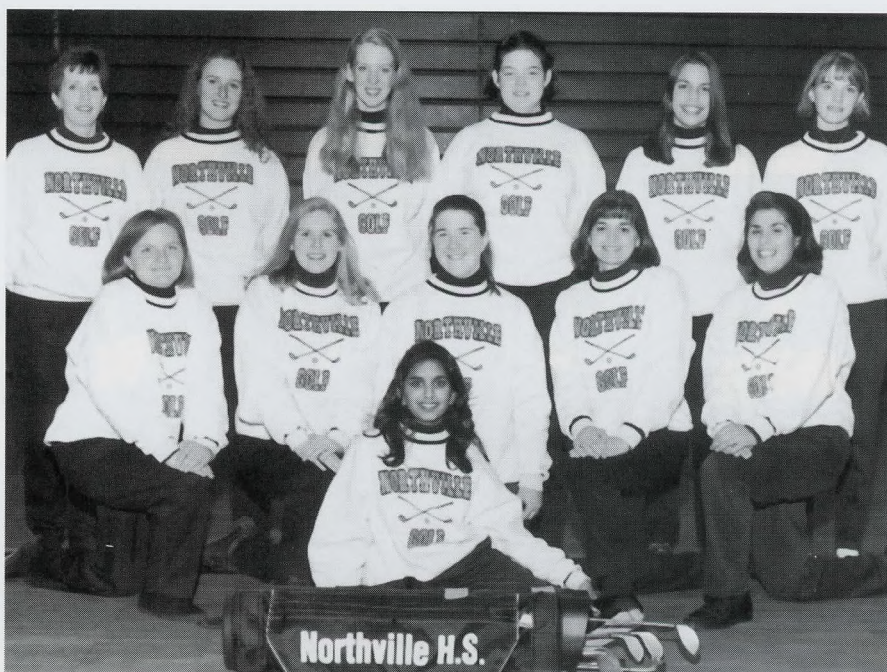

The captains included Heather Nix, Kylee Mills and Lindsey Casterline.

Men & Women's Cross Country

This year's Cross Country, lead by Captains Dwight VanTuyl and Ravi Mujumdar, was mainly a rebuilding season. Nothing too great was expected for our newly experienced runners, though in some ways we achieved more this year than Northville Cross Country had seen in previous times.

The season began with a scrimmage verses Novi and Farmington. Though we only beat Farmington our top runner got first place in the race. Our first duel meet was against our trophy rivals John Glenn. We've been able to keep the trophy for the past three years and this year we were able to maintain the tradition by slaughtering John Glenn. One significant achievement the team made was to come in second at the Redford Union Invitational thus gaining a second trophy for the year. Other awards were gained individually by Jeremy T. Smith, Jeremy C. Smith, Tim Schovers, Kevin Morro, Adam White, Ravi Mujumdar, and Dwight VanTuyl. VanTuyl was able to make it to the State Finals this year thanks to his team and coaches support. The Cross Country's ending score overall was 3 in 3 with wins against Franklin, Churchill, and John Glen; and 2 in 3 for our division.

Women's Tennis

The girl's varsity tennis team coached by Uta Filkin and lead by co-captains Lisa Cousineau and Meghan Connery, had a very successful 8-1-2 season and tied for division champions with Farmington Harrison. Although this year's team was a fairly young one, seniors Jennifer Moak, Chrissy Kapusky, Meghan Connery and Lisa Cousineau will be missed. Congratulations on a great season!

School Board

This year's Northville Public Schools Board of Education has once again been busy. Again they were wonderfully staffed, as Barbara Bennett, trustee joined the forces. This year their meetings concentrated on talks about the future. The plans to build a new high school were tops on the lists of discussions. The many difficult choices in deciding a location and preparing a school for the 21st century. When looking at designs for a new building, the main focus was to correct errors in place functional buildings, although the plans this year are still up in the air. Students will be interested to see the building and our faith in the next century from the

Reflections

What Makes Us Who We Are

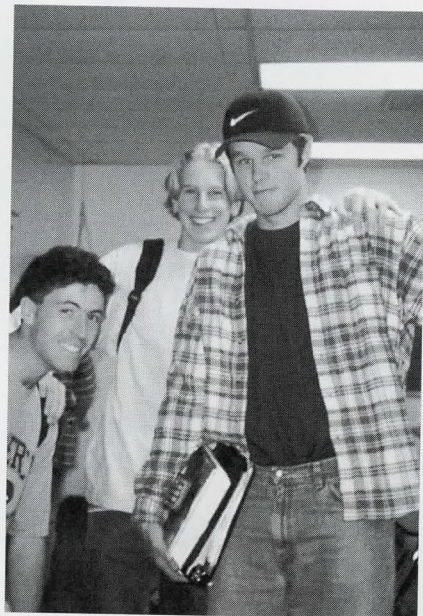

Senior year is a year of looking to the world ahead of us, but it's also a year for looking back. Reflecting on our school years gives us an insight into what makes us who we are. Our experiences bind us together, and shapes us individually. The times we've shared influence our ideas, values and personalities. We have learned about ourselves and have each begun to appreciate our own individuality, and our means of self-expression. Our years together have taught us many valuable lessons, provided us with memories, and will propel us into the future.

Seniors know how to get down and boogie.

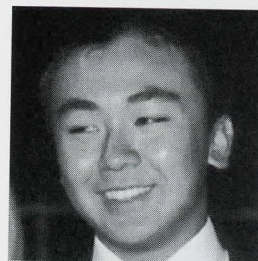

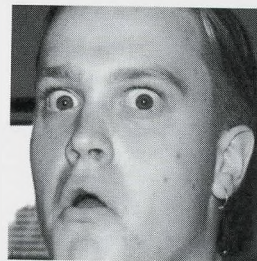

Ryan Staples gives his own example of Northville's Student Body.

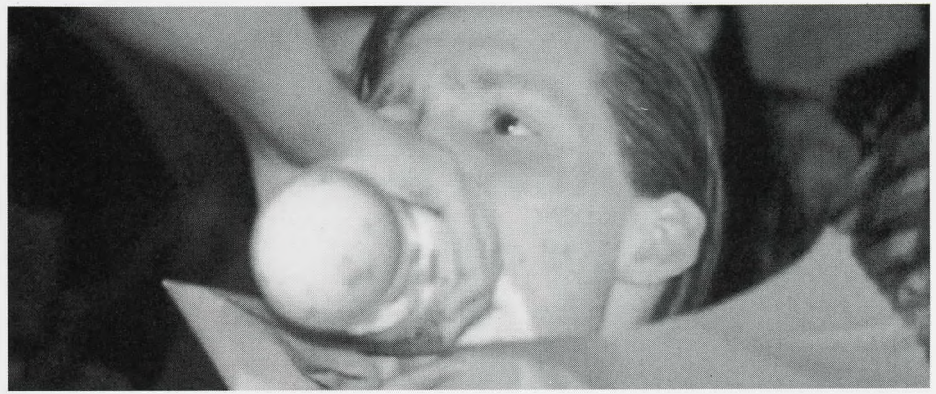

Seniors spread the message of peace and love.

SENIOR EMOTIONS

Seniors react differently to their last year.

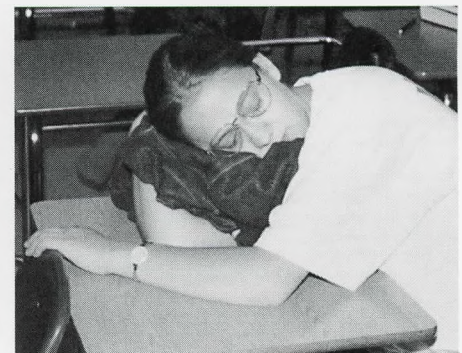

Even after 12 years of schooling, some seniors still have trouble feeding themselves.

Seniors love experimenting with new clothing and hairstyles

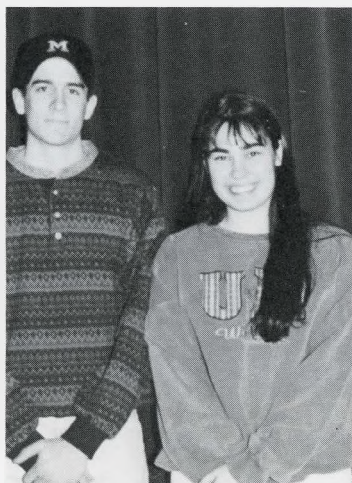

Seniors like Sara Goshorn are happy they can finally drive themselves to school.

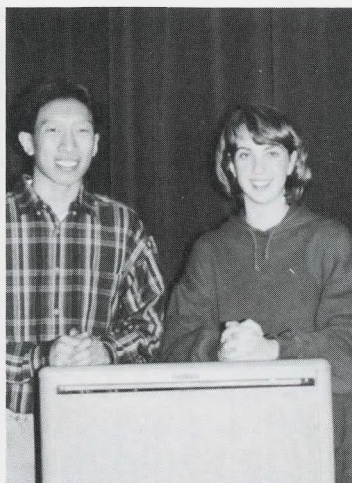

Some seniors concentrate on their studies, while others find alternative ways to pass time.

Seniors

The Class of '96 had a very successful final year under the leadership of Katie Johnson, Jamie Belanger, Matt Minard, Andrea Morrow, and Patrick McNeal. The fund-raising began with the highly profitable root beer float stand at the Victorian festival. All Seniors were treated to the leftover soft-serve ice cream the next Monday at school. Soon, the official Senior class tie-dye T-shirts speckled the halls. We continued to increase our treasury through various other money-makers including car washes and pop-bottle collections.

Not only did our funds grow, but our school spirit also soared. We dominated all of the Homecoming Week activities, and, of course, built another winning float. The judges were awed by the circus car complete with a firing cannon.

We also took time to help the community. We held our annual Holiday charity tree, where Seniors had the chance to donate toys to less fortunate children. Since Sophomore year, we have supplied over 100 toys to kids who need them.

The rest of the year flew by as we looked forward to Spring Break, prom at the Dearborn Hyatt Regency, the all-night party, and graduation. Thank you to everyone who participated in all of our events, from float-building to fund-raising. In hindsight, neither the money we made nor ribbons we won hold any importance; it is the memories we created that will remain invaluable.

Senior Poems

Never have I seen, so many unique and special people.
Diverse yet united.
Gathered and labeled as the class of '96,
they share a true bond of love.
Accepting,
like the opening hands of parents,
I would know,
they were there for me.
When I arrived,
Objectively I viewed all,
and for the most part,
undiscriminating I was viewed.
Though there were turbulent waters,
I easily swayed to the currents of kindness.
Propelled by the group,
known as the class of '96.

--Rohit Jha

We got off of the bus, and stepped onto the hill,
One half from Cooke, the rest from Meads Mill.
We had to adjust to high school life,
Anarchy in Conzelman, the mouse in Fife.
The car wash raised money on a sunny day,
While they picked our pockets with Pay-To-Play.
Silence of the Lambs took third place.
We beat the Juniors with a grin on our face.
The upperclassmen taught us how to throw food,
The Administration looked around and said "Oh no, we're screwed!"
Freshman year ended, we conquered our fears
And during that summer, we found we liked --stuff

Onto tenth grade, the Titanic float,
We sunk the competition with one heck of a boat.
Our fund-raisers got creative, tearing metal and selling trees, sixteenth birthdays rolled around, bringing car keys.
Spirit Week arrived, our mural was number one,
Bouncy Balls cancelled the pep rally -- that ended our fun.
A crazy time, Mrs. Weiner changed her name,
It was Redmond's last year, things wouldn't be the same.
We dissected pigs in biology class
The formaldehyde smelled like really bad -- stuff.

Now we were Juniors, with Wednesday mornings free,
To sleep and recover from Tuesday's party.
We made the magazine order forms fly,
But in the end, the profits were high.
Breaking all the rules, our airplane got some looks,
Two wins in a row -- we rewrote the books.
Tired and bored we escaped from class
Watch out for the hall monitor - Y'all got a pass?
Fun as it was, our old Twister game,
We thought it would be cool, but nobody came.
We tried to be nice, gave the seniors a brunch
But they just threw food, did they think it was lunch?
The hallways were striped, our lockers were switched,
The students were mad, we groaned and we -- said stuff.

Our Senior year came, the last classes we'd take College applications, hard decisions to make.
The Nield's house, many workers, a dynasty of floats
The giraffe's head fell off, not as sturdy as the boat.
Airhorns and food, the administration was there
Charlie camped out behind Minard's chair.
10:41, the food should have flown,
But with all twelve adults, our cover was blown.
Finals were over, second semester began,
As Spring Break approached, we wanted to tan
There was "Trash" in the hallways but we didn't care,
We still roamed around, senioritis was there.
The Seniors skipped school, got ready to go
With tuxes and limos, prom's prices weren't low.
Finally graduation, the end of our reign,
It's time to celebrate, let's pop open some -- stuff.

Andrea Morrow & Patrick McNeal

1997 Juniors

This year, the junior class was led by a close group of ambitious individuals. Under the leadership of President Matt Zielinski, Vice President Andy Fee, Secretary Mike McBride, and Treasurer Christopher H. Bond, the high goals we constantly stress are within reach. With the dedicated help of the class of '97 class council, our fund-raisers soared beyond the average level of expectations.

During the first three weeks of school, the Juniors raised just under $2000, starting the year off with a "bang". With a spirited car-wash, a profitable pop-bottle collection, and the traditional Victorian Festival, interested class members took time out of their already full schedules to help raise money for a first-class prom. In October, the Junior magazine sale raised over $2000 dollars. Finally, our most important year was made memorable with our exceptional "Elephant Float". (Thanks Mr. and Mrs. Juntunen!) The hard work of many class members was greatly appreciated, our final year will be one of many rewards.

The Sophomore class is well represented with a capable group of officers and supportive collection of representatives. A successful Freshman year has raised our hopes for 1995 and 1996. Our class of '98 showed tremendous spirit during this year's homecoming. Although our float did not place first, the final product certainly did not reflect a lack of effort. A car wash and the Victorian Festival emerged as profitable fundraisers early this fall. In addition to these events, we completed numerous other money making affairs. With strong leadership and widespread class participation, we made the class of 98's Sophomore year a productive and meaningful one. -- Adam Tibble, President

Freshmen

The freshmen students were excited to attend Northville High School beginning with registration, and the election of officers and representatives. Those elected were Christina Chase: President; Nikki LaLonde, vice-president; Kelly DeLeonardis, Secretary; and Katie Spillane, Treasurer. We had work to do! It began with the Victorian Festival. We raised over $600, which was a great start to our year. Our next class activity was building the freshman class float and preparing for our first Homecoming. With the help and dedication of fellow students and interested parents, we placed third with our "Circus Theme" float. Other fund-raisers include car washes, T-shirt, boxer short, hot cocoa, holiday cookie, and St. Patrick Day flower sale.

The coming together of two schools to make one freshmen class is what we are all about. We eagerly look forward to our years at Northville High School and know we can bring about changes, good changes. —Christina Chase

Time Capsule

NHS experienced many changes this year. The students started the school year on an unhappy note due to the cancellation of half day Wednesdays. AP classes and a revised math curriculum set new standards for students and teachers. New staff like Mrs. Wireman, Ms. Knickerbocker, and Mr. Sapienza were able to sample life on the hill. New clubs such as the Spanish Club and A.S.I.A. broadened students' cultural awareness. We would also like to pay tribute to Matthew Fenech, an honorable who will be greatly missed.

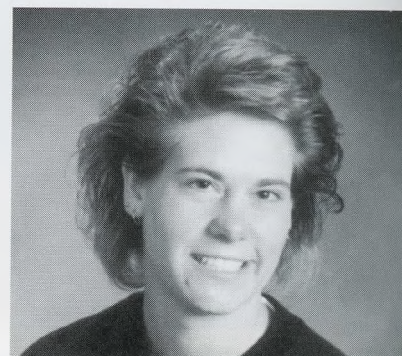

Numbered parking spots sharpen seniors' math skills.

The new law of the library keeps students complaining.

Students display their grief over the death of Matt Fenech.

Ms. Baird keeps NHS students in shape.

Ms. Omatek is a fine addition to the NHS staff.

This year's canned food drive was a huge success.

With new National Honors Society credit requirements, students are always busy helping others.

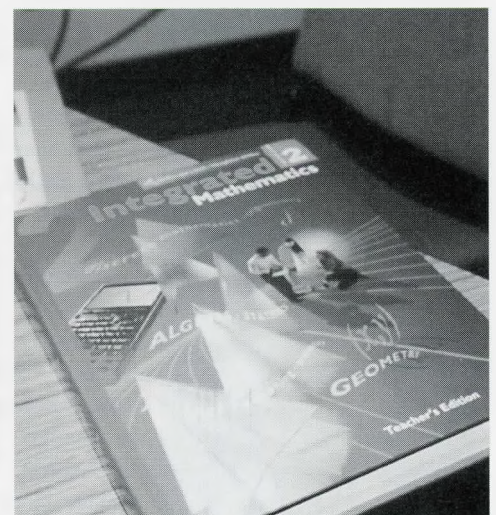

Mr. Taylor was appointed NHS Athletic Director.

For the first time in recent NHS history, two homecoming kings were crowned.

The Junior Proficiency Test keeps students on track with their studies.

Integrated math pushes freshmen to a higher level of math achievement.

In 1993, the Northville Public School Board of Education passed a resolution to form new categories of honor recognition for graduates from Northville High School. The goal in making this change is to “challenge all students to reach thier potential”, as well as to “increase course selection options for students”. In the process of making this change, students, staff, parents and community members were involved in the discussion. This results in honoring a larger number of students at Northville High School.

In the Moonlight

life, is not worth living days pass, years in my mind breath, is not worth breathing but tears, are worth thier pain

as the crow flies, over the valley it sees our empty souls in the moonlight, I see a figure;
it's the past come back to haunt

death, its black sweet sorrow memories, they flood my mind too late, for us to help you too early, for us to join in the moonlight, I see your figure your death as dark as night in the moonlight, it seems so gentle until it's in my sight

you, you helped me through the times, they were so hard and I will never forget you you and I will never part in the moonlight, you'll live forever never will you die in the moonlight, there is a river next to it sit you and I

life is like that river flowing toward the shore
I saw you turning downstream and thought of it never more I never meant to hurt you I didn't know you said good-bye

an ocean view as sunrise I'll keep it with me throughout the years and a misty moonlight night won't pass without my tears

in the moonlight I'll always love you
I was so afraid to tell you so

and in the moonlight
now to forever
our love for each other grows

Matthew Fenech May 17, 1978 - February 2, 1996

Our flower bloomed so magically
In the early springtime morn

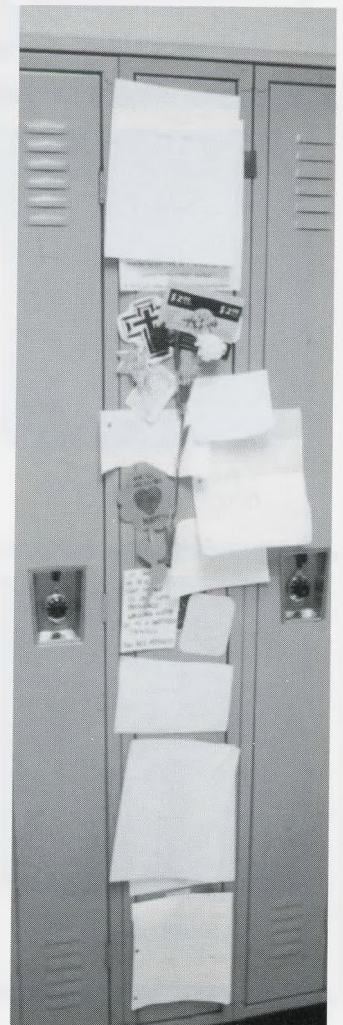

It outshown all whom it did see
A clove, a rose, 'mid thorns

Yet just as it was blooming
To greet the break of day,

An angel from the Lord did come
And took our flower away

Phillippians 1:3

On Friday, February 2, at approximately 3:45 P.M., the Superintendent called Dr. Johnson to inform him that one of our senior students, Matthew Fenech, had passed away. Northville High School mourned the death of Matt. We paid respect to his passing by decorating his locker, postponing spirit week, and lowering the flag. His locker was decorated with poems, notes, flowers, bible verses, crosses, and angels. We will forever miss him.

To a very special Son and Brother
He can make a gray day sunny Just because he stopped awhile
To Show
he's thinking of you
Or maybe share a smile
Whether he is far away
Or right there at your side,
He is the kind of person Who can fill your heart with pride.

This year we have come up the hill with many expectations. From knowledge to friendships to lessons that we will hold forever. Approaching the hill was a trauma in itself. No one knew what to expect of the four years here. Now that we have made it to the top we look behind us at what we have gone through. Along the hill we find friends left behind as well as more along side of us, lessons that we've learned and ones that we've left behind. We reached the top and we realize that we are not at the end of the trip, yet we are just starting the rest of our lives. The road ahead is turning and the path will lead in different directions for each of us. No one knows where the end of the road is ... or who has followed in our footsteps.

Dear Patrick), Andrea, Ben, Jessica, Melissa, Meredith and anyone else along the way, On the first day of Christmas my lunch table gave to me. A group of great friends. Senior year has come and gone, now we each go our separate ways - or will we? Who knows? At least we have all of these memories to hold onto for a lifetime. Take care of yourselves.

Sincerely,

The blizzard of '96 follows the hottest year in recorded global history. The blizzard crippled northern US cities where airports, roads, and even the postal service ceased to function. Alaska, in contrast, had very little snow during the winter season. After July's heat wave killed hundreds in the US, eleven hurricanes swept across the western hemisphere, the most since 1933. Some weather experts have linked such extreme conditions to possible global warming.

Speaker of the House of Representatives Newt Gingrich faces President Clinton in a budget showdown of policy and politics. Disagreement between the president and Congress over how to balance the federal budget ultimately led to a partial closing of federal government offices in November and December, 1995. Congress discussed reducing the rate of increase in spending for Medicare, Medicaid, and Social Security as a means to reduce the deficit, but failed to reach a compromise with President Clinton.

Bosnia

On May 25, 1995 NATO warplanes struck Bosnian Serb headquarters. The Serbs responded by storming UN weapons depots and safe areas, taking peacekeepers hostage. Such reports, along with photos of the Bosnian countryside that revealed scenes reminiscent of the bloody massacres of World War II, emboldened NATO to strive more diligently for the cause of peace. For remaining Bosnians who had survived the 42-month-long war, NATO launched its largest combat mission ever and prompted the first stable cease-fire in the region since the break-up of what was once Yugoslavia. On December 13, President Clinton deployed 20,000 US troops on a peacekeeping mission to Bosnia. The next day, leaders of Bosnia, Serbia, and Croatia met in Paris, France to sign a US-sponsored peace treaty keeping all warring parties temporarily at bay. US troops complete the 60,000-strong Atlantic Alliance to help enforce and supervise the peace plan.

Walt Disney Pictures/Shooting Star Int.'1

Toy Story, the first completely computer-animated Disney movie, features Tom Hanks and Tim Allen as the voices of the movie's tiny heroes. Determined not to end up as throwaways in the family garage sale, Woody, a toy cowboy, and Buzz Lightyear, a grinning, plastic space traveler, vie for the attention of the boy whose room is their universe. A "Toy Story" video game was released by Disney Interactive in November, following the success of the movie.

◆ Jim Carrey collected $20 million for Ace Ventura: When Nature Calls, the largest sum paid to an actor for one movie. ◆ Disney Interactive released a CD-ROM activity program, based on the movie The Lion King, titled "The Lion King Activity Center" for Mac and Windows. 1 Batman Forever becomes the year's biggest box office draw.

2 Disney's Pocahontas, based on the tale of a Native-American princess who befriends English settlers in the early 1600s, grosses over $140 million at the box office. 3 "Friends" becomes one of America's top-rated TV shows in 1995.
