Vol. XXIV, No. 43.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., THURSDAY, JUNE 8, 1893.

$1.00 per year, in advance.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

The Ann Arbor High School Ball Club Coming.

The H. S. ball club of Ann Arbor are coming here Saturday for the purpose of mopping the earth with the Northville N. A. C's. The University City club is a hummer and if the Northville boys keep up their present reputation they will have to hustle. This will be the last game on the Northville grounds until after July 4th, when the Northville's play at Plymouth. Turn out gentlemen with your 15 cents and see the best game of the season. Ladies free.

COMING AMUSEMENTS.

Here Are a Few Dates to Bear in Mind.

There will be a sparring exhibition at the opera house this week Saturday night, June 10.

The grammar rooms of the Northville schools will give an entertainment at the opera house Friday evening, June 16.

Wednesday evening, June 14, Lacy & Altman's comedy company will be seen in "Blunders" at the opera house.

Wednesday evening, June 21, the pupils of the High school below the 12th grade have a prize elocutionary contest at the opera house. There will be about twelve participants.

Thursday evening, June 22, the commencement exercises of the High school will be held in the opera house.

K. P. MEMORIAL DAY.

They Will Appropriately Observe It Next Sunday.

The Northville Knights of Pythias will observe their annual memorial day Sunday, June 11.

At 10 o'clock, a delegation will go to Plymouth, where brief exercises will be held at the graves of brother Knights buried there and tributes of flowers placed above their last resting place.

The Knights will meet at the hall in this village at two o'clock and at three o'clock the lodge, escorted by the Northville corner band, will march to the cemetery where the following exercises will be observed:

Music—Cornet Band.
Introduction—Chancellor Conf.
Prayer—Prelate.
Music—Cornet Band
Address—Chancellor Commander.
Laying of Tributes—Knights Dolph, Johnson, Palmer.
Song—"Nearer My God to Thee."

Sixteen bicycles are now owned in South Lyon as against two last year.

Ill health took hold of the only graduate of the Flat Rock schools, and in place of "commencement" they will have an old-fashioned school picnic this year.

Around the Country.

Perry Green is planting twenty-five acres of potatoes.—Orion Review.

According to best authority there are on an average 437 potato-bugs to every square foot of growing potatoes, and Perry, therefore, can count on the task of capturing dead or alive just 473, 893,060 bugs.

The So. Lyon Excelsior is trying to figure out which is the worse act of the young men of that village, riding bicycles on the side-walks or desecrating the Sabbath. The former is threatened with the marshal's awful dire and the latter with a publication of their names.

A Wayndotte agriculture implement dealer built a machine shed and then set up a binder inside of it. When he started to move the machine, he found the exit too small and a force of workmen were put to work tearing down the building to get the dog-gone thing out. It would never have done to have taken that machine to pieces of course.

South Lyon will now try to get along with only one paper, C. H. Roosbacher of the Excelsior having bought the Picket plant, and the two papers will be combined into one, the Excelsior. It is understood that Mr. Calehan, who has done such good work with the Picket the last year, will be associated with Bro. Roosbacher in the Excelsior office.

Because people generally were unanimous in condemning the lynching of Sullivan at Corunna recently, prominent citizens of the place rise up and say, "it wasn't us," and they want an investigation. Had everyone commended the affair, we presume these same p. c's would have risen up en masse and just as loudly remarked, "we are the people who did the act, gaze on us." Public opinion makes a heap of difference.

Generous Uncle Josh.

A Realistic Romance of Northville in Which a Number of Prominent Business Men Take a Very Conspicuous Part.

"Miss Summers—Polly—I—er—dare I—." But the speaker took a header over bashfulness, only to hear a sweet: "Yes, Charley."

"Can I aspire to—of—to—that is—." Again a lapse into silence, followed by an encouraging: "Yes, Charley."

"Oh, if I might only hope to—er—to—." Another failure of language. It was seemingly a hopeless case, and might have been only for a demure: "Charley, I've said 'yes' twice, and if you mean it, I mean it, too, and—"

And to this day that young man will insist that he popped the question. All this happened away "down east," and it wasn't long before there was a wedding. Not much longer before there came a letter from Polly's Uncle Josh out in Michigan who wrote enthusiastically of his delight at her exhibition of what he called "grit," and he proposed that if the young couple would locate at Northville, he would start them up in life as a wedding gift.

Of course they accepted, and were bidding their friends adieu.

A few weeks subsequent to the above conversations, a travel-stained party arrived at Northville. Our friend, Uncle Josh, was in charge and he led the party straightway to a hotel. The Park House, said he, "is a typical $2.00 per day hotel of the best class. I have known Wm. Thurlie & Co, the proprietors for years, and they are mine hosts after my own heart. Thorough business men, endowed with that delightful intuition that makes a guest feel at home, comfortable, contented and in mighty good luck. The house is a marvel of convenience, the apartments are handsomely furnished; the cuisine all that a superior chef and unlimited offer on the market can make it, and the attendants polite and expert."

"I have already provided you with a cage for your bird," said Uncle Josh. "The first thing we'll look after will be the furnishings for it." Hereupon Polly energetically declared that she had heard so much about Sands & Porter that she desired to go there. The result was that they were ushered into such a bewildering display that the girl was at first at a loss how to select. But she soon yielded to the seductiveness of a magnificent parlor suite, a bedroom set in oak (antique finish) that would have done credit to old Antiquity herself. To this she added a dining-room set with all accessories, a complete kitchen outfit, and didn't forget a most convenient and ornamental writing desk for "Hubby." Charles

"A pretty good start," said the old man, "and now we'll go to Knapp & Yerkes hardware store. Here Polly's housewife instincts had full play in marvels of kitchen apparatus. There is not an establishment in Northville that carries a more comprehensive stock of household furnishings. Every possible piece of kitchen furniture, from a tin dipper to a cooking range and New Process vapor stove is here in all styles and variety. If Polly fails to accomplish wonders in the culinary art it will not be for fault of superior cooking utensils.

At this point, somewhat to the confusion of Charles, the old man indulged in a half-serious criticism of his personal appearance. "You are decidedly off style for a townsman," said he "and we'd better go over to Ed. Riggs." After Charles had fitted himself out in a neat and late style business suit from the piles of fashionable garments that cover the tables of this extensively stocked establishment, Uncle Josh declared that "Now you look like a newly married man."

Before leaving, having found goods and prices irresistible, Charles also invested in a complete outfit of gents' furnishing goods, from the latest style hat to a dozen shirts. This house is not to be undersold in Northville.

At this point Uncle Josh suggested a resort to some place of refreshment. At the refreshment table Uncle Josh waxed philosophically, "Never neglect your larder," said he "that important adjunct of housekeeping, controls masculine temper. To that end you must patronize a grocer on whom you can depend for honest goods. Through a long term of years I have found R. H. Purdy perfectly reliable. You will find him a careful dealer, always full stocked with every possible thing in the line of staple and fancy groceries, fresh and first class—no shelf worn goods there—while the prices are 'd own to brass tacks.'"

While Uncle Josh was pondering where to go next, Polly suddenly asked: "Uncle, where can I find the leading millinery establishment?" "Just a few doors further on," remarked Uncle Josh, "and we will visit Miss Howlett who, by the way has on hand one of the most complete stocks of millinery to be found in the city. You can get what you want there, the latest styles and lowest prices—being her motto. She has the experience which guarantees that when you have purchased of her you have the thing at the lowest possible price." And a few hours later there was crier a happier lady than Polly.

"I declare, Uncle," exclaimed Charles, there goes a handsome phaeton; I must have one like that for the girl." "Get it right here," sententiously said the old man. "My friend, Mr. Hirsch, conducts a carriage repository here that for variety and excellence of stock cannot be beaten. He makes and sells surreys, carriages, buggies and phaetons of all the leading makes and styles, and is satisfied with a moderate profit too and his work cannot be excelled in the state."

"There is another thing I must impress upon your minds, children. I have heard it said that 'newly married folks can live on love and scenery; but an old man like me knows better. Bread is the staff of life and you want to buy good bread—the kind you will get at A. F. Huff's bakery. Their bread, pies, cakes, and nicnacks are conceded to be the finest on earth. We'll just step in and I'll show you what a nice place he has." Before leaving, Uncle Josh treated Polly to a dish of that exquisite ice cream, and Polly exclaimed, "I'll never trade at any other bakery than that one." She then ordered Mr. Huff to send her a quart of ice cream for Sunday dinner, which he delivered early Sunday morning.

"Didn't you promise to get me a piano too?" asked Polly of Uncle Josh. "Well I do believe I did say something about a musical instrument. What kind do you want, my girl?" Polly informed her uncle that she had always had her heart set upon a Fischer, for she knew they were the most substantial and clearest toned piano in the market. "Lucky for you," replied the old man, "Benj. F. Springer makes a specialty of the Fischer," and Polly was soon the possessor of a handsome upright piano.

"Law sakes alive!" Here exclaimed the old man, "if all this tradin' and shoppin' hasn't caused me to almost forget one of the essentials to future existence. We must go down to Yerkes Bros' flour mills and get about two barrels of their famous 'Gold Lace' flour. Remember, Polly, all good housewives use that kind and if you use it I assure you success in bread making. And to you Charles whenever you have wheat to sell or exchange, take it to Yerkes Bros." The best results are obtained from this firm.

"By the way," exclaimed Uncle Josh with a paternal air, "the next thing to look after is the lumber for those improvements which are absolutely necessary. Come with me and I'll introduce you to C. L. Dubuar, who is the principle dealer in that line here. He carries the most complete line of builder's material in the town—everything, from the sills for a foundation to the shingles for the roof, including doors windows and mouldings, etc." It is a pleasure to deal with him for his greatest aim is to give satisfaction to every customer.

"Oh!" exclaimed Polly as she stood before a show window, "what a lovely slipper." "Yes," said Uncle Josh, "Stark Bros' stock cannot be equalled in style and extent in this section, come in and look it over." It might have been Polly not to have extended that invitation, had not Uncle Josh known how wise economy it is to trade at Stark Bros' for Polly found goods and prices so seductive that she purchased an outfit from a satin slipper to a handsome walking boot. Charles invested in a gent's fine shoe, while Uncle Josh indulged in a stout farm boot. No one needing footwear can resist the styles and prices of Stark Bros.

"Charles now proposed a drive out to the farm Uncle Josh had bought them and the party ordered a rig from M. N. Johnson & Co, the leading livery men. "You see," said Uncle Josh "they keep only first class turn-outs and I can always get better service there than at any other stable."

En route to their home the gentlemen called at the Record office. "You'll want the news every week," said Uncle Josh, "and as this is the favorite paper I'll subscribe for it."

Upon re-joining, Polly began to volubly express her thanks. "You have bought us everything," she exclaimed.

"Only one thing," remarked Uncle Josh, reflectively, "but I can remedy that. Sands & Porter always has a nice line of them and you can get one when ever you want it; I'll pay for the best."

"W-h-y," exclaimed Polly with great curiosity, "whatever is it?" "Well, it's a baby wagon, and—"

But Polly had fainted.

HOLDING THE REINS.

The night was clear, the sleighing good. The cutter seat not wide. She struggled close beneath the robe. To her fond lover's side. The horse was spirited and jumped. With frequent tugs and strains. Until she innocently said: "Do let me hold the reins!"

Love in Lodgings.

BY FLORENCE WARDEN.

CHAPTER IX.—CONTINUED. The excitement of the foregoing discussion had done something to dispel the stiff reserve which these two young people had of late maintained toward each other. They both laughed heartily at Temple and his ridiculous love troubles. "So absurd!" said Cameron. "Just because Miss Frere has said 'Good morning' to him on the pier, and let him give her a twopenny program when the band played, he thinks she is dying for him. Why does a fellow think as soon as he goes into the army that every girl is in love with him?"

servant," and took the dish out of his hands. He sprang forward to help Annie as she opened the oven to take out the tart and burned his fingers on the oven-door. But still he repeated, "wringing his hand: "What is it you are going to be?" "A nurse," answered Annie, composedly. "A nurse!" "He repeated the word, surprised, but not exactly displeased. "What hospital are you going to train at?" he asked confidentially, with a rosy look of hope, struggling with some rising jealousy, on his face. "Oh, I'm not going to be a sick-nurse. I couldn't do that. I don't believe I'm strong enough either; and I shouldn't like to break down. I'm going to be a children's nurse."

"She told me. Took my breath away. And yet, when one comes to think of it, we might have guessed. It was having thought of them always as old that put us off the scent. What are you going to do?" With a sudden plunge into abnormal and feverish activity, Cameron was making a hasty toilet. "Going next door." Here he seized his hair-brush. "To see the old lady." Frenzied brushing of the hair: "Apologize—grovel—call ourselves names—especially myself." He flung down the brushes and battled with a new necktie. "And—and—and—if I dare—if she doesn't sit upon me too much—mention, suggest."

JUST HIS LUCK. How a Mining Boss Came Out of Two Hot Scrimmages Outwitted. After nearly a century's sleep some four years ago San Felipe, in the state of Guajarato, Mexico, waked up with a mining boom. The long-abandoned shafts, up whose rough-hewn steps the pon of the alcaldes tolled laboriously, bearing leather bags of ore, were pumped out and equipped with modern machinery, says the St. Louis Republic. Old veins bled wealth anew and even discarded tilings were worked, yielding a heavy percentage of profit. There was a tremendous influx of population. White men and yellow Chinamen thronged into the adobe town and rubbed shoulders with the listless Mexicans, who had been eating their tortillas so many years in peace and quiet, save when a surplus of pulque was let loose and the deadly machetes paved the way for a few extra funerals.

A Matter of Health. IT costs more to make Royal Baking Powder than any other, because its ingredients are more highly refined and expensive. But the Royal is correspondingly purer and higher in leavening strength, and of greater money value to the consumer. The difference in cost of Royal over the best of the others does not equal the difference in leavening strength, nor make good the inferior work of the cheaper powders; nor remove the impurities which such powders leave in the food. Where the finest food is required, the Royal Baking Powder only can be used. Where the question of health is considered, no baking powder but Royal can be used with safety. All others are shown by official analyses to contain lime, ammonia or alum.

LOCAL GLEANINGS.

Things Said and Done in the Prettiest, and Best Village in the World.

Did you notice Roll Purdy's change of ad this week?

The Presbyterian Ladies Aid society meets tomorrow with Mrs. J. O. Knapp.

For the first time in over two years, there isn't an advertised letter in the post office.

Druggist Stevens has opened up his soda water fountain for the season of 1893. We've tried it—it's all right.

The low hanging branches of the trees along the streets are annoying to the passer by. Why not remedy this at once?

The excavation for the new Main street block is about completed and the masons are nearly ready to commence work.

A Columbian social will be held at the residence of Wm. Pinkerton Friday evening, June 16. Ice cream and cake will be served. All are invited.

A spear of California spring wheat, fifty-eight inches long, is on exhibition at C. R. Stevens store. The head alone is over five inches in length.

Lost—Friday evening of last week, between depot and residence, garret, lace pin. Finder will greatly oblige by returning to Miss C. L. DUBUAR.

Northville's bicycle club, if now reorganized, could muster in over fifty members. President Burgess should call a meeting. It is getting time for an outing.

The Prohibition club will hold a business meeting at the W. C. T. U. hall Monday evening, June 12, at 7:30. All members of the club are requested to be present.

W. E. Morrison of Detroit, who bought out Stark Bros' grocery department last week and moved it into C. J. Ball's store, failed to get his money as expected and the boys were obliged to take the stock back again.

Children's day will be fittingly observed at the Methodist church next Sabbath. The special exercises will occur at 10:30. The pulpit topic for the evening will be "The Newly Discovered Gospel of St. Peter."

"Give me four handings" and a discovery exclaimed a person at the post office one day last week and Postmaster Horton smilingly handed him out four two-cent stamps and a one-cent stamp of the Columbian variety.

Some well known Detroit talent will give a sparring exhibition at the opera house Saturday evening of this week. Everything will be done under proper decorum and without vulgarity. The admission will be 25 cents to all parts of the house.

A spontaneous combustion caused a small fire and lots of excitement at Charles Booth's residence yesterday noon. The fire caught in a corner cupboard in the kitchen, but fortunately was quickly discovered and extinguished before doing any great damage. The fire company was promptly on hand.

Again we ask our readers to send in personal items. If you are visiting out of town or some one is visiting you we wish to know it. We want items from everybody, friend or foe, we make no discrimination. Remember our "personal" column is now published in the Sunday morning Detroit Free Press. Come early and often.

Plans are under way to make Sabbath, June 25th, a red letter day in the Methodist church. Rev. J. H. Potts, D. D., the eloquent deaf man, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, will preach at 10:30 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. an antiphonal song service will be held, in which responsive choirs will join. A special invitation to the public far and wide is extended by the church and its pastor.

While riding on North Center street Tuesday evening, Mrs. W. H. Ambler, her sister Miss Brown and daughter-in-law Mrs. M. S. Ambler were thrown from the carriage, by the horse getting frightened at an approaching bicycle, and turning so short as to upset the vehicle. The ladies suffered some severe bruises but fortunately no bones were broken. Prof. Bliss was the rider of the bicycle. He finally collided with the carriage as it was turning around and was hurled headlong into the ditch, surprised but uninjured.

Yerkes Bros. are now offering the highest cash price for wheat. They want 10,000 bushel. Farmers now is your time.

Next Sunday is the communion season at the Presbyterian church.

The Presbyterian ladies are hard at work making quilts for Park college, (M.C.)

That efficient physician and popular gentleman, Dr. Bennett, has been retained at the Wayne asylum for still another year.

Topics next Sabbath at the Presbyterian church are, morning: "The World's Great Thanksgiving." Evening: "The Marriage of Joseph."

A movement is on foot to have July 4th made a Liberty Bell day this year and 12 o'clock noon, Chicago time, on that day have every bell in the United States take up the refrain: A good idea; a patriotic one.

If your garden is nicely planted and arranged to your liking, and then a neighbor's hens get in and arranges things to your disliking, close your mouth and revert back in memory to the most patient man spoken of in biblical history.

Next week Friday night the grand rooms of the Northville schools will give an entertainment at the opera house entitled, Maud Erwin. If we judge by the success of last year it will be a very pleasing affair and worthy of a liberal patronage. A small admission will be charged.

The story of the marriage of Joseph, which Mr. Belding will read Sunday night, he wrote for an Egyptian study circle of which he was president last year. The story is founded upon a tradition which a few years since was translated from the Armeuid; the settings are original and true to historical fact.

Many people have arrived at the conclusion, that the only way to get rid of the dandelion is to attempt to cultivate it. That was the remedy of the late Rev. Henry Ward Beecher for Canada thistles. He said that, if farmers would dig about them the bugs, worms, and other pests would "go" for them, and the crop would be shortened forthwith.

A young ten-year-old boy skipped out of one of the intermediate school rooms Monday afternoon before the teacher could get hold of his coat collar and left ear and after school, so we are informed, he was lying in wait for the lady teacher with a big club and pocket-full of stones, threatening to do her up. A good chance for some one to use a good raw-hide to a commendable advantage.

Roderick C. White of Lansing and Miss Ada M. Brown of this place, were married at the residence of the bride's parent, Mr. Geo. Brown, at 7:15 last evening. Rev. P. Ross Parrish officiating. A perfect day, the presence of a considerable circle of friends and some presents made it a delightful occasion. The happy couple left this morning for their future home, Lansing, with the best wishes of many friends.

Editor Neal and his large family, together with his office force attended church last Sunday. After the service was over, it was observed that there was a "real bad" dollar in the collection basket. Now we don't wish to say positive, or to institute anything mean but—Editor Neal received a "real bad" dollar recently on subscription and—well, how did it get into the church nar?—So, Lyon Pickett. The cruelty of the Pickett's remarks are an hundred-fold greater because of the fact that, that paper was absorbed last week by the Excelsior office and the Pickett, stands no more. We have a chance for neither a libel suit nor to prove our innocence.

The springtime social at the home of Miss Lottie Lake, given last Friday evening by the Presbyterian young people, was a social success; smiles and pleasure were in full blaze. The refreshments were unique and smacked of the vegetable wagon. Large dishes were filled with garden fruit, chief of which were those nearly bulbous roots of the onion genus, tender and fragrant and the blushing pungent cruciferous roots, the biting spicy radish, all served with the staff of life, golden butter and genuine salt. The young people at one time indulged in relating fish stories, in which Charlie Northrop caught the largest laugh. Roy Barrett and Miss Rachel Stevens were voted the most loquacious of the guests. The committee planned well.

If you want Ornamental Painting, graining, or Frescoing executed in an artistic manner, call on Samuel Willson, corner Cady and Center streets. He guarantees satisfaction both as to work and prices.

Yerkes Bros. want all the wheat they can get hold of for which they offer the highest cash price.

Countless items of news are lost to the newspaper by the modesty of people who hesitate to tell a reporter of matters concerning themselves, not because they do not want it to appear in print, but they are afraid some one will think they are pushing themselves forward. Such an idea is wrong.

From a reportorial standpoint the man who stops a newspaper man on the street and kindly informs him that he has been to Chicago, that he is going to get married, or that his wife was entertaining friends from a distance, is the dearest man on this mundane sphere. Would that his like was on the increase throughout this broad land.

THE NEWS OF THE STATE TOLD VERY BRIEFLY.

The Students' Lecture Association of the University in a Serious Row.—Health Boards to Discuss Cholera.

The annual election of the Students' Lecture Association of the University created more interest than ever before in the history of this organization.

The rate laws were about to take things in their own hands, and were conducting Mr. Baird to the chair when President Angell put in his appearance and strongly advised the school to adjourn till they could deal with more cool heads.

The kits of course declare that they will have nothing to do with the "snap" election held by the laws.

Health Boards to Discuss Cholera.

The conference of the health officers of the state is to be held at Ann Arbor, June 15 and 16, under the auspices of the state board for the purpose of discussing Asiatic cholera and its prevention.

As a result she was forced to steal from him. She says she took $11. James is about 60 years of age, while the girl is 18.

CLEVELAND WILL CALL FOR AN EXTRA SESSION.

The Anti-Trust Convention at Chicago—Patriotic Idea for Independence Day—Big Grain Buyers Fall.

An Early Extra Session of Congress.

President Cleveland has made public his intention to call an extra session of Congress not earlier than the 1st nor later than the 15th of September, unless unexpected contingencies should necessitate an earlier meeting.

The President further said: "I think it not amiss that our people should be informed authoritatively that the time is at hand when their representatives in Congress will be called upon to deal with a financial condition which is the only menace to the country's welfare and prosperity. It is well for the people to take up the subject for themselves and to arrive at their own conclusions as to the merits of a financial policy which obliges us to purchase idle silver bullion with gold taken from our reserve. One does not need the eye of a financier to see that this gold thus subtracted from the government's stock, as eagerly seized by other nations for the purpose of strengthening their credit at our expense. It does not need the art of a statesman to detect the danger that awaits upon the continuance of this operation. Already the tenuity of capital is painfully apparent, and none of us can fail to see that fear and apprehension in monetary circles will ultimately bring suffering to every humble home in our land."

Death to All Trusts.

Thirty-four states were represented by able men at the anti-trust convention in Apollo Music hall, Chicago. The convention had been called by Gov. Knute Nelson, of Minnesota, in obedience to a resolution passed by the legislature of his state. The convention was called to order by Gov. Nelson, who in an address in which he gave a history of the anti-trust movement in Minnesota, which had resulted in the call for the convention. Gov. Nelson dissected the Sherman anti-trust law, which he said was but an experiment and one which had resulted in no practical good. The law is weak, he said, because it does not define the crime. "What is needed," said the governor, "is a law which will enumerate the acts of the trusts which are illegal. It ought to prescribe a short and simple form of indictment. The legislatures of the various states must be looked to for relief."

For a Patriotic Fourth of July.

Miss Mary Deane, representing the Daughters of the American Revolution on the Columbian Liberty Bell committee, has addressed a letter from Washington to the managers of the World's Fair, urging that the Fourth of July next shall be made particularly "Liberty Bell Day," the honors being divided between the "old Liberty Bell and the Columbian Liberty Bell that will be rung for the first time that day. She also urges that all patriotic societies shall join that day, each in the different localities throughout the United States, in following: Chicago's example and in having an old-fashioned Fourth of July, calling the event particularly "Liberty Bell's Day." She urges that at the time that the Columbian Liberty Bell shall ring at Chicago that day that the bells all over the land shall take up the refrain from Maine to San Francisco and from Key West to Port Spain. Her thought is that the bells throughout the country shall not ring at 12 noon at the time of day with them, but at the time that it is 12 o'clock noon in Chicago, so that all the bells throughout the land will be ringing at the same moment. She suggests also that Colonel Alexander F. McClure of the Philadelphia Times be invited as a special representative of the press to deliver the oration at Chicago, taking as his subject "The Welcome of the Old Liberty Bell to the New."

Kansas Grain Company Goes Down.

The Kansas Grain Company, which claims to be the greatest buyer of grain from producers in the world, has failed. H. M. Kirkpatrick, secretary and treasurer of the company, notified the secretary of the board that the company was unable to meet its contracts. When the announcement of the suspension was made on the board at Kansas City it caused great excitement. The company has elevators in 100 towns and cities in Kansas, which represent an investment of $150,000. All of these elevators contain more or less grain. The company was incorporated some five years ago with a capital stock of $50,000. The cause of the failure as stated by the officers is a tight money market. Mr. Kirkpatrick says the stringency in money prevented the company from realizing on its warehouse receipts, which were dependent upon to meet maturing obligations. They will probably be able to meet all claims if not pushed too heavily.

Twenty-six Burned to Death.

Eagle Pass, Tex., special: The Fuente coal mines, across the border in Mexico, caught fire in the main entrance, which penetrates the mines, and of 50 men employed in taking out coal only 24 escaped.

The entrance was lined with lumber and the fire spread with wonderful rapidity. But two bodies had been recovered at latest accounts, and these were burned and blackened beyond recognition. The fire was caused by the carelessness of a boy, who allowed the door which covered the entrance to ignite, and then left the mine without informing the men.

Wm. Townsend, the man charged with intent to assault Mr. Gladstone, has been found guilty, but not deemed responsible for his actions. He will be confined in prison until such time as the authorities deem him a safe person to be at large.

An "underground railway" for smuggling Chinese into the United States by way of Canada caused five arrests at Charleston, Lydonville and Johnsbury, Vt. It is thought that the principal conspirators are at Boston and other New England cities and effort is being made to unearth the entire gang.

An Important Insurance Decision—Circuit Courts' Powers Increased.

The supreme court has decided an important point in dismissing the petition of the Imperial Insurance company vs. State Treasurer Hamblitz. The imperial company decided to discontinue business and asked the return of securities held by Treas. Hamblitz, to the value of $100,000, in compliance with the laws governing mutual insurance companies. The treasurer declined to return the fund until all endowment and death claims had been paid as was intended by the law. The court decided that the treasurer should retain the funds until by proper legal proceedings all claims of policy holders are equitably adjusted.

The village of Highland Park, a suburb of Detroit, procured an injunction against the Detroit & Birmingham Bank Road Co., restraining the company from maintaining a toll gate within the village limits. The supreme court dissolved the injunction.

The supreme court adopted the following rule, which will stand as circuit court rule 107:

Circuit courts shall have jurisdiction with their respective counties, in all mandamus proceedings involving the action of any officer or board of any county, township, city or school district or of the common council of any city or village, and the action of any private corporation or officer or board thereof. Said circuit courts shall also have jurisdiction to issue writs of certiorari in all cases where they may now be issued by the supreme court, to probate courts, circuit court commissioners and justices of the peace of any county, but of officers thereof. Writs of certiorari and orders to show cause in cases of mandamus shall be made returnable at the circuit courts shall upon each application direct.

One Dead, Two May Die—Runaway.

As the result of a runaway which occurred at the Main street crossing of the Michigan Central railroad at Lawton Mrs. L. A. Fagan is already dead, while her mother, Mrs. Joseph Ellison and Mrs. Thomas W. Murphy are suffering from injuries from which they are not expected to recover. The ladies were out driving and just before reaching the crossing their horse became unmanageable and ran. In crossing the tracks the buggy was wrecked, and its unfortunate occupants thrown violently out, striking on the rails. All three were rendered unconscious. Mrs. Fagan's head was crushed, and she died shortly afterward. Mrs. Ellison and Mrs. Murphy are both so seriously injured their physician gives little hope of their recovery.

An Aged Millionaire's Romance.

Deion A. Blodgett, of Grand Rapids, has been married in Grace church, New York, to Miss Daisy Peck, whom he met on the Indian river, Florida, last winter while she was acting as cashier in her brother's winter hotel. Mr. Blodgett is 55 years old and his bride is 18. She is described as good looking and talented. They will travel for a year before locating in Grand Rapids. Mr. Blodgett is widely known as a lumberman, philanthropist and disciple of Ingersoll, and in view of his marriage a few weeks ago he divided his estate, valued at five or six millions, into three parts and gave one share each to his son, John W. Blodgett, and his daughter, Mrs. Edward Love, retaining the balance for his own enjoyment.

Prof. Sill of the Normal, Resigns.

Prof. J. M. B. Sill, principal of the Normal school at Ypsilanti, has announced that his resignation is in the hands of the state board of education, to take effect at the close of the present school year. His action is a big surprise to everybody. The resignation seems to be in the nature of a declaration of reappointment. Prof. Sill says he has no complaint to make, and declines to give definite reasons for his action. He has no plans for the future that he cares to announce.

Took Poison and Died in the Street.

Henry T. Shaffer, of Marshall, dropped dead on Howard street, Kalamazoo. His age was about 40 years. The affair presents indications of suicide, a note being found on his person stating that his father lived in Pennsylvania and that he had $100 when he reached Kalamazoo. Only some small change was found on him. The man staggered along before he fell, and there are some symptoms of arsenic poisoning.

A Wealthy Aged Farmer Sutesides.

William Ford, a wealthy farmer living in Henrietta, committed suicide by hanging himself in his barn. He was 65 years of age, and had resided in Henrietta over a quarter of a century. He was partially deranged.

Killed by a Logging Train.

James Shetrow was riding on the pilot of an engine in Wells, Stone & Company's camp near Meredith. A log car came backing down upon the engine, throwing him upon the track and cutting off his leg and arm. He died shortly after.

Mrs. Amada Williams, 60 years of age, of Jackson, purchased a quantity of arsenic and took a good dose to relieve domestic troubles. She will recover.

The remains of Gustave Struensee were found in the canal at Grand Rapids badly decomposed. He had been missing 10 days and when last seen was intoxicated.

By the breaking of a telephone pole on which he was working William E. Delevigne, of Kalamazoo, was thrown to the ground, a distance of 30 feet. His left leg was broken in two places and his face badly cut and bruised.

Governor Rich has appointed John Hennes, of Menominee, a member of the board of inspectors of Marquette prison, to succeed W. F. M. Davis of the same place, who declined to serve on account of pressing business cares.

Mrs. Charles H. Fisher died in a dentist's chair at Lansing while under the influence of chloroform. Dr. Thomas administered the drug, and Dr. R. H. Clark pulled 14 teeth. She was 27 years old and daughter of ex-City Attorney Snow, of Jackson.

Jerry Laughlin and Thomas Kneebone, convicts at the branch state prison at Marquette, scaled the walls and escaped. They were taking in supper, and as all the convicts were at supper, no guards were on the walls. Both were serving sentences for robbery, one for two years, the other for seven, and were about half way through.

TRouble IS THREATENED BY THE ROYALISTS.

Who Take Courage From the Instructions Issued U. S. Minister Blount by Secretary Gresham.

Honolulu letter, via Steamer Australia to San Francisco: The situation here at present is more interesting than for several months and the whole town is agog with excitement over late developments. First came the arrests of Messrs. Bush and Kenyon, editors of native papers, on charges of libeling the provisional government and Minister Stevens. Then a publication of Secretary Gresham's instructions to Commissioner Blount and a warning by the latter to the annexationists that they could not depend upon help from the United States in case the royalists attempted to reinstate their queen; then news of Blount's appointment as United States minister to Hawaii and finally an attempt of the provisional government to silence Charles North, correspondent of the New York Herald, (who was alleged to have made statements derogatory to the government) which were made and Minister Blount's interference in his behalf. All sorts of alarming rumors are afloat and even Minister Blount, who all along has predicted that there will be no trouble, is not now so confident.

Commissioner Blount's instructions from Secretary Gresham were very lengthy. Besides requesting him to investigate affairs of the Hawaiian islands they say: "You are authority in all matters touching the relations of this government to the islands and other government of the island, and protect the rights of citizens in person and in you alone, acting in cooperation with the commander of the naval forces is vested full discretion and power to determine when such forces should be landed or withdrawn. That while the United States claims no right to interfere in internal conflicts, this government will adhere to its consistent and established policy and it will not acquiesce in domestic interference by other powers. At the end of his instructions, Mr. Blount adds the following postscript: "While I shall refrain from interference between conflicting forces of whatever nationality for supremacy, I will protect American citizens not participating in such conflict."

These few lines created great excitement, as they were regarded by all parties as a plain invitation to the royalists to make trouble. The royalists, however, say they are not now prepared to take advantage of Blount's notice, but will await the decision of the United States. If the islands are not annexed as the royalists firmly believe they will not be, then there may be trouble. The provisional government is strengthening its position, and claims to be able to hold together for several years, or until a new administration, if annexation is refused by Mr. Cleveland.

Hawaiian News.

Minister Blount is not desirous of retaining his position and will ask to be relieved as soon as possible. His report of his work as commissioner has been forwarded to Washington. Before ex-Minister Stevens sailed for the United States his friends presented him with a silver service costing $1,000. T. C. Porter has resigned as minister of finance under the provisional government and Vice-President Damon has been appointed to the place and the vice-presidency is vacant. Claus Spreckles, the sugar king, is busily engaged fighting against annexation and he is charged with working in the interests of the sugar trust of the United States.

A Cable to Hawaii.

The report of the survey of a route for a cable between the United States and the Hawaiian Islands has been published by the hydrographic office. The route finally selected as the most feasible is along a line between Monterey Bay, Cal., and Honolulu. It requires a minimum length of cable and passes over an even bottom consisting of soil which is favorable for its protection and preservation. The total length is 2,107 miles. It is estimated that it will cost $1,200 per mile for making and laying the cable.

An Aeronaut's Fate.

While 20,000 people looked on at Buffalo, Aeronaut Purcell Thomas stepped from the pinnacle of the Parade House, 100 feet high, with an ordinary umbrella in his hand and shot like a rock to the stone pavement below. His wife, who was to jump next, stood back in horror at the sight of her husband's mangled body below. Thomas' skull was crushed, his back, legs and arms were broken, and he died as he was being carried to the hospital. His widow is left destitute with four children. Thomas was to get $50 for the feat. The family is said to be from Indianapolis.

Dr. McGlynn Has Sailed for Rome.

Rev. Dr. McGlynn has sailed for Europe to make his long-delayed amends to the pope. His departure was secretly arranged, and word was given out that he had gone to the World's Fair. It has leaked out, however, that his real mission is toward Pope Leo XIII, and that he goes because Monsignor Satolli suggested that the amends to the pope should no longer be deferred.

Excavators at Delphi, Greece, have unearthed a colossal marble statue of Apollo. The statue, which is of the best antique school, is in excellent condition, except that the nose is broken.

The Democratic majority in the lower branch of the Rhode Island assembly unseated two Republicans as soon as they convened. The action was in direct opposition to the supreme court decision.

Robert Moulthrop, a farmer living near Deatur, had a fortunate escape from being burned to death. Moulthrop is a bedridden invalid and was alone in his dwelling when it caught fire. The flames attracted the attention of some men working in an adjoining field, who rushed into the blazing building and rescued the man just as the bed on which he was lying was commencing to burn.

The Huge 20-Ton Solid Find, at the National Had to Be Broken.

The 20-ton mass of solid copper which was discovered at the bottom of the old National mine in the Ontonagon country is now on its way to the smelters in several pieces of varying weights, inasmuch as no hoisting machinery built would take up to the surface from the mine a mass of copper of 20 tons in weight. It required four months or more from the time the mass was first seen to mine away the surrounding rock and chisel the immense block of pure copper into pieces not too large to be hoisted to surface in the "slip." Unlike the ores of all the metals which can be readily drilled the copper deposits of the Lake Superior district contain the native metal and not an ore. In the conglomerate veins of Houghton county the copper is in small pieces, distributed in the proportion of one to eight per cent throughout the rock. In Ontonagon county the copper is found in amygdaloid, the copper in masses weighing but a grain or two to masses of solid copper of monstrous size. The work of removing them is a very tedious one, as the mass cannot be drilled and broken by dynamite, as all other mining is done. It must be cut into sizes suitable for transportation by chisels, and so tough is it that it keeps a blacksmith busy sharpening the tools used by four miners in such a job.

Amick Not in Any Syndicate.

Dr. A. R. Amick, of Cincinnati, the discoverer of the cure for consumption, disclaims any connection with any of the syndicates organized to open markets based on his discovery. He says the physicians in charge can obtain the patent from him just as any doctor can, but he is on record as stating that his treatment will effect a cure in the patient's own home as well as away from it, if under a physician's care. To prove this, Amick sends test medicines to all physicians of good standing without cost.

A Family of Four Murdered.

A neighbor's call upon the family of John Hoey in New Haven, Pa., resulted in the discovery that the entire family—father, mother and two children—had been murdered. From appearances the victims had been dead for some time. There were evidences that the woman had struggled for her life, and her features were painfully distorted and she was wounded in several places. Her body was upon a blood-stained bed. Hoey's body was upon the floor.

Michigan Man Sutesides Near Chicago.

Jacob Fess, a German, who left his address at 1222 Lehigh, Eaton Co., Mich., jumped aboardboard from the Goodrich liner Atlanta in the lake on the way to Chicago and was drowned. His act was plainly premeditated, as he had removed his coat, shoes and hat and laid them in the cabin, together with about $25 in money and a watch.

Hiram Emery, one of the wealthiest timber men of West Bay City is soon to remove to Mobile Bay, Alabama.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

New York, June 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: More discouraging conditions have prevailed during the past week, and those who saw the beginning of a period of recovery in the trade, which the week previous are disappointed. The money markets have been quiet, especially in the interior, and the price of gold and trade are more affected than before. Gold has gone out again in large amounts, exports for the past week being about $3,000,000, and the treasury gold has been drawn down to about $20,000,000. In nearly all departments of trade uncertainty about the future has decreased in degree, which is now clearly perceived in decrease of new business, and while most manufacturing works are not yet in full orders, as these run out the number of works closed increased. Speculative markets have been shifting. Stocks are nearly $2 per share lower than a week ago, and wheat and other commodities are lower and cotton has declined 1/16. With moderate sales, though receipts are small, the market for pig iron, which was weaker, though lead is higher and coal more active. Uncertainty about freights, labor, crops and finances made the iron trade gloomy. The price of trout with the Amalgamated Association sustains the present demand for finished products, and higher freight rates raise prices of pig iron to the advantage of sellers. Structural mills are yet employed, but at prices which return scanty profits. In the shoe trade shipments of gold bars are in men's woollen commission merchants are in trouble with clothiers, who throw back goods ordered, and prices of pig iron and shoes are lower and little is doing in spring goods. Exports of products still fall about last year's rate, but there is a fall in orders without a corresponding fall in production. Foreign account failures during the past week have been 25 in the United States, against 17 last year, and 21 in Canada, against 23 last year.

To Locate Michigan Soldiers' Positions.

Gov. Rich has appointed the following named gentlemen a commission to locate the position of Michigan regiments at Chickamauga: Charles E. Belknap, Grand Rapids; James M. Whelan, Fitchburg; Lucius L. Church, Howard City; Edgar A. Crane, Kalamazoo; Sylvester F. Dwight, Hillsdale.

Justice Field, of the U. S. supreme court, denies his intention to retire. The justice says that while he has contemplated retirement it will not occur so long as he has strength to stand up to the arduous labor imposed upon him.
