...and cool,
...ity was just as comfortable
the weeks progressed, life at NHS began to feel normal. This time of change, even though hectic, proved to be a successful one. In this season of our lives, as students of NHS, we chose this time to triumph, to be challenged, and to change others. Through clubs and organizations, the students reached others, and through sports, many achieved personal and collaborative triumph. This year many students learned that, "There is a time to build up, a time to break down, a time to dance, a time to mourn. A time to cast away stones. A time to gather stones together" (The Birds). As the memories of the old NHS found a place in our hearts, new memories were established and were never forgotten.
From the fall Spirit Week to the graduation ceremony,
The Mustangs proved who they really were, and stars began to shine. "Now this is not the end, it is not even the beginning of the end, but perhaps it is the end of the beginning" (Sir Winston Churchill).

Spirit Time

By Maria LeBeau and Steve Kitakis

Mustang spirit soared high in this year's fall Spirit Week. Monday's theme, PJ Day, was very appropriate for the many sleepy students. Other themes revolved around television. Students dressed up as certain channels, from MTV to ESPN to the History channel. Then there was Cartoon Day, with the seniors as big bad GI Joe's down to the freshman as little Rugrats. The juniors were groovy on '70s Day, and the sophomores came straight out of space for the Sci-fi Channel Day. "Student participation was outstanding this year," said senior Mike Pilarz.

On Friday, the traditional Orange and Black Day made the hallways very bright. The week was a success, and Spirit Week ended with the indoor pep rally during the last block. "The pep rally was limited compared to past year's on the football field. There wasn't as much room," said junior Jeff Mihalik.

Team captains gave speeches, grades competed with one another in many activities, and the cheerleading and pom pon squads gave an impressive show. TrebleMakers and BackBeat showed off their talents with a song. Then the Homecoming King and Queen, Brandon Langston and Kelsey Jenney, were crowned. Although some people preferred the pep rally on the football field in past years, the pep rally in the new gym was a success.

The year 2000 Homecoming was unlike any before!

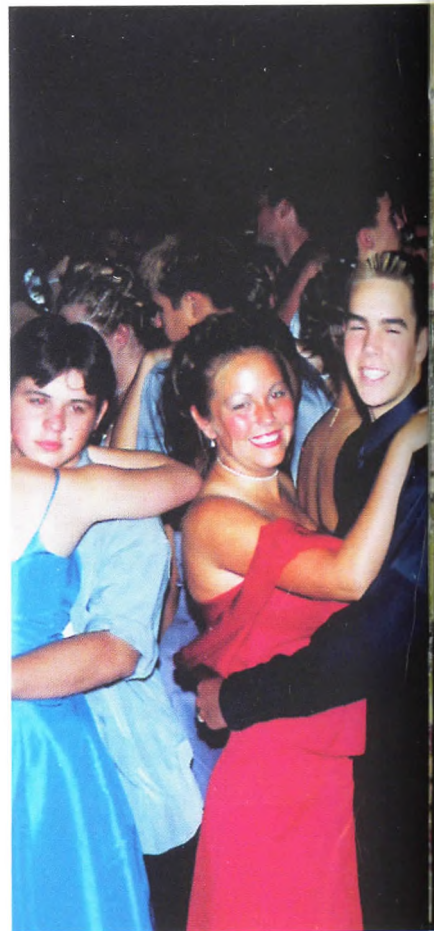

After witnessing the NHS varsity football team's victory over Churchill with a score of 42-0, many people were pumped up for the dance. Excitement lingered in the air after the parade and continued through until the dance the next night. Many people came to check out the Homecoming Court procession down Center Street, leading to the football field. Homecoming Queen, senior Kelsey Jenney, was featured at the end of the parade, while Homecoming King, Brandon Langston, senior, prepared for the game.

This year's floats appeared to have had much work put in to them. Senior Bill Dalton said, "Everything about Homecoming was great."

The first dance of the millennium and the first dance at the brand new high school provided a great atmosphere for all who attended. More and more people continued to arrive at the dance all night long and joined in with the fun of dancing and socializing with friends.

As the night drew to an end, many were surprised that the night was almost over. "This dance was the best yet. It went by so fast. The first time I asked what time it was, we only had a half hour left," said junior Shauna Waineo.

Heading down Main Street, seniors Brandon Caverly and David Murphy show their enthusiasm before the big game while pulling the senior float.

Changing Over

By Kevin Conn and Ryan Hitte

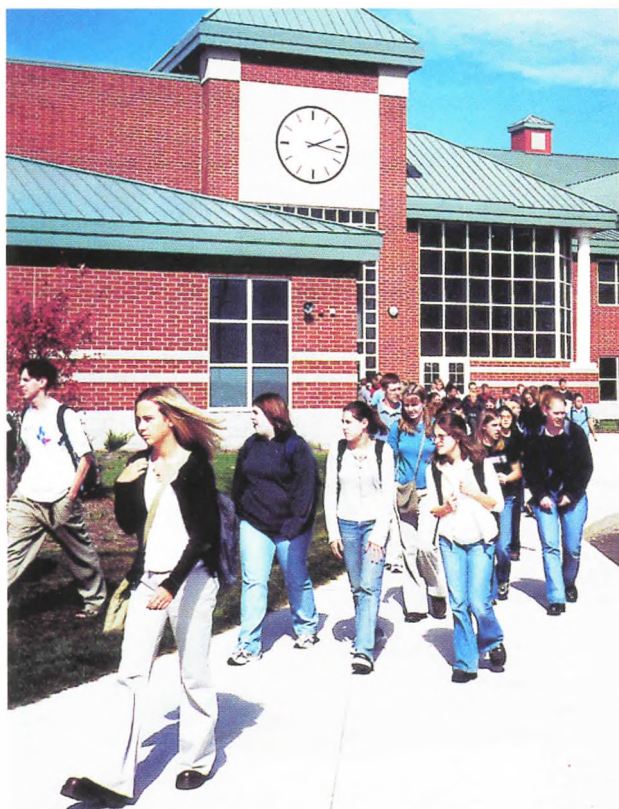

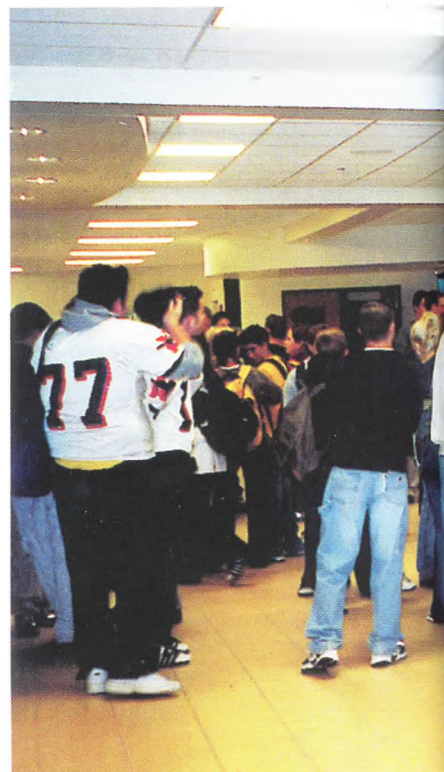

On the first day of school, the doors opened to reveal an awe-inspiring new high school for students and staff to enjoy. With the new high school came many likes and very few dislikes. "Awesome Baby," Mr. Balcoff said to express his feelings about it.

The hallways were jam-packed with students and teachers constantly crowding the main stairway by the Mustang Mural. When asked about the hallway situation, sophomore Jake Mussallam said, "They are very crowded." The new bell rang signaling the beginning of the busy new school year and the beginning of an exciting new era.

Compared to the old school, which had very few classrooms with computers, the new school has brand new computers in each and every classroom. Along with the new school came new people, such as Liaison Officer Wildt and some new teachers in almost every subject.

In addition, the hallways in the old school were small and hard to maneuver with people just standing all around blocking the flow of traffic. The new school building alleviated the overcrowding by making the hallways much wider for students to easily pass bystanders hanging out. Students and staff both agree that this changing over was a success.

Time to Let Loose

By Hillary McCrumb and Sheena Thomas

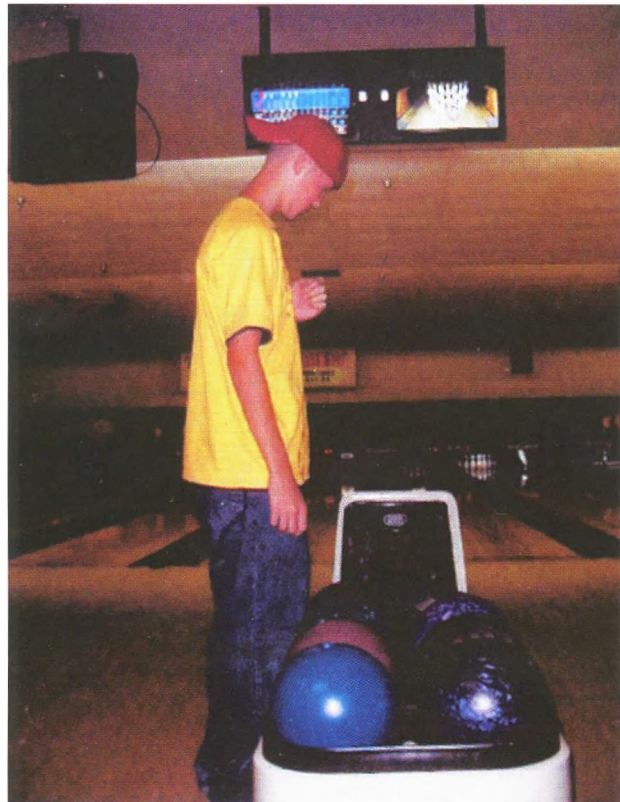

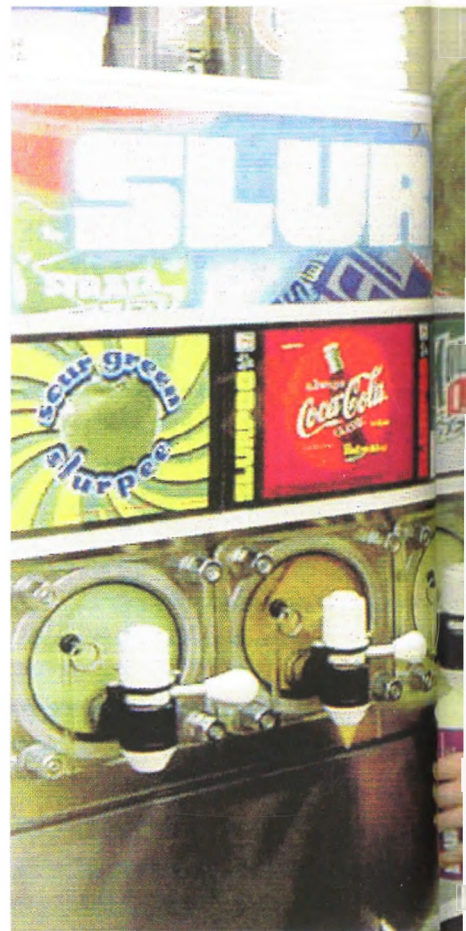

Northville High School students have definitely made their appearance in Northville and its surrounding cities.

Northville teens know the basic 1-2-3 on local "hot spots," where they can clear their minds and take a break from school life. Bethany Komasa, a senior at NHS said, "Whenever I need to lower my stress level from all my school work, I go straight to the Coffee Beanery to cool down." Other "hot spots" include Novi Bowl, Laurel Park, Twelve Oaks Mall, AMC 20, Seven-11 and Custard Time.

Each "hangout" offers a unique atmosphere and activity, which satisfies different Mustangs and their interests. The Coffee Beanery provides people with coffee to relax, while AMC 20 attracts teens to see the latest Brad Pitt or Gwyenth Paltrow film. Other Mustangs flock to the mall to shop for the latest trends. Meanwhile, NHS athletes cannot resist the treats offered at Custard Time. Emily Shebak, a junior, explained, "After a meet, I order a cold slush from Custard Time. It really quenches my thirst." Amidst all these popular places, many students go to Novi Bowl, where they can bowl and play video games/pool. However, no one can forget about those late night runs to Seven-Eleven for a slurpee.

Northville High School students do not always have an exact game plan, but nonetheless, these teens know how to have a good time.

Fridays, Times that Rule

By Phillip Maza and Kevin Wilber

Every week, the students of NHS look forward to the one day which will make them happy, Friday's. Students start off Friday's with the morning selections of the WHIP blaring through the PA system. During the school day, the students relax with friends, make plans for the weekend and still attempt to complete their schoolwork. While the students' attention drifts, they dream more and more about what they'll be doing over the weekend while they're free from school. As the day progresses, the students' eagerness builds for the long waited 2:15, the beginning of a full 65 hours before more school.

However, it seems that there are a few ups and downs about Friday. Many feel that the first couple of hours go by pretty quickly. Others believe the worst part about Fridays is that it seems that the last few hours go by very slowly.

Junior James Hay said, "The best part about Fridays is that you know you don't have school in the morning." Some students flock to watch the sports teams awaiting the challenges which lie before them, while others students tend to work on Fridays after school and some students just like to relax. Senior Sean Brennan said, "The best part about Friday's is that you get to leave school and stay out late with your friends." Whatever the case may be, the students of NHS always look forward to Fridays.

Although you may see someone everyday in the halls, it just might take sitting next to them in one of your classes to discover your true feelings.

As students walked down the halls of NHS, couples holding hands, hugging and kissing were often a normal sight. For some students, they were lost without their other half.

For these couples, dating someone who attends the same school had many advantages. Senior Christopher Paiva admits that the best part of being in an inner-school relationship is, "you get to see them all the time." Walking each other to classes, sharing a ride to school and getting a little extra help with homework are just a few advantages of having a significant other. Everyone knows there are pros to in-school relationships, but not everyone is lucky enough to share the same school with their sweetheart. Senior Emily Brewington states, "It's really not all that bad. Yeah, I love to spend time with him, but I can find plenty of time outside of school."

Running into these couples at local hangouts was never a surprise. Whether it was catching a flick at AMC 20, sharing a flurry at Custard Time on a hot summer's day, or just hanging out and renting a movie, NHS couples often showed up locally.

Some Things Never Change

By Pat Gillette and Mike Pilarz

Looking around the classrooms at NHS, you see students with heads down, eyes closed and books unopened. According to Mr. Turner, "Kids are unorganized and overworked."

A combination of schoolwork, friends, driving and jobs all leads to an enormous amount of student stress, especially this year. The greatest of these problems seems to be the parking situation. "Having after-school responsibilities only makes the parking situation worse," said senior Bobby Gulewich.

Different things cause stress for different people. For senior Steve Kitakis, "Teachers are the problem." Other students have found that adjusting to the new school can be a significant problem.

Besides leading stressful lives, many NHS students experience embarrassing moments at school.

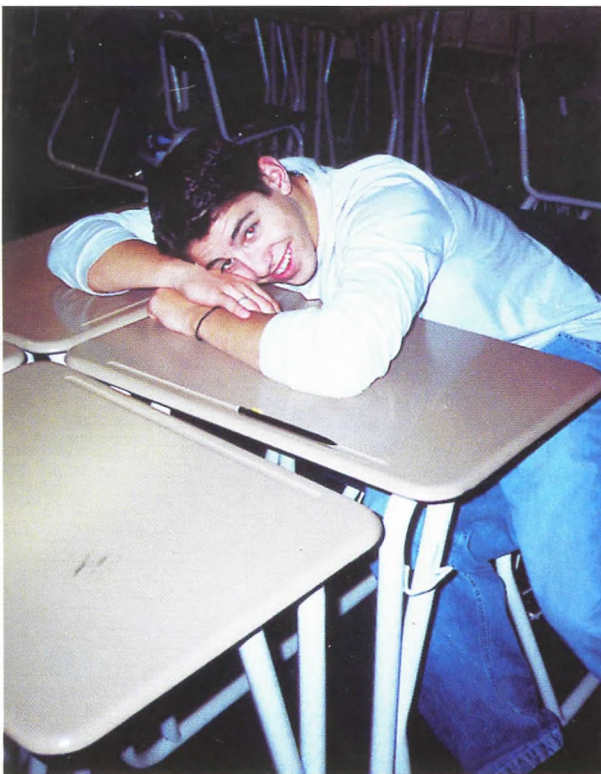

The most embarrassing moments tend to occur directly after school. Car accidents have become almost a frequent occurrence in the parking lot.

There is also a lighter side to student embarrassment, such as, "Getting 'pantsed'," said sophomore Lance Kirsten. You name it, embarrassing moments are a part of everyday life here at NHS.

When asked what causes student stress Mr. Schumacher responded, "Mear teachers like me."

Spring Spirit Week

Page by C. Schulze and B. Komasara

Mustangs began Spirit Week on Tuesday, Feb. 20. It started with the traditional Pajama Day and an oatmeal eating contest at lunch. Wednesday, students took a step into the past with Era Day. Seniors worked their '70's groove by creating a mini-soul train in the cafeteria, while the juniors decked themselves out in neon spandex for the '80's. Sophomores wore fancy swing attire for the '20's, and freshmen put on their best animal print for the pre-historic era. Thursday, students dressed to "get away" for Vacation Day. Seniors wore togas to visit ancient Greece, while juniors dressed in their brightest tropical wear for Hawaii. Sophomores sported cowboy hats and boots for a Texas Dude Ranch and freshmen geared up with snow-pants and goggles fit for a Colorado Ski Resort. Friday gave Mustangs the chance to really show off their school spirit by wearing black and orange, well... anything.

The pep-rally was a big hit with the student/staff basketball game. The gymnastics team wowed the school with its amazing tumbling and choreography, and the guy/girl Pom Pon team was certainly enjoyable with its lively, as well as humorous, dance moves and energetic music. The rally ended with the crowning of Scott Wiecksel and Alex Katona as the Spirit Week Prince and Princess and a victory lap around the gym for the winners.

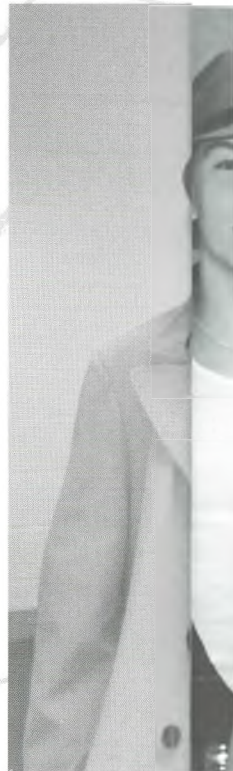

The entire week led up to the "Sadie Hawkin's" dance on Saturday, Feb. 24, which proved a huge success.

A Time of Triumph

By Phillip Maza

If you want to find students working hard and giving 110%, no where will you find more examples of this than on the Mustang sports teams. You can hear the early morning swimmers in the pool if you walk down Main Street early enough. After school, the sounds consist of bodies hitting the mats in wrestling and bars clanking in the auxiliary gym by gymnasts. You can see volleyballs screaming over the net and basketballs "swooshing" through the hoop in the main gym. The tennis team sends the ball flying with a thunk of the racket. The ground rumbles as the track and cross county teams charge. The flying arc the football emerges just before it is caught in outstretched hands. Our sports teams make us proud and give the school a sense of unity. They are the true wearers of orange and black. They train at all hours of the day and live on competition. When a team does well, the whole school feels good. Sports are a major way for many students to excel in their high school careers. Good luck, Mustangs rule!

Crunch Time

By Chris Lebeis and Mike Mueller

The football team's hard work and dedication has paid off this past year. Over the winter, spring and summer, the players worked hard in the weight room and in the gym perfecting plays. Many of the athletes came in and lifted in the mornings before school, and a few enjoyed early morning soccer games after weights.

The team also found many opportunities to enjoy themselves. The first annual Eat-A-Thon caused three players to "lose their lunch." The varsity sleepovers included some extra scouting films to prepare players for the season. "These activities contributed to building a strong team unity which I believe translated to the football field on Friday nights," said Head Coach Darrel Schumacher.

The team said goodbye to their old practice field, "the plateau," and got acquainted with the new "plush" grass of the new high school. Masi's big red ball was always around, a fact that Drew Herpich should remember next season if he scrambles outside of the pocket in practice.

On the field, the Mustangs had a great season, making the playoffs for the first time since 1993 and becoming District Champions while defeating rival Novi twice in the process.

The junior varsity team also worked hard preparing themselves for each game. Their efforts will help them next year when they make the transition onto varsity football.

The freshman team had a very successful season in which they went undefeated and won the conference. They hope to continue this dominance throughout their football careers here

Time to Cheer

By Cindy Antieau and Jill Kursa

Not only do the cheerleaders have to know how to get a crowd pumped up, they have to stunt, tumble and dance. The year started off, as does every year, with tryouts for the freshman, JV, and varsity cheerleading squads. Girls had to perform a sideline, a cheer and a dance, along with optional tumbling, to tryout. Once the teams were chosen, the season began. All three squads started off their seasons with a new coach. Traci Policicchio coached varsity, Jenn Schmitt led JV, Melissa King replacing her as freshman coach.

As part of a tradition, the three squads attended Universal Cheerleader Association Camp in the summer of 2000. Freshman and JV camp was held at UofM while varsity went to MSU. "Through dedication and determination, we not only became close as friends, but attained a strong team bond," said senior Kelsey Jenney. All teams placed well in their competitions, including varsity's first place for their home pom routine.

Both the JV and varsity teams competed in Regionals this year, a first for the JV team, who placed second overall. Varsity also placed second, once again receiving a bid to compete in the National High School Cheerleading Championships in Orlando, Florida. However, due to circumstances, the varsity team was unable to attend Nationals, a competition the cheerleaders have participated in for many years.

The varsity team consisted of eighteen girls, including nine seniors. "The team came together this year after some hardships, and we have produced a strong team," stated Captain Erin Harvey, senior. Other senior captains include Cindy Antieau, Kara Purtell and Sarah Sebastian.

Golfers Swing Into Time

By Robert Ryan and Alicia Brackel

The smooth, casual-looking characters wearing the orange and black varsity men's golf jackets ended their season on an excellent note. They were guided by returning Coach Brad Stedry. Junior Captain Thomas Borda stated, "The team is filled with talent, and we should contend at the Conference and Regional Championship." His prediction proved to be correct. At the WLAA Conference Tournament, the Mustangs won the event with a five-person total of 390, winning the conference title by 18 shots. Leading the way, senior Dean Conway shot a magnificent round, scoring 72. Thomas Borda shot a 76, sophomore David Oljace shot a 77, senior captain Kristopher Betker shot a 78, and senior William Montgomery shot an 87. Conway, Borda and Oljace earned All-Conference medals while Betker earned an All-Division medal. The teams seniors included Kristopher Betker, Dean Conway, Chaz Giammona, Philip Gutowski, Steven Mills, William Salliotte and William Montgomery. Betker sums up the season by saying, "The team played the best golf when it really mattered, at the Conference and Regional tournaments."

It's Checking Time

By Rob Ryan and Steve Bolling

After a disappointing loss in the regional finals last year, the Mustang hockey team made some changes and had a great season this year. They got off to a slow start, but really turned it around halfway through the season. The team had an overall record of 11-11-3 and were 8-7-1 in league play. The team also placed second at the holiday tournament over winter break.

This year's team had a lot of experience to guide them. Head Coach Brad O'Neil returned, as did Coaches Joe Masisano, Paul Candela and former Mustang goalie Richard Ryan.

The team's outlook focused on discipline, and the team never gave up from beginning to end. Newcomers this year were Michael Fill, Jamie Liska, Robert Ward, and David Ely-Bond. The coaching staff was pleased with each and every player's duty and perseverance in making the season a success.

Next year's team will be without departing seniors Captain Robert Ryan, Captain Bill Salliotte, Assistant Captain Mike Stewart, Assistant Captain Aaron Selwood, Scott Schuler, Brandon Caverly, Brandon Szatkowski, Brett Cheaney and Jamie Liska. Their contributions will be missed, but the team welcomes new faces.

In the 2000-2001 season, the girl's swimming and diving team definitely made a name for themselves. The girls went undefeated, even out-swimming their second hardest rival North Farmington with a score of 108 to 78. At the Plymouth Relays, the girls came in second only to Livonia Stevenson, the reigning champs.

The team very much enjoyed their new facilities. In the past, the team had been so large that there were ten girls with only five lanes. This year they had eight lanes, everything was spread out and all the girls got in more practice. The divers also had more room to perfect their skills. Senior Captain Annette Calabrese added, "The new pool is nice." With the extra room, team unity increased.

Even with twenty new members and a new assistant coach, the team did amazingly well. "I've been coaching for twenty-one years, and this year's team has been the most fun to work with in the past fifteen years," said Coach Bill Dicks. While a few individuals were outstanding swimmers and divers, Northville's strength lied in their depth. The points they pulled in for second through fourth places were the most essential. Captains this year were seniors Annette Calabrese, Jessica Hrivnak, Michelle Longeway and Lauren Phillips. These girls, along with coaches Bill Dicks, Tom Silak and Brandy Perko, gave the team the motivation they needed to keep them swimming hard.

The team practiced almost constantly, lifting weights three days a week in addition to normal swim practice. Swimming and diving was the longest running fall sport, starting August 14, and running through November 19.

Game Time

By Daniel Ferrara and Andrea Anderson

"Last year's strong playoff showing was a great lead into this year's season," senior Captain Dustin Kubas enthusiastically reported early in the year.

The 2000-2001 men's varsity soccer team started off strong this year, mostly due to their strong senior base. Many of the returning varsity players had been on the team since their sophomore year, giving this Mustang team the experience they needed to have a successful season. Varsity Captains Dustin Kubas, Timothy Kelleher and Eric Bitell had a lot of optimism about both squads before the first game, and they proved to be right. The varsity team won their first tournament of the year and shared the title of Champions of the Detroit Country Day Invitational.

The JV squad showed much talent as they all worked towards a spot on next year's varsity team. They finished the season with an admirable record and the respect of their varsity counterparts, "They're going to help keep Northville soccer one of the best teams in the league for the coming years," predicted senior Ralph Petty.

Running Against Time

By Derek Ohlgren and Jessica Zwiesler

Most people have no idea how far the women's cross-country team ran during the 2000 season. According to Mr. Watson, the team ran about 35 miles per week, and that was nothing compared to the 50 miles a week they ran at cross country camp back in August.

The girls got off to a great start, undefeated in their conference, and stayed strong their entire season. They largely credit their coach, Mr. Rob Watson, for their success. "He makes us work really hard," said Captain Hillary McCrumb, senior, and it showed during meets.

This was Mr. Watson's first year coaching girl's cross country, and his second year teaching at Northville High School. Previously, Watson coached boys at Cranbrook. According to Mr. Watson, "Coaching girls is a much different experience because of the way they handle situations and react with each other."

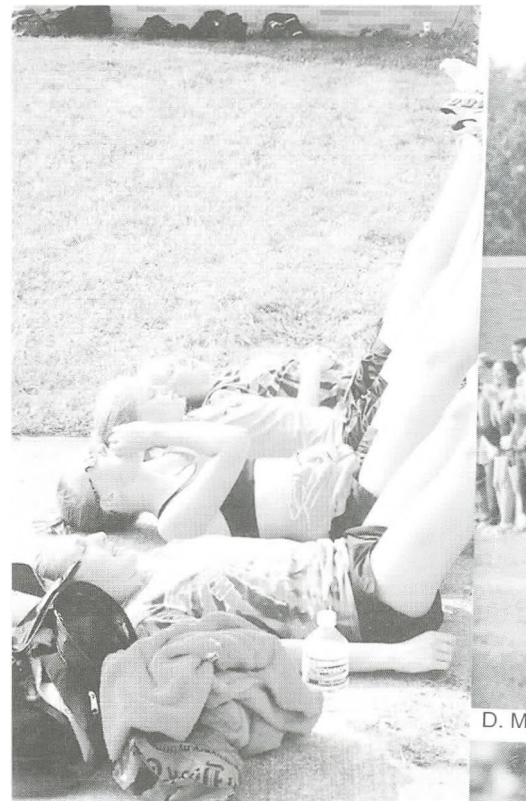

The girls got a late start on their season because Mr. Watson didn't start coaching until mid-August. After only two weeks of coaching, he realized how good of a team the girls were when they placed second at the Corunna Early Bird Invitational by only two points. The girls finished their season with only two defeats.

The 2000 edition of the Northville's cross country team will go into the record books as one of the best in school history. Led by three seniors: Brian Bilyk (captain), Ben Flood (captain) and Bill Dalton, the Mustangs captured their first Western Lakes Athletic Association Title since the Conference formed in 1982. Additionally, the Mustangs earned statewide recognition with a ranking that reached #8 the week of October 22nd.

After a disappointing 8th place finish in the 1999 Conference Meet, Coach Chris Cronin and the team decided to implement an off season training program that would prepare the team to compete the following season. Some of the varsity runners accumulated 600+ miles during their summer training and the team's improvement was immediate. "We were prepared as any team in the State to start the season and that gave us a big boost," said Coach Cronin. The team won its first Invitational of the season at Corunna.

That was followed up by runner-up title at Bath and Walled Lake Western. They continued to improve by winning the prestigious Ypsilanti Invitational and then the WLAA Conference Meet.

Brian Bilyk was named the team's Most Valuable Runner. During his career Brian was twice All-Conference and a State Finalist Qualifier. He currently holds the forth-fastest time for any Northville Runner at our home course (Cass Benton) 16:32. Bill Dalton (6th) and Ben Flood (10th) also made the All-time list with their efforts during the season. Coach Cronin was pleased with the effort of his seniors; "These three were amazing for us all season! Their desire to work hard in practice was infectious, and the whole team raised its level of effort and intensity."

Coach Cronin was optimistic that the team will continue its winning ways in '01, with the return of five very talented varsity runners and a quality group of JV athletes.

This year's men's varsity basketball team started off strong, winning their first game against South Lyon. With ten returning players and two new players, the team was experienced and seemed ready for anything. As senior Justin Messer explained, "Everyday we went to war. We didn't always win, but at least we didn't die."

Their hard work and determination paid off under the leadership of senior Captains Aaron Redden and David Gregor and coaches Scott Baldwin and Bill Corneilius. Rather than playing as individuals, the group really came together as a team, and numerous positive changes in the team's overall performance were noticed.

Many returning players from last year improved greatly, which proved to be better for the team as a whole.

Also making great strides this year was the JV team, which was almost unstoppable. This hard working group showed a lot of discipline and were very goal-oriented. Under the influence of Coach Cunningham and Captain Chris Jacobs, the boys won almost all their games.

During their first year at the high school, the freshmen team competed with great skill. Consisting of twelve players and Coaches Schumacher and Lutes, the team worked very well together and seemed to be off on the right foot.

Changing the Score

By Hillary McCrumb and Sheena Thomas

Northville women's basketball has impressed the growing audiences with their extraordinary athletic talent. They emerged as a unified group of woman that delivered star performances, keeping the fans in suspense throughout the fall season.

The varsity team, one of the top teams in the league, coached by Coach Wright and Coach Kritch, started off the fall season on an extremely high note. The entire team, especially the nine seniors, greatly contributed to this successful year through their hard work, perseverance and high expectations. Coach Kritch commented about his team, "They play hard, day in and day out, which makes coaching really fun."

Centered around the motto of incorporating both fun and work as the basis of a winning strategy, the senior Tri-Captains Mary Tanski, Sara Cox and Emily Carbott, led the team in scoring, rebounding and assists. Mary Tanski and Sara Cox started the team's winning streak by averaging a combination of nearly 30 points per game. In addition, Tanski contributed an average of 10 rebounds per game, while Emily Carbott, the assist specialist, incorporated an average of 7 assists per game. Amidst these veterans, Nicole Cauzillo, a sophomore and budding star, also demonstrated exceptional skills on the court. Other underclassmen stars included Kelly Anderson, a junior, and Lauren Temple, a sophomore.

Despite the "Fire in the Belly," also known as extreme nervousness, according to Mary Tanski, the varsity woman's basketball team set high standards to conquer the court and with their strong leaders and talent, created a victorious, memorable year.

Six Minutes- Blood, Sweat, Glory!

By Valentino Palushaj and Kali McCracken

When the whistle blows and the referee raises a wrestler's hand after six grueling minutes, he knows in his heart that all of the sweat, blood and tears he has put forth have paid off. He would do it again in a heartbeat.

Through dedication, hard work and love, the Mustang wrestling team rose to become one of the biggest powerhouses in the state. At the beginning of the season, the future did not look as promising for the wrestling team. Many new faces entered the lineup trying to fill the gaps, and the worries of an inexperienced team set in. Despite this the Mustangs ultimately proved their strength in the sport as they all worked together as a family, fighting their way to the top as one. Coach Robert Townsend always said, "If we come together as a family, we will go far." The wrestlers did just that. Following long practices and nights of cutting weight, the wrestlers could be found at the local hangout 'Charlie's Grill' replenishing their health and having a good time together, and after tournaments the team all gathered at someone's home for a night of movies and pizza.

Coach Garnett Potter has always said, "If it's not first place, then we don't want it." The grapplers followed this motto and used it to work their way to the top, winning nearly all of their entered competitions. The team finished the season with a compiled team record of 25-3 and as Division, Conference, and District champions.

Individually, four NHS wrestlers earned the chance to compete at Joe Louis Arena in the State meet. These included Ravi Saran, Chad Neumann, Anton Palushaj and Joe Rumbley, and they represented Northville well.

With returning Head Coach Nicole McEvers and Assistant Coach Julie Green coming back another season, the varsity girls volleyball team started off with promising possibilities. The captains included senior Lisa Tellish and senior Kathleen Ochmanski. Though different from years past, the players realized that hard work and dedication would be the biggest key factor to a successful season. With several experienced returning players, the team as a whole was well rounded. Assistant coach Green said, "We had a great team this year. Everyone worked very hard overall." Off court, the varsity team was close, "Our team is very deep!" said senior captain, Kathleen Ochmanski.

In addition, the varsity team received new uniforms with shirts that included shorter sleeves, black stripes along the sides, and v-necklines. The team remained unified by having fire-up dinners the night before each meet.

The junior varsity and freshmen team did not receive new uniforms this year, but they did get new head coaches. Scott Sprow led the JV team and Head Coach Beth Tomala directed the freshman team with Assistant Coach Rachel Theisen. Both JV and the freshmen teams had strong seasons. Head coach Sprow said, "These ladies definitely like to have fun." All three teams had several excellent, talented, leaders, which helped them achieve many outstanding performances.

Practice, practice, practice, practice. The gymnastics team did just that, practicing four times each week with meets intertwined. Coached by Lindsay Crews and Jeff Pergament, the team was very large this year consisting of twenty girls. Ms. Crews said "There was a lot of depth on the team and everyone was ready to step up."

Although the team sustained several injuries, with back and ankle problems, they managed to work through them all. Once invitationals began, the girls started gathering together at team dinners and sleepovers, where they formed strong team bonds. The State competition was held in Rockford, Michigan this year instead of Hartland, the usual location. The girls accomplished a lot there, making new friends and reaching for their goals. Not missing a beat after losing a talented Senior class, the Northville Men's Swimming and Diving team was stronger than ever.

This year the team moved up to a third place finish at leagues and a six and two dual meet record. "Through the long hours of practice and hard work, we really came together as a team and accomplished our goals," said senior Captain Mike Mueller. The team practiced twice a day and swam over 450 miles during the three month season.

The 2000-2001 team was coached by Rich Bennetts, Paul Anderson, Bob Holdridge and Brandy Perko, and it was led by senior Team Captains Dan Myers, Mike Mueller and Anthony Serge. "The five man wrecking crew really turned up the heat this year," said Coach Bob Holdridge. The group had a strong season and qualified for state meet in several events.

Serving Time

Day after day the sun beat down on the black and white jerseys. It was all worth it by the end of the year as two extraordinary teams emerged.

This season both girls' tennis teams did exceptionally well. The junior varsity team finished with an undefeated record and varsity had only one loss. Highlights of the season included the Rochester Invitational, where the second doubles and the third singles groups won their flights for the varsity team. Standouts of the day were Sarah Price, Rachel Huang and Sarah Poirier. In the Saline tournament, the junior varsity played fantastically. The top placers were, Rebbeca Frimenko and Catilina Oaida, who placed first in 4th doubles. Also,

Hillary Mlynarczyk and Marjorie Devereux placed first in 3rd doubles.

Senior Captain Kerry Woolfall said, "The season was great. The coaches have been motivating and supportive on and off the court." This successful season didn't come along easily. "Hard work and dedication always pays off for yourself and the team," said senior Captain Joanna Lee.

Overall, the girls played well and everyone supported each other and most of all, had fun. Junior Varsity Captain Hillary Mlynarczyk said, "I feel our team isn't just about competing, it's about having fun, and doing your best." This type of attitude is exactly what made these two teams great. Congratulations to both teams on a successful season.

Performance Time

By Christine Haverkate

How much dedication does it take to be a pomer? Well with a season that starts in July and doesn't finish until the end of February, you tell me.

This year's pom pon team was filled with 28 dedicated spirits. With only fourteen returning girls and fourteen new members, this team had a long road ahead of them, or so they thought. With summer practice five days a week from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m., these girls danced and kicked their hearts out to better prepare themselves for the year to come.

All their hard work started paying off when they took first in original routine and second in speed learning at Grand Valley University summer pom pon camp. With a primarily new team and fresh new attitudes, they were still able to improve from last year's scores.

The team also competed at Regionals and States, where they were able to show the world what they had. The team was very successful and overcame many obstacles. The most challenging one would have had to be starting with "half of a new team," said coach Millgard. Still, no matter how many difficulties the team endured, they always added a little spunk to everything that they did.

Two of Northville's finest, junior Elizabeth St. Thomas and senior Megan Preston, proudly perform during one of this year's outstanding football halftime shows.

Times are Changing, Quit Horsing Around!

By Gina Appice

This year's Equestrian team had a greater advantage than the last, with only two newcomers to the team. Returning captain, senior Mark Thomson, led Northville. Under his leadership, along with help from assistant captain, sophomore Lauren Karney, the team placed third in the district, right behind Walled Lake Central and Milford.

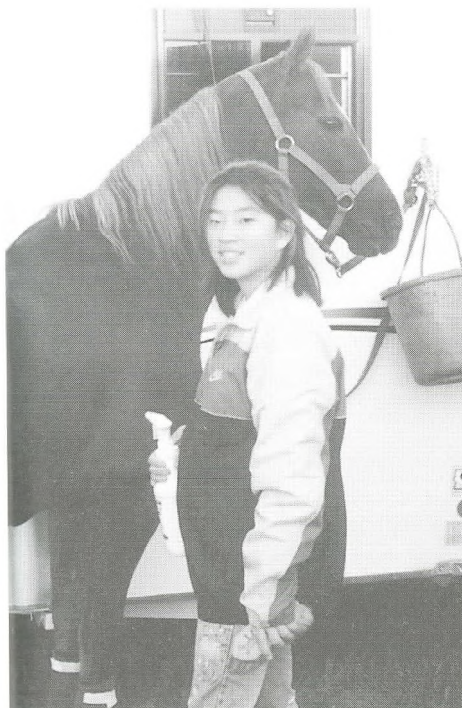

New coach, volunteer Andrea Durham, played a major role in the team's success. Mark said, "She does an unbelievable job at coaching, way more than you would expect for a volunteer coach to do." Parents also helped the team. Mark commented "We would like to thank the parents for all their support."

Practices started in July, in preparation for their September meets. These competitions often lasted an entire day, starting with caring for the horses and laying out their uniforms.

A total of three meets were entered at Milford High School this year, and the team earned twice as many points for placing than last year. Lauren Karney and fellow sophomores, Julia Willams and Emily Devendorf, improved a tremendous amount to help achieve this feat. New riders Michael McGlynn and Meghan Edmonds, also sophomores, experienced the typical tough first year, but worked hard and adjusted. Mark, in particular, performed well this year, earning the High Point Rider award as well as winning first in all four speed events for the first time ever.

The captain's last words about the team were: "It's not where you start at A, but where you end at B", and "This year's team did an unbelievably good job."

Northville High has a large population of students participating in clubs and organizations. "Sixty percent of the student population is involved in a club or activity," commented Assistant Principal Dennis Colligan. Moving into the new high school has encouraged participation in clubs and activities at Northville High.

"We just started a new chess club, which is kind of neat," said

Mr. Colligan. The first meeting of this new club had a large turnout. The participation of the students shows overwhelming school spirit. Northville High's largest clubs and organizations were National Honors Society, Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) and Rotary Interact. Students have shown a great interest in clubs and organizations this year, and this was shown through student participation.

Marching in Time

By Valerie Bostwick and Jenny Jones

The year started early for Northville's 220 band students, who began gathering on August 14 in preparation for the first football halftime show on August 25. Rehearsals began at the old building but were gradually moved to the new school as it was finished. For each football game, the band met at the new building to share a bus-ride to the field with their instruments.

Conducting the group during their halftime shows at these games were the band's drum majors. Tiffany Hare, Rachel Klimek, Sara Sarkisian and Scott Weicksel.

When marching band started coming to a close, symphonic band began practice, preparing for the year's first big concert, Band-O-Rama. Marching band was also on display at Band-O-Rama. Additionally, both bands were joined by the choir for the holiday concert on December 13th and 14th.

Joining the other bands for the opening of the auditorium on October 17th was the Jazz band, who also opened for Johnny Trudell at Clarenceville High School earlier in the year.

In January all the bands began the process of selecting songs to play in the festivals that occur in March and April. These festivals were the most important for symphonic and jazz bands, as they spent many months practicing for them.

Changing the Tune

By Hillary McCrumb and Sheena Thomas

Filling the auditorium with vibrant song, the Northville High School choir members started off the year on a high note.

Directed by Mary Kay Pryce, Mark Krempski and Paula Clinard, the choir department proudly premiered the new theater with a grand showcase concert. Following the showcase concert, chamber and concert choirs performed at Marygrove College, displaying their strong musical ability. The year only improved as choir students sacrificed their time during seminar and after school to further enhance their vocal skills, which led to the qualification of several students in prestigious honors choirs. Even with impressive performances at festivals, the students refused to stop. Members of concert choir worked to raise funds by working at the Victorian Festival, baby-sitting children, caroling downtown and at local parties and selling pumpkin bread. Through these fundraisers, the students earned enough money to take a trip to the "Windy City," Chicago. Kristin Kirk, secretary, said, "Baby-sitting was lots of fun. I think the officers work together well and have a lot of great ideas."

Dedicated, motivated and successful, the 2000-2001 choir department set high standards for forthcoming students, while drawing large crowds through musical harmony.

Le Cercle Français et le Voyage en France

By Kevin Conn & Ryan Hitte

The French club got off to a good start this year with plenty of student involvement. During the year they had a wide assortment of different activities such as after school movies like Peppermint Soda. "If you want something to do after school, French Club is it," said junior Jessica Dechape. Also, there was a trip to La Fondue in Royal Oak that gave the French Club a new taste of life. They sold pain au chocolat (chocolate croissants) during lunch which helped the club further fund their activities.

Also, there was a French trip during the summer of 2000. This gave 29 adults and students a better understanding of the French culture. The trip included visits to many places such as St. Paul's Cathedral in London, Notre Dame in Paris and the Coliseum in Rome. While on their trip, they had a great opportunity to use their knowledge of the French language and culture to make it even more enjoyable.

Students visited new and exciting places, like brand new countries that they have never seen before. It took participants back in time with all the many historical sites they saw. The next trip is scheduled for the summer of 2002.

Time for Spanish Culture

By Kevin Hagedorn

The foreign language teachers at NHS do an excellent job of teaching the Spanish language to students. It's often not enough to know the language, one must also feel the culture. This was where Spanish club came in. Whether it was participating in Spanish activities, visiting the country, or eating authentic Spanish food, Spanish club provided students with a taste of what the culture of the Spanish-speaking world was like. However, they didn't stop with high school Spanish students. The Spanish club visited several elementary schools to provide information on the Spanish language and culture. Also, the Spanish club held gatherings at local restaurants to promote union in the group. Besides school events, the Spanish club also sponsored a child in the Dominican Republic. In order to pay for these events, the Spanish club had many fundraisers and other activities to raise money. These emerged as just a few of the many things Spanish club has accomplished this year, and they looked forward to many more years of language, culture, and ideas.

Travel Tunnie

By Mike Mueller and Chris Lebeis

For two weeks last summer, twenty German students traveled with two German teachers, Frau Motz and Frau Kammeraad, to Germany, Switzerland and Austria. The group tried many new types of food, explored a lot of churches, and learned much about the culture. "The highlight was visiting the castle, Neuschwanstein, and driving through the Alps," commented senior traveler Kyle Wargo.

Despite 17 hours of flight time, the students had plenty of time to walk through towns, shop at various stores, visit historical landmarks and converse with native Germans.

To sum up the trip, Lauren Schleh said, "Germany is a beautiful country with many wonderful qualities, extravagant landscapes and a lot of really cool castles."

German Club is an organization that takes extra time for interested German students to fully enjoy the German language. They participate in many fun activities to teach additional information to the students about the German culture. Members taste interesting food dishes and watch movies dubbed in German to hear the language that they have learned to understand.

Wrapping Up Tunnie

By Shawna Roby and Jennifer Lacey

This year's Publications class was made up of 83 students. The team – taught class was divided up in two sections, one for the yearbook and the other for the Mustang. Students switched back and forth between the two throughout the year. Each class period, students scrambled to gather information such as quotes and pictures, necessary elements for pressing deadlines. In Publications, deadlines were everything.

Teachers Mrs. Mokanyk and Mrs. Hall led the groups, working just as hard, if not harder, to help meet deadlines. Students also received assistance from class editors, each of whom had their own sections to manage. Though the class could be stressful and taxing, the satisfaction felt when students saw their published work was amazing, especially with their names on published materials that the entire school views.

The class continues to grow every year, causing it to be scheduled in two different periods. First semester, 83 students were signed up, one period consisting of 23, with the remaining 60 falling in seventh period under both teachers. The second hour class concentrated solely on the Palladium, while the other contributed to both. All the students' hard work paid off for the 2000-2001 Northville High School Palladium!

Tune to Talk

By Steve Kitakis

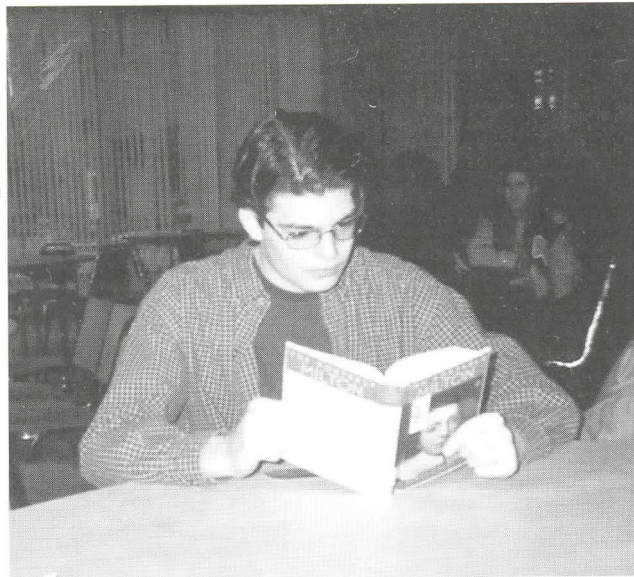

Let's face it, not everyone has the ability to speak in front of a crowd with confidence and meaning. However, there is an organization which allows students to express and build their speaking skills. Forensics, sponsored by Ms. Butler, competed once a month on Saturdays, when students from Northville High School performed against other schools. Students chose from a large variety of topics to speak about, allowing something for everyone interested in competing for their school.

Though auditions were not required to become a member, participants in Forensics had to sacrifice a great deal of time after school hours. They spent much of their time preparing for their presentations and writing their speeches. The students could compete in individual events ranging from an original oratory to poetry. All students competing in Forensics hoped to win in their individual event, and move up into even higher level competitions.

As said by Ms. Butler, Forensics is "an exploration of communication and celebration of literature." While allowing students to realize how much potential they already had as speakers, it also showed them new speaking techniques that furthered their abilities. According to Ms. Butler, after all was said and done, Forensics members came out as "more articulate and confident speakers."

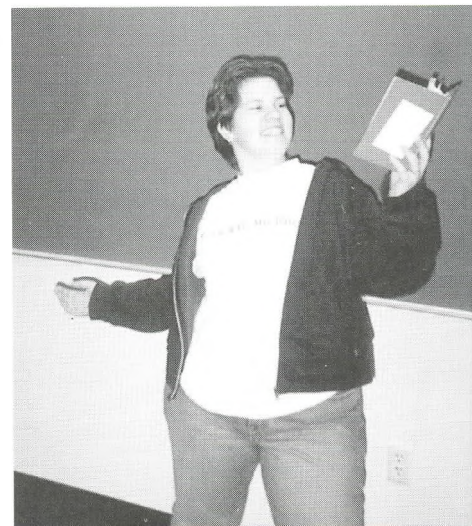

Glued to his book, Justin Horowitz reads with great interest.

Working on their speeches, Jessica Dechape and Daniel Mobbs time their presentations.

Time to Think

By Kevin Wilber and Dave Konowalow

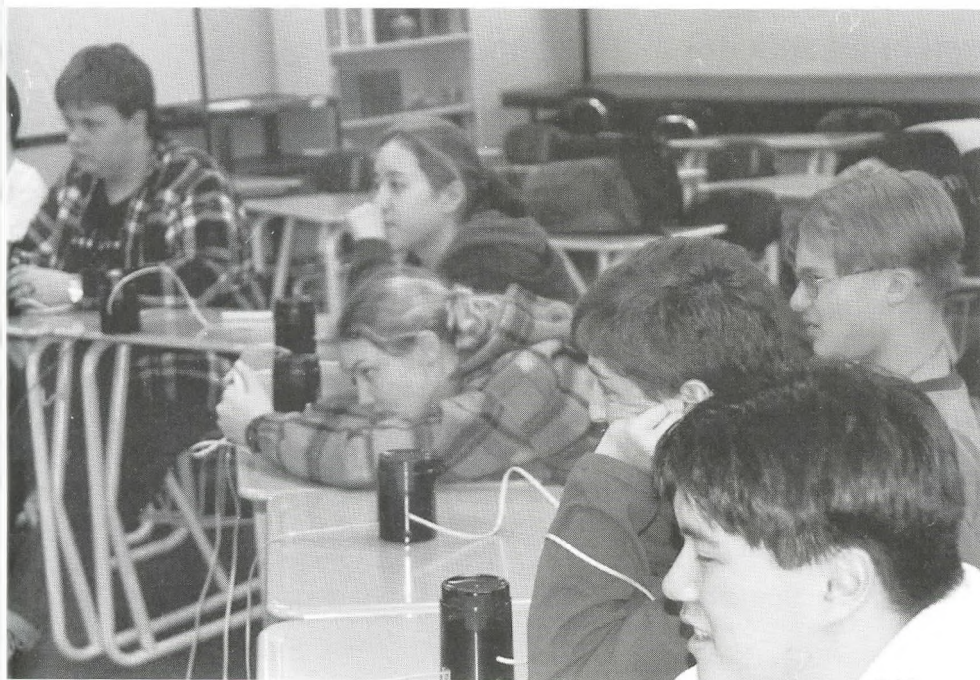

You might be wondering what exactly is Quiz Bowl? Well, Quiz Bowl is an interscholastic academic competition. That doesn't help either? Then think about Quiz Bowl kind of like Jeopardy, without having to answer in the form of a question.

The "Quiz Bowlers" are tested on all of the academic subjects, so being a strong all-around student remains a key to being a successful player. The team met every Tuesday and Thursday in order to brush up their memory and the many other skills needed. Knowing the answer just wasn't enough to score for the team. The "Quiz Bowlers" had to be the first to buzz in. When the team wasn't practicing, they were in competition against other teams in the WLAA League. The first Wednesday of every month, the team battled for the highest score. Scoring reflected that of Jeopardy, but was not exactly the same. The teams were given points per round, and the winner of the round was given a bonus question for points.

In addition to normal competition, the team attended a Saturday Invitational five or six times a year. When asked, what hopes or aspirations she had for this year's team, Coach Motz replied, "We hope for states, but more importantly we hope everyone on the team has fun doing something educational."

Time to Decide

By Stephanie Soloko and Krissy Harold

SADD (Students Against Destructive Decisions) and Zero Tolerance accomplished a lot.

The over 400 members in SADD participated in fundraising by selling pretzels at the Victorian Festival and baked goods at the Christmas Walk. They provided red ribbons during Red Ribbon Week for the entire school and brought in a speaker to make us more aware of our choices. Some members also took part in a conference at Shanty Creek to discuss issues and attend workshops about dealing with bad decisions.

Zero Tolerance informed younger kids about the importance of abstaining from drug, alcohol and tobacco use. They attended Hillside and Meads Mill a total of eight times to discuss the benefits of abstaining and high school life in general.

Members not only talked to kids about saying no, they practiced what they preached. "[ZT members committed to abstain from a substances during their high school career," says Ms. Miranda, SADD and ZT sponsor.

These two organizations largely contributed to making NHS a safe place.

Diversity Club

By Dan Ferrara

The newly founded diversity club really met it's founding goal this year. "We are working to help each student develop a better understanding of not only other cultures, but of aspects of their own," stated Mr. Watson, who along with Mrs. Green, sponsored the Diversity Club. Formed at the end of last year, the diversity club already has over 40 members and sponsored many diversity activities this year. The club sent two students on the Anti-Defamation League's Youth Leadership Mission last spring. These students traveled to Washington D.C. where, along with almost a hundred students from around the country, they visited the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum and had the opportunity to speak with actual survivors of the Holocaust. They also participated in diversity training and workshops, as well as discussions regarding the experiences of other cultures.

In addition to this trip, the club's partnership with the Detroit chapter of the Anti-Defamation League led to a program that brought Jewish Ethiopians to speak with students. Senior Andrew Basse joined diversity club, "to find out about people that aren't like all the Northville people."

Always alert, club sponsor Mr. Watson keeps the group on track during a meeting.

Changing the Scenery

By Derek Ohlgren and Jessica Zwiesler

At the end of the school year Mr. Boshoven and Mrs. DeWitt had a new neighbor move in next to them. The newcomer was a ceramic wall mural created by Mrs. Bassitt and some of her students.

The second floor wall mural was what Mrs. Bassitt called an opportunity for "student generated permanent art."

The mural, titled "Earth, Water, Wind, and Fire," was created using the expertise of Pewabic Pottery consultants. The mural itself contains 1800 individual tiles utilizing 30 different colors. Assisting the group with the pottery technique were Ms. Karyn Huebner and Ms. Jane Thompson from Pewabic Pottery. The company also provided the clay and the glaze for the tiles.

Although many of Mrs. Bassitt's students assisted her with this project, she had eleven students that she referred to as her "core group of workers." These eleven students had been a part of the project since the start in January of 2000. The students also took field trips to Pewabic Pottery and to the People Mover where they critiqued the murals along the route.

There was, however, a moment last year when there was a chance that the project would not be completed due to funding problems. Then the Mothers Club of Northville offered their help. They provided the remainder of the funding for the mural.

A First Time for "Ballyhoo"

By Beth Komasa and Crystal Schulze

It's 1939; the world is at war. Despite European chaos, "Ballyhoo," the social event of the season, is all that the play's Atlantan Jews have on their minds.

This year's fall play, The Last Night of Ballyhoo, was performed for the first time by a high school. It ran three days, Nov. 16-18. Seven main parts were cast and ten were added, due to the abundance of student talent at NHS. There was much to be accomplished in a short amount of time, but the cast and crew came together to put on an excellent show.

As the story goes, Adolph Freitag (Jayse O'Brien) owns his own company and lives with his widowed sister and sister-in-law, Buelah (Boo) Levy (Jackie Washburn), and Reba Freitag (Beth Duey).

Determined that her daughter, Lala (Kelsey Jenney), find a socially acceptable husband, Boo makes Lala attend Ballyhoo with Peachy Weil (Nick Detrych). Reba's daughter, Sunny (Alex Katona), is asked by Adolph's employee, New Yorker Joe Farkas (Jason Cozza).

Joe is looked down upon by much of Sunny's family. They refer to him as "the other kind," because he is Russian Orthodox. Believing Sunny feels the same, Joe becomes enraged and storms out of Ballyhoo.

When Joe finally figures out that the attitudes of Sunny's family are not those of Sunny, he tracks her down to apologize. The play ends with everyone sitting down together for a traditional Jewish dinner.

"It exceeded my expectations!" said new director Mary Butler. "The biggest reward was knowing that I could sit in the audience and trust the students to run the whole show themselves."

Northville moved into the 21st century this year by broadcasting the morning announcements on television. The Northville News Network premiered on Monday, Dec. 4, 2000. It was a collaborative effort between both the broadcasting and multimedia classes. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Gorshak taught the techniques of writing, reporting, taping and editing news stories.

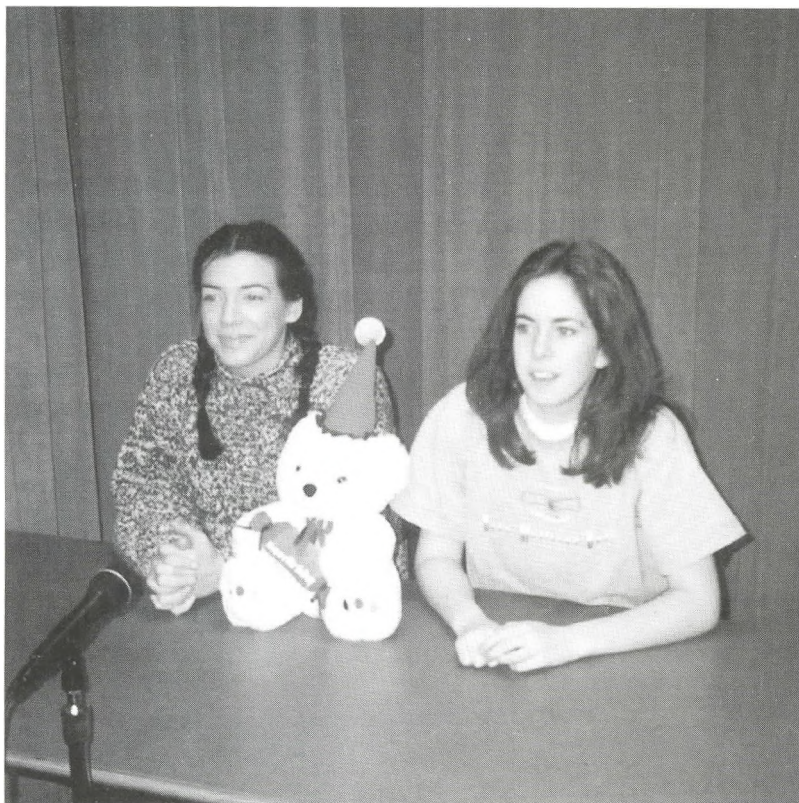

Both classes were fortunate enough to have the use of state-of-the-art equipment, such as two $20,000.00 DPS computerized editing systems.

In addition, a weekly news rap up was broadcast the last seminar day of each week. It featured stories such as sports features, teacher of the week, athlete of the week, as well as information on various colleges. Students edited each segment and produced the entire program during class and seminar time.

Senior Julia Ecclestone said the video announcements were "nice because you can put a face to the voices you hear every morning."

Continuing the tradition, the broadcast class served as deejays for the WHIP radio program every Friday morning. Students were welcomed with music as they walked in the door until the beginning of first hour. This year's changes opened the doors for continued quality in the years to come.

Looking Ahead into Time

A new addition to the NHS organizations, the robotics team, used their creativity to construct a robot for the US First Competition.

This competition was held in Florida and consisted of many robots from everywhere around the United States. At the State level, the robot came in first, and was named third in the Country.

The Florida competition was the big event. The purpose of the event was to display the effectiveness of everyone's robots by performing tasks with them. The tasks consisted of placing balls into goals, moving goals on to a semi-stable bridge, balancing the bridge, and being in the end zone at the end of the match in under two minutes.

The Northville team that constructed this robot consisted of 32 students, 6 teachers, 8 engineers, and 8 people from the Bosch Corporation.

The designing and building of the robot took place after school over a course of six weeks. After these weeks of hard work, the robot was completed and shipped to Florida. Congratulations Robostangs!

Adapting to Change

By Priscilla Akins and Sarah Boll

From calling, to meeting, to showing new students to their classes, this year proved to be a challenge; however, Adopt-a-Student was extremely successful.

The adoptees and adopters both had to work together to find their way around the new school. Unlike years before, they did not know the school grounds very well. Therefore, they had to work very hard to get their adoptees to their classes.

Mrs. Weeks helped everyone involved in this program adjust to the new environment. The adoptees and adopters both made new friends and benefitted from this experience. Christopher Robinson, a junior and a new student from Pittsburgh said, "They were so nice, it made it a lot easier to adjust to the new school." This year was very successful and hopefully it will set a foundation for years to come.

In effort to discover the ins and outs of the new school, Christopher Robinson, junior, and Lisa Tellish, senior, study the map to find his classes.

Changing Society...and Times

By Nick Mues and Dan Pichineru

Have you ever wanted to help out fellow students, assist in school events, or give to charities aiding the poor? The National Honor Society, an organization consisting of juniors and seniors, take part in these kinds of activities. Led by tireless sponsors Ms. Rohde and Mr. Cronin, the students were kept very busy.

All were involved in fund-raisers and projects, which included guiding lost people through the new building, the Homecoming flower sale, selling candy on holidays, bell-ringing for the Salvation Army, and a tutoring program. Additionally, the group raised scholarship money for two students. "This year we have had the most successful fund-raising in our history and we are excited about all the services we can provide with the money," said Ms. Rohde.

Through participation in such activities, students earn credits towards the twelve hours of service required. Members also must maintain a GPA of 3.5 and show good behavior.

Student officers consisted of Joanna Lee, Chris Lebeis, Lindsay Dehne, Jennifer Geist, and Megan Gilshire. They helped conduct meetings, organize fund-raisers, and assist the society's sponsors.

With a great mix of these student leaders and sponsors, the National Honor Society hopes to continue its achievements and success for years to come.

Ice Tunnle

By Calynn Berry

The smell of cool, crisp air and the vision of the shiny, slick surface encouraged the nineteen girls to layer on their tights, black NHS pants and warm, fuzzy, school fleece vest. The Northville figure skating team was ready to dominate.

The 2001 figure skating team had an amazing season. Many of the nineteen girls placed first or second in the qualifying individual competition; as a result, they earned a spot to compete in states as individuals. The team events were also a great success. The competition consisted of eight local high schools and some private schools.

Team dinners were common events for team bonding and were held at different homes each time. Many of the girls devoted much of their lives and thousands of hours to the sport. Captains Calynn Berry and Erin Banner supported "their girls" throughout the season. Ms. Michele Mikonczyk also played an role as their sponsor and coach. "Good job on a great season" was her reflection. The captains and Ms. Mikonczyk want to thank the girls who committed their time and skill to the skating team.

Need some help? Need some advice? Are you in a conflict? Peer mediation is here to help you. Peer mediation is an organization that helps students resolve their problems. At the end of the 99-00 school year, this group was selected by an interview process.

The new peer mediators were trained through the Wayne County RESA and in-house training.

At the beginning of the year they went to Camp Tamarack. Mrs. Cavanaugh said, "It was a great chance to get to know one another." This camp helped the students discover their strengths and weaknesses.

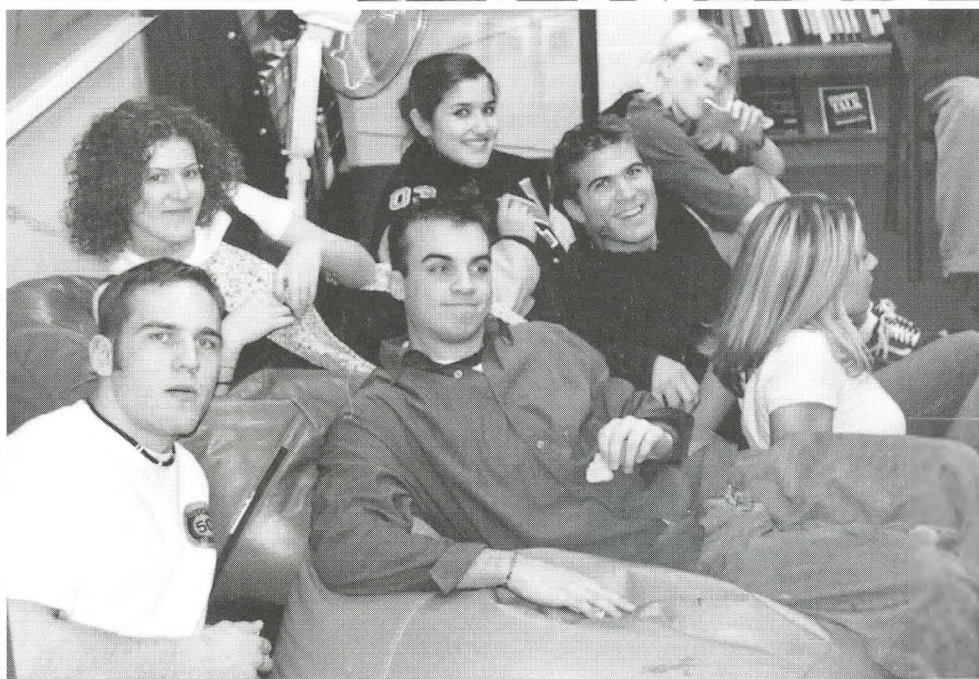

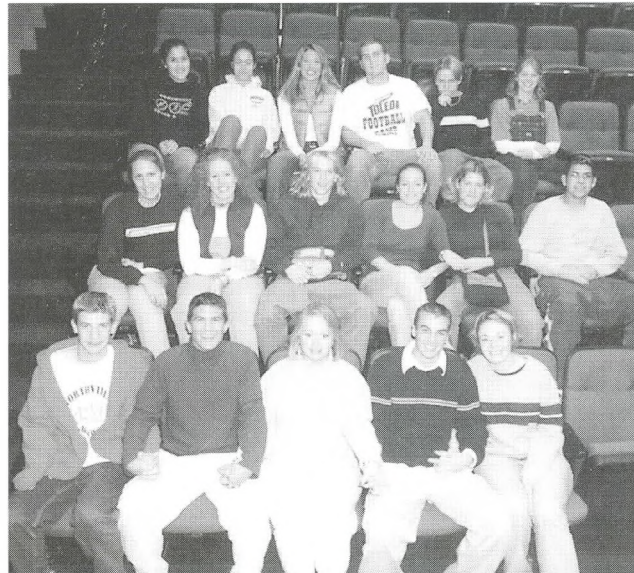

All students had to do if they had a problem was talk to their counselor, teacher, or a peer mediator. They filled out a mediator request form for either themselves or a friend in need. Both parties had to be willing to participate in the mediating. A large majority of students came out winning.

Peer mediation had many roles. They listened one on one to friends in need. In a confidential setting, they helped students solve their problems and conflicts. They also visited other Northville Public Schools including the middle schools and the elementary schools. There they talked to them about getting along with others.

The peer mediation group has accomplished many goals including learning about themselves and others.

Change In Roles

By Steve Harper and Nick Stimmell

Teens As Teachers was made up of a very unique group of students. The organization, which started in 1999, has been a big success. Groups of students traveled to local elementary schools and discussed the harmful products in tobacco. These 26 students volunteered their time to make sure that young children stop, or never start, using tobacco. Diana Frentzos says that she likes Teens As Teachers because she "hates smokers" and thinks that it is "a bad habit and I want to stop kids from starting." This year, Ms. Miranda would "like to do at least five elementary schools," in order to get the word out to prevent further tobacco use. Unlike some other organizations, anyone could join Teens as Teachers if, of course, you were a nonsmoker. The NHS Teens as Teachers took their role change, from students into teachers and put it towards a very important use.

Taking Time to Improve the School

By Maria Janevski and Stephanie Krstevich

The Student Congress has been extremely busy this past year, providing an outstanding example for the Northville High School student body. This year's student congress under the leadership of Dennis Colligan, President Jonathan McClory senior, and officer's senior Ralph Petty, Adam Weiss and junior Candice Simons led the mustangs through a successful new school year.

The Student Congress was responsible for several NHS activities, including many fundraisers and community service projects such as, Paint the Town and Adopt-a-Family.

They continued to keep the community important throughout the year. "Our main goal this year is to work together as a team representing the student body of NHS along with the community of Northville," stated junior Student Congress representative Candice Simons. The public was welcomed into the school for a dedication ceremony, which took place Sept. 10, 2000.

During both Spirit Weeks, they once again created and designed categories for each day. They also helped organize various activities for the competitions between grade levels during Spirit Week lunches. This year's Homecoming theme was "A Gathering Of Stars." The group went above and beyond in making Homecoming, Spirit Week, and the indoor pep assemblies wonderful.

This year's Student Congress also made the move to the new NHS a smooth transition. In addition, they helped contribute to make a special and positive atmosphere, improving our lives as students and as a tightly knit community.

President Jonathan McClory, senior, speaks to his school about upcoming activities and events for Student Congress at the school dedication.

Changing the World

By Christine Havercate
and Kevin Hagedorn

Swearing, profanity and disrespect, though resisted, have managed to worm their way into our society, but one group is trying to change that. Make-A-Difference is an organization dedicated to improving the attitude of students by setting an example which others can follow. The organization is divided into groups that are responsible for individual segments of our school's society that need work, such as, respect, communication, outreach, random acts of kindness and recognition. At the beginning of each year, the students attend a Make-A-Difference camp that helps them develop teamwork skills as well as respect for each other. They then use their knowledge of respect and teamwork skills to help the student body realize their potential by setting an example. Each group organizes projects that benefit its respective branch of society. This year, Make-A-Difference passed out gummy bears and cookies to seminars; they had a raffle; and they continue to do random acts of kindness throughout the school.

Time Of Our Lives

By Hillary McCrumb and Sheena Thomas

The class of 2001, the first class to graduate from the newly built Northville High School, was also the first class of the new millennium. Although the seniors left behind old memories of the "hill," they established a sense of pride, setting high expectations for the forthcoming students. The move proved to be extremely successful for many clubs, sports and other organizations, actively led by seniors. Through creativity and cooperation, the class of 2001 rose above their many obstacles by embracing old traditions and realizing their full potential.

In the reliable hands of Kelsey Jenney, Dustin Kubas, Dan Ferrara, Dave Murphy and Ashley Pyatenko, the class of 2001 successfully focused on excelling in school and life. Utilizing the talents of our 368 seniors, the senior class officers organized numerous fund-raising activities, which included selling Papa Romano's Pizza at the Victorian Festival, working in concession stands at the U of M games and selling pizza kits. Although the class of 2001 was disqualified the past three years at Homecoming, this year the seniors proved that they were beaming with school pride. Empowered by hard work, the senior float earned high distinctions. Fueled by immense school spirit, the seniors displayed admirable athletic skills and remarkable team records during the fall, winter and spring seasons in a wide range of sports. As a united body, the class of 2001 sought perfection through the integration of persistence, excellence, diversity and ambition, aiming beyond our limits.

The class of 2001 faced challenges head-on, and comforted one another in times of disappointments, forever sealing our legacy onto Northville High School. As we part, seeking our individual destinies, the class of 2001 will always be remembered as innovators, creating lasting traditions for the new millennium.

Class of 2001 Senior Poem

Cooke kids started with a bold attitude,
They got the dance canceled when they threw all that food.
Meads Mill kids still went, although all along,
Like goody-two shoes they danced on their own.
We approached the high school with excitement and fears,
About the events of the forthcoming years.
Raiders and Patriots united as one,
Four long years until we'd be done.

We came every day and made a huge fuss,
But only because we all rode the bus.
With our freshman float who possibly knew,
Three years in a row we would receive a DQ.
We sold t-shirts to pay for the rent,
I'm pretty sure we all know how that went.
Days filled with fun, many things learned about,
The best day had to of been when the power went out.
But as the year went by close friendships were made,
Some would stay strong and others would fade.

Now as huge sophomores, the freshman below us,
Few could drive cars so most still took the bus.
Knowing the ropes, we often left class,
To the jungle or sky we took the hall pass.
This one crazy guy helped to build our next float,
DQ'd again with our big ugly boat.

Juniors we were, upperclassmen at last,
Who knew those two years would go by so darn fast.
No more buses for us, we'd all had our fill,
Now we parked at the church and walked up the back hill.
Odyssey '01 was the float, Sedam's was the base,
It could've been good but we were all lost in space.
Seminar by far was our favorite class,
Except at 10:00 when we could no longer pass.
Junior year ended, senioritis soon came,
Having the best summer yet was the name of the game.

We said goodbye to the hill and we traded the bridge,
For a crammed parking lot where you can't move a smidge.
We moved into a school where more room we would get,
So why in the halls is there still a mosh pit.
Seminar once again was on a thin bubble,
The Record had wrote that it was nothing but trouble.
State of the art, all brand new and cool,
But it took all the kids to make it a school.
Our MTV float was finally not bad,
But we were beaten by the freshmen's moms and dads.

We looked in our bank and found nothing but dust,
If we didn't think quick prom would be a huge bust.
No money to spend, but please do not fret,
You had the best class officers you must not forget.
We sold pizza downtown and made lots of dough,
Almost as much as Papa Romano.
We worked at the Big House to make some fast cash,
Selling hot dogs and pop to throw a prom bash.
We made enough money prom would be thrown,
What lies ahead still isn't known.
Seniors on top, as a family we stand,
Four amazing years, we deserve a big hand.

Love Always and Forever Your Class of '01 Officers,
Kelsey Jenny, Tishly Pyatenko, and the Three D's-Danny Ferrara, Dave Murphy, and Dustin Kubas

SOMEWHERE IN TIME

By Michelle Alder and Heather Dauss

After settling into the new high school, the Junior class had many times to remember. Led by class officers Michael Moegelin, president, Jeffery Mnich, vice president, Emily Shebak, secretary, and Kyle Dehne, treasurer, the juniors anticipated an exciting year. They spent much of their time preparing for their lives ahead and looking into their future. With college just around the corner, many Juniors dedicated many hours to studying. A number of juniors took the ACT and SAT tests as well. Many of the juniors sacrificed their time to work together to build an awesome Homecoming float and raise money for their class. Many of Northville High School's Junior class participated in the Victorian Festival working at the class booth selling hair wraps. Many other members of the Junior class represented their organizations by working at booths such as Rotary Interact, SADD, pompon and cheerleading, or just by enjoying the festival while walking around the streets of Northville. Because of the new high school, there was enough parking provided so for the first year, every junior who wanted a parking space was able to have one. With the excess, even some sophomores enjoyed the luxury of driving rather than taking the bus to school. This year emerged as a great one for many juniors, and surely they look forward to their future as seniors. The Junior class became extremely involved in many Mustang activities, enjoying various sports, clubs and organizations. Truly a vital part of the Northville High School atmosphere, the Juniors came together as one to represent their class with pride.

PASSING THE TIME

Christine Haverkate

Whether it's raising money for their class or hyping up the rest of the sophomores for Spirit Week, this class was always on the ball when it came to heading in the right direction. The sophomore officers were known to be one of the most outstanding groups of kids when it came to supporting and organizing. With Ms. Compton as the sophomore sponsor for her second year, the class of 2003 had a great "cheerleader" to keep them going. Just in the fall alone, this class was able to earn over $5,000.00. Their fund-raisers consisted of a wide range of ideas. Starting over the summer, their first fund-raiser was a car wash at Amerman Elementary. Shortly after came T-shirt sales at orientation, the Victorian festival in early fall and they also sold gift certificates from several different department stores. The sophomore officers for the 2000-2001 school year were President Greg Johnson, Vice President Bethany Sprader, Treasurer Peter Kelley and Secretary Ashleigh Doinidis. Greg Johnson stated, "I like being class president even though it's work." "This group has been aggressive, positive and thorough," said Mr. Colligan. "In general the class as a whole has made good decisions on picking their officers," stated Mr. Compton. The change of school seemed to not have slowed down the Sophomore class one bit. If anything, it has made them stronger. When asked where he could see this class in two years, Mr. Colligan stated that this class will most likely, "go down as a well-organized and very successful group."

STEP IN TIME

By Tom Ried

The freshmen had a very successful year. Although having to adjust to the new high school atmosphere, they learned to work hard.

The freshmen were not alone this year when entering a new school environment. The rest of the classes had to adjust as well. They quickly displayed their Northville school spirit by building the first place Homecoming float, with their parents behind them all the way.

The new students had a fun time taking the bus and trying to hitch rides from upperclassmen, while others got rides to school from their parents. They have learned that it takes effort to get a head start in making their careers at NHS successful.

This year's Freshmen class representatives were President Robert Austin, Vice President Andrea Watts, Secretary Suzie Boll and Treasurer Andrew Moore. They worked extremely hard to raise money for their class, getting them off on the right foot.

As the largest class ever to enter Northville High School, they discovered a recipe for success with their long sleeve T-shirt sale and class sweatshirt sale. They also made money through the game booths at this year's Victorian Festival. Contributing ideas for the benefit of the class were the officers Andrew Bishop, Carmen Gillespie, Steve Mnich, Devon Rupley, Catie Beger and Jessica Stambolian. This year has been an exciting one, full of new experiences and achievements. Many freshman are looking forward to the challenges they face going up in the ranks of the classes. By getting off on the right foot, they assured themselves successes through the course of their high school careers.

The staff at the new NHS plays an important role in the success of both this school and the students. Whether it is Mr. Osborn helping a student after school to prepare for a test or a conversation with Mrs. Prestel at the café table to help improve your French.

Counselors also play a very important part in the development of students. They assist students with all that they have to help them pick their classes for the next year or just help them with a problem that they are having here at school.

The librarians are always there to help students further their minds and their research skills to help them reach their highest potential. NHS always has a lot of behind the scenes work going on that most students don't know about. A lot of work goes into planning a field trip for a class and the hall monitors are always watching to make sure everything runs smoothly.

Also, Dr. Johnson and the rest of the administration staff are always looking for new ways to promote the well-being of and the overall safety of the school. Without the amazing staff we have at this high school, we would be uniformed, uninspired, and unprepared.

The 2001 Palladium was desktop published using two IBM Aptiva computers. The program used is Aldus Pagemaker 5.0. The 244 page book was printed by Herff Jones Inc., 6015 Travis Lane, Shawnee Mission, Kansas 66202.

The 1500 copies of the spring delivered 2001 Palladium were printed on 80# Bordeaux Special, except the endsheet which was printed on Vibracolor White (VC01) and was printed in black ink, front side only. The cover was printed on Vista Custom Embossed on Vibra Tex Black base material in 120 point. Davis Binder Board with Caracul grain. The cover also had a silver silkscreen application (#23) on front lid and spine, an orange foil stamping application (F-5) on front lid, and three-coins tipped on by school. The binding is Smyth Sewn, rounded and backed.

The 2001 Palladium used Arial as the primary typeface, printing the body copy in 12 pt., the captions in 10 pt., and the photo credits in 8 pt. Additional typefaces used in different sections included Rockwell Extra Bold, Brush Script Italic, Century Gothic Bold, Colonna MT Bold Italic and Bookman Old Style Bold Italic.

All underclassmen panels were from Jostens National School

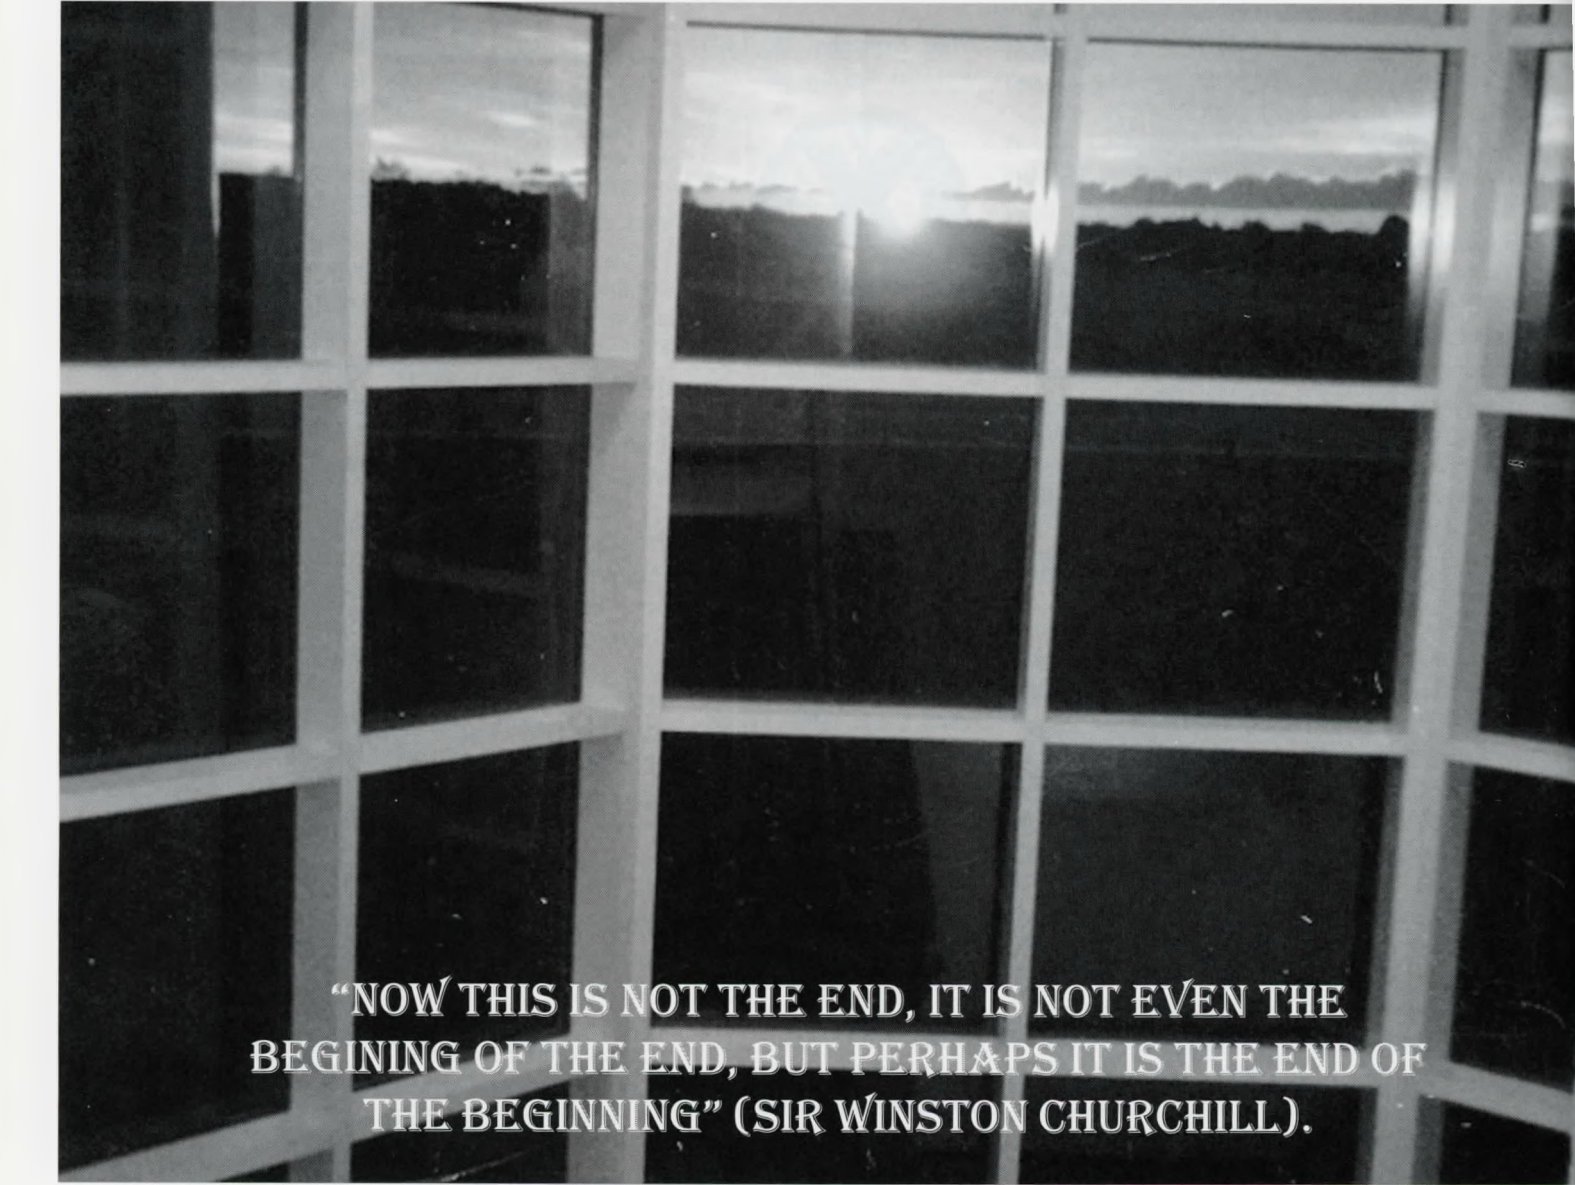

Studios. Pictures were taken digitally and directly sent to the Herff Jones Plant. Team pictures were from Visual Sports Network. All graphics and layouts were created by staff graphics experts. Candid photos were taken by both Prestige and students. There were 45 pages of four-color process.

Subscription sales funded most of the publication cost. Circulation of the 2001 Palladium was 1500 books. The cost per book was $40. Additional monies were the result of business advertising. Ads ranged from $50 to $200.

The views and opinions expressed in the Palladium are not necessarily those of the staff, the adviser, the administration, the faculty of NHS or the Northville School Board. In using responsible journalism, the staff reserves the right not to publish any statement that is libelous, in poor taste, obscene, invasive of privacy, or disruptive to the educational process. The yearbook staff will accept advertising copy and monies from individuals, partnerships, corporations, and all such businesses in Northville, MI and elsewhere. The Palladium staff reserves the right to make decisions regarding any material printed in the yearbook and vows to uphold the Constitution of the United States.

"NOW THIS IS NOT THE END, IT IS NOT EVEN THE BEGINING OF THE END, BUT PERHAPS IT IS THE END OF
THE BEGINNING" (SIR WINSTON CHURCHILL).

As the year came to a conclusion students felt right at home with the end of the year events. Spring Spirit Week ended with a bang as the students danced the night away. The Spring Musical Guys and Dolls drew a huge crowd. For some, sports caught their eye, and for others spring break was all they could see. The announcements took on a new style with student's show casing their talents on TV screens throughout the building. The new view brought inspiration and a few obstacles. Even through all the changes we've endured one thing remains constant, that is that all the students define NHS. No matter where the school building moves, we will always be Northville High School.
