PLYMOUTH MEN.

THREE OF THEM JAILED AS RICHARD'S MURDER SUSPECTS.

Failed to Satisfactorily Explain Their Whereabouts That Night.

On Saturday night Marshal Peterson of Ann Arbor arrested Wm. Larkins, Rupert Jones and Ed. Lyon of Plymouth, each suspected of having robbed and murdered James Richards, the Detroit farmer, who met such a tragic death three weeks ago in Superior, Iowa. They are each about 25 years old and are residents of that village. The officers claim to have most evidence against Larkins. The gun which was found in his possession is a 44-caliber. The two bullets found in the door and wall of Richards' cabin were fired from a 44-caliber revolver. His wife also claims that he had a dark lantern, but this he has since disposed of. Larkins' occupation is driving.

None of the accused give accurate account of his whereabouts on the night of the murder. They claim to have been together and started for Northville, from there went to Novi, thence to Farmington, all to have a good time, they say. It was 2:00 o'clock Sunday morning when they returned.

Larkins was married last Thursday to a Miss Smith, who lives on a farm adjoining that of Richards, where Larkins also spent a great deal of his life. His wife told the officers that on Friday, Jan. 29, he shot off his revolver twice. The officers believe that he was then trying the weapon's condition, as that was the day before the murder. Rupert Jones is said to have no real occupation though he was a member of the Plymouth band as well as one of the players in the Northville Opera House orchestra, while Lyon was employed in the Plymouth air gun factory. When required, only a few dollars but nothing of an incriminating nature, were found.

It is said that before he died Richard claimed that Larkins did the shooting, but this is also denied.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 15.—Marshal Peterson and ex-Sheriff Bennett returned from Plymouth and vicinity tonight with some new facts which they claim is quite conclusive, as circumstantial evidence, against the three men. The alibi which they are attempting to establish seems to have fallen through. At Northville, where the suspects claim to have tried to gain admittance to the hotel Earl Birch, the clerk was up until 1 o'clock a. m., but he says they did not stop there. He did not see them. At Novi it was the same. They say they tried to see Proprietor Stanley's hotel, but he was up until midnight, and did not see them. The proprietor of the hotel at Farmington, D. L. Owen, is positive that they were not there. All three after that they were drunk when they started out, but the saloonkeeper at Plymouth says they had nothing to drink there and were perfectly sober, but Jones and Lyon each bought a pint bottle of whiskey, while Larkins did not buy a bottle of gin as he claimed. Neither did they drink anything of the other sort. It is agreed by all that the time when they left was about 1:30 o'clock p. m. They claim that they started for the above named towns because they were drunk.

The hearing was called for yesterday, but was adjourned until March 9.

One of the finest entertainments ever given in Walled Lake was that given by a part of Mr. and Mrs. Bell's election class last Saturday evening and shows what can be done by careful planning. It consisted of recitations, dialogues and drills of a patriotic character interspersed with appropriate music, the participants being clothed in uniforms. The hoop drill in which a score or more of our pretty young ladies—and by the way, Walled Lake can down most small towns on pretty girls—clothed in white with pink sleeves took part, deserves special mention. The lily and flag drills, also "Mother Goose" were without fault. The whole ended with a lively farce with the inimitable Will Parmenter in the role of a colored Union soldier. The hall was crowded full and the entertainment was so well received that by numerous requests it will be repeated next Saturday night.

"IN HIS NAME."

KING'S DAUGHTERS WILL HAVE AN APRON SALE.

Earned Labor of the Society Toward Aiding the Needy.

Northville has no Salvation Army to care for its poor, but an undenominational society of King's Daughters has for the past three years been faithfully performing this and upon other needed work in a quiet and unobtrusive way. Many hungry mouths have been fed, many hearts made glad at Thanksgiving and Christmas time by the receipts of baskets filled by the generosity of those who have to spare, many a poor child's heart made glad by Christmas toys. They are delighted that they may attend our schools and churches. The sick are ministered unto, in fact, we could not enumerate the good and charitable deeds these young ladies are daily performing in our midst.

The readers attention is called to these facts that by or she may better appreciate the opportunity offered of helping and encouraging them on Friday afternoon and evening, Feb. 20, at the Ladies Library when they will hold an apron sale.

There will be aprons large and aprons small, aprons dark and aprons light in fact everything desirable in aprons will be found at this sale. A entry luncheon will be served both afternoon and evening to all assisting in the small sum of ten cents. In the evening a fine musical and literary program by the best home and foreign talent obtainable, including the Plymouth Maudslayi club, will be rendered. ## MONEY WAS GONE.

JOHN QUINN CLAIMS TO HAVE LOST ABOUT $25 AT PLYMOUTH.

Hotel Proprietor and Bar-tender Charged with Keeping Open after Hours.

John Quinn, who works Harley Johnson's farm near here, drove over to Plymouth village the other day with a load of rice, which he sold for $35. Not returning home at night, Mr. Johnson went in search of him the next morning, and found him at the village hotel minus money and slightly bewildered at just what had occurred.

Quinn alleges that at "closing time" that night he was in Adam's saloon, and that when Adam's closed up, he started for John Strong's bar at the hotel with $33 in his pocket. Here, he claims he spent $5 or $6, and when he woke up the next morning, he claims to have had but a little change left. He asked Strong to pay him $25, but Strong claims to know nothing about the affair. Quinn laid his case before prosecuting attorney Fraser, and he ordered Justice Webster of this place to issue a warrant for Mr. Strong and his bartender, Orson Moore, on the charge of keeping open after hours and the case was to come off here Wednesday, but was adjourned until yesterday. When arraigned last week both Strong and Moore pleaded not guilty.

There was adjourned again yesterday for one week.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

'A KING EATING GRASS' SUN-DAYS SUBJECT.

From the Text: "And He Was Driven from Men and Did Eat Grass as Oxen, and His Body Was Wet With Dew from Heaven."—Daniel, 4:33.

BETTER shade your eyes lest they be put out with the splendor of Babylon, as some morning you will see with Nebuchadnezzar on the suspension bridge, which hangs from the eagles, and he shows you the vastness of his realm. As the sun kindles the domes with glistening alms; insufferable, and the great streets, where up their pomp into the ear of the monarch, and around them, stand around, adorned with the spoils of conquered empires, Nebuchadnezzar waves his hand above the stupendous scene and exclaims: "Is not this great Babylon, that I have built for the glory of my power, and for the honor of my majesty?"

But in an instant all that splendor is gone from his vision; for a voice falls from the heaven, saying, "O king, Nebuchadnezzar, to thee it is spoken: The Kingdom is departed from thee, and they shall drive thee from men, and they shall dwell with the beasts of the field; they shall make thee eat grass as oxen, and seven years shall pass over thee, until thou knowest that the Most High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomsoever he will." One hour from the time that he made the boast, he is on the way to the mantic, and rushing into the forests he becomes one of the beasts, covered with eagles' feathers for protection from the cold, and his nails growing to birds' claws in order that he might dig the earth for roots and climb the trees for nuts.

You see there is a great variety in the Scriptural landscape. In several discourses we have looked at mountains of excellence, but now we run down into a great dark chasm of wickedness, as we come to speak of Nebuchadnezzar. God in His Word warns us of the beauty of self-denial, of sobriety, of abstinence, of courage, and then tells us should not thoroughly understand him, be introduced Daniel and Paul, and Deborah, as illustrations of those virtues. God also speaks to us in His Word as to the beauty of pride, of folly, of timidity, and last we should not thoroughly understand him, be introduced Nebuchadnezzar as the illustration of the former of depravity. The former type of character is a healthful, showing in a way into a safe harbor, and the latter type, of character is a black hole, a whirlpool, the rock to show where vessels wreck themselves. Thanks unto God for both the Babylon and the Babel Tower. The story of Nebuchadnezzar in thundering and the tower of Babel, the story of the sacred city is struck into the dust by the hand of Deity's vengeance. The vessels of the temple, which had been consecrated by prayer, were ruthlessly seized, by sacrifice and transportation. Oh, what a sad hour when those Jews, at the command of the invading army, are ordered to leave the home of their nativity; how their hearts must have been aching with anguish when on the day they departed, they heard the trumpets from the top of the Temple announcing the hour for mourning, "Suffering and sorrow, the smoke of the altar ascending around the holy wall of Zion, for even they knew that in a far distant land they would never hear that trumpet call, nor behold the majestic aspect of the sacrifice. Behold those captives on the road from Jerusalem to Babylon! Worn and weary, they did not dare halt, for roundabout are armed men, urging them with hoot and shout, and blasphemy. Aged men tottered along on their staves, weeping; that they could not lay their bones in the sleeping place of their fathers, and children wondered at the length of the way and sobbed themselves to sleep when the night had fallen. It seemed as if at every step a heart broke. But at a turn of the road Babylon suddenly springs upon the view of the captives, with its gardens and palaces. A shout goes up from the army as they behold their native city, but not one voice is heard from the captives. These exiles saw no splendor there; for it was not home. The Euphrates did not have the water-glean of the brook Kedron or the pool of Siloam. The willows of Babylon, on which they hung their untended harps, were not so graceful as the trees which at the foot of Mount Moriah seemed to weep at the departed glory of Judah, and all the fragrance that descended from the hanging gardens upon that great city was not so sweet as one breath of the acacia and frankincense that the high priest kindled in the sanctuary at Jerusalem.

On a certain night, a little while after these captives had been brought to his city, Nebuchadnezzar is scared with a night vision. A had man's pillow is apt to be stuffed with deeds and forebodings which keep talking in the night. He will find that the eagles down in his pillow will stick him like porcupine quills. The ghosts of old transgressions are sure to wander about in the darkness and beckon and hiss. Yet when the morning came he found that the vision had entirely fled from him. Dreams drop no anchors, and therefore are apt to sail away before we can fasten them. Nebuchadnezzar calls all the wise men of the land into his presence, demanding that by their necromancy they explain his dream. They, of course, fail. Then their wretched King, issues an edict with a little sense as mercy, ordering the slaying of all the learned men of the country. But Daniel the prophet comes in with the interpretation just in time to save the wise men and the Jewish captives.

My friends, do you not see that pride and rain ride in the same saddle? See Nebuchadnezzar on the proudest throne of all the earth, and then see him graze with the sheep and the cattle. Pride is commander, well-plumed and caparisoned, but it leads forth a dark and crowning host. The arrows from the Almighty's quiver are apt to strike a man when on the wing. God hath shaken his great spear in defiance, and the smooth stones from the brook have him stagger and fall like an ox under the butcher's blade. He was a "downy" crown, "Vessels scudding under the bare poles do not feel the force of the storm, while those with all sails set capsize at the sudden descent of the tempest.

Remember that we can be as proud of our humility as of anything else. Antisthenes walked the streets of Athens with a rigid look to denote sternness his humility, but Socrates declared he could see the hypocrisy through the holes in his cloak. We would all see ourselves smaller than we are if we were as philosophic as Socrates, the emperor of Rome, who said at the close of his life: "I have been everything, and everything is nothing." And when the end that was to crown his ashes was at his command, brought to him, he said: "I like the man, I like the man, but I like the man that is not as proud of his humility as I am." Do you not learn from the misfortune of the king of Babylon what a terrible thing is the loss of reason. There is no calamity that can possibly befall us in this world so great as derangement of intellect, to have the body of man, and yet to fall even below the instinct of a brute. In this world of horrible sights, the most horrible is the idiot's stare. In this world of horrible sounds, the most horrible is the maniac's laugh. A vessel driven on the rocks, when hundreds go down to rise, and other hundreds drag their wretched and shivering bodies upon the wretches' beach, is nothing compared to the foundering of intellects full of vast hopes and attainments and capacities. Christ's heart went out toward those who were epileptic, falling into the fire of mania cutting themselves among the words. We are accustomed to be more grateful for physical health than for the proper working of our mind. We are apt to take it for granted that the intellect which has served us so well will always be faithful. We forget that an engine of such tremendous power, whose wheels have such business of circle and such surfaces of motion, and the least imprudence might put it out of gear, and only be kept in proper balance by a Divine hand. No human hand could engineer the train of universal intellects. It is a miracle that it is that an intellect, on which so many millions are dependent, and the consequences of a life-time are placed, should not often break down, and that the greatest of judgment, which have been weighing so much and so long, should not lose their equilibrium, and that for the attainment of its proper goal, it should not be hindered by a thousand temptations. Though so delicate, and so intricate, and so difficult, and so high a thing as the most perfect intellect, it is a fact that the mind, which helps so much in the right way, can be deranged by a sudden stroke of the lightning of insanity, and that the mind, which helps so much in the right way, can be deranged by a sudden stroke of the lightning of insanity, and that the mind, which helps so much in the right way, can be deranged by a sudden stroke of the lightning of insanity.

See him in this story of Nebuchadnezzar, the wise God makes of him men. The actions of the wicked are used as instruments for the punishment of wickedness, members or as the illustration of some principle in the Divine government. Nebuchadnezzar suffered both purposes. Even so I will go back with you to the history of every reprobate that the world has ever seen, and I will show you how to a great extent his wickedness was limited in its destructive power, and how God glorified himself in the overthrow and disgrace of his enemy. Babylon is full of abomination, and wicked Cyrus destroys it. Persia fills the city of its iniquity, and vile Alexander puts an end to it. Macedonia must be chastised, and bloody empires does it. The Bastille is to be destroyed, and corrupt Napoleon accomplishes it. Even so selfish and wicked men are often made to accomplish great and glorious purposes. Joseph's brethren were guilty of enervating perfidy and meanness when they sold him into slavery; for about seven dollars. Yet how they must have been overwhelmed with the truth that God never forsakes the righteous when they say that he had become the prime minister of Egypt; Pharaoh opposes the Israelites with the most diabolical cruelty; yet stand still and see the salvation of God. The plagues descend, the locusts, the hail and the destroying angel, showing that there is a God who will defend the cause of his people, and finally, after the Israelites have passed through the parted sea, behold, in the wreck of the drowned army, that God's enemies are chaff in a whirlwind! In some financial panic the righteous suffered with the wicked. Houses and stores and shops in a night founded on the rock of bankruptcy and healthy credit without warning dropped dead in the street, and money ran up the long ladder of twenty-five per cent to laugh down upon those who could not climb after it. Dealers with pockets full of securities stood shooting in the deaf ears of banks. Men rushed down the streets with prostrate faces after them. Those who before found it hard to spend money were left without money to spend. Laborers went home for want of work, to see hunger in their chair at the table and upon the hearth. Winter drew his breath of frost through fingers of icicles, and shepherds with attachments dug among the corners of fallen storehouses, and whole cities joined in the long funeral procession, marching to the grave of dead fortunes and a fallen commerce. Verily, the righteous suffered with the wicked, but generally the wicked had the worst of it. Splendid estates that had come together through schemes of wickedness were dashed to pieces like a potter's vessel, and God wrote with letters of fire, amid the ruin and destruction of reputations and systems, that were thought impregnable, the old-fashioned truth, which centuries ago he wrote in His Bible, "The way of the wicked he turneth upside down." As the stars of heaven are reflected from the waters of the earth, even so God's great and magnificent purposes are reflected back from the boiling sea of human passion and turmoil. As the voice of a sweet song uttered among the mountains may be uttered back from the cavernous home of wild beasts and rocks split and thunder-scared, so the great harmonies of God's providence are rung back from the darkest crypts of this sin-stricken earth. Sennacherib, and Abimelech, and Herod and Judas, and Nero, and Nebuchadnezzar, though they struggled like beasts unbroken to the load, were put into a yoke where they were compelled to help draw ahead God's great projects of mercy.

Again, let us learn the lesson that men can be guilty of polluting the sacred vessels of the temple and carrying them away to Babylon. The sacred vessels in the temple at Jerusalem were the cups and plates of gold and silver with which the rites and ceremonies were celebrated. The laying of heaven's hands upon them and the carrying them off as spoils was an unpardonable offense to the Lord of the temple. Yet Nebuchadnezzar committed this very sacrilege. Though that wicked king is gone, the sins he inaugurated walk up and down the earth, cursing it from century to century. The sin of desecrating sacred things is committed by those who, on sacrificial altars, take the communion cup, while their conversation and actions all show that they live down in Babylon. How solemn is the sacrament! It is a time for tears, a time for repentance, a time for faith. "Sins" stands near, with its silver shrines, and Calvary with its victim, and the Holy Spirit broods over the scene, and the glory of heaven seems to gather in the sanctuary. "The world must that man be who comes in from his idols and is represented foolish to take hold of the golden vessels of the temple. O thou Nebuchadnezzar! Buck with you to Babylon!"

He who breaks the Sabbath, not thoroughly grasping that man robes himself. Inevitably, continuing desecration of the sacred day, ends either in bankruptcy or in a state of insanity. A great man said, "I had not been for the Sabbath, I had not a dollar; I should have been a millionaire long ago." The remark was made in a company of merchants, and one of them said: "That corresponds to the experience of my friend, a great lawyer. He often said, 'The Sabbath is the best day of the week to plan business voyages. He has for years been in business here, and will probably die here.'"

Those who break the Sabbath of Nebuchadnezzar who in any way desecrate the holy Scriptures. There are men who use the Word of God as an instrument of party controversy. Bigotry of heart and greed in the advocacy of their religious partialities; they seek other ways with the fury of a highwayman, thrusting them through and through with what they consider the sword of the Spirit. It is a wonder to me that some men were not made with horns to buck with and hoofs to kick with and with claws to grab with. What Christ said to wash Peter, when he struck off the ear of Malchus, he says to every conversationalist: "Put up again the sword into its place; for all they that take the sword shall perish with the sword."

Rev. William Jay met a countryman who said to him, "I was extremely alarmed this morning, sir. It was very foggy and I was going down to a lonely place, and I thought I saw a strange monster. It seemed in motion, but I could not discern its form. I did not like to turn back, but my heart beat, and the more I looked the more I was afraid. But as I approached, it was a man and who do you think it was?" "I know not." "Oh, it was my brother John." Then Mr. Jay remarked, "It was early in the morning and very foggy; and how often do we thus mistake our Christian brethren."

Just in proportion as men are wrong will they be boisterous in their religious contentions. The lamb of religion is always gentle, while there is no lion so fierce as the roaring lion that goes about seeking whom he may devour. Let Gibraltar betch their war flame on the sea, and the Danubians darken the Hellespont with the smoke of their batteries, but forever and ever let there be good will among those who profess to be the subjects of the Gospel of gentleness. "Glory to God in the highest and on earth peace, good will to men."

What an embarrassing thing to meet in heaven if we have not settled our controversies on earth. So I give out for all people of all religions to sing, John Fawcett's hymn, in short metre, composed in 1772, but just as appropriate for 1897:

Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love,
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above.

From sorrow, toil and pain,
And sin—er shall we free,
And perfect love and friendship reign
Through all eternity.

Nothing but faith in Christ can give a peace that the world cannot take away.

PLANETARY GOSSIP.

WHAT THE STARS SAY OF THE EARTH'S INHABITANTS.

It is a good idea to consult the astrologer when about to enter into matrimony. Answers to Requests—Instructions for Applicants to Go By.

IF PEOPLE should consult an expert astrologer before falling in love, marriages would be more harmonious. The astrologer is often requested to compare the horoscopes of man and wife to find out the cause of the existing inharmoniousness and assist in patching up their differences, etc. He often sees that Saturn in one is afflicting the Venus of the other, denoting that love affairs do not invariably thrive well; yet improvement can be made from a better understanding of each, which can only be determined by the careful comparison of both horoscopes. It would be well to do this previous to marriage. These wishing free character, deliberation, from their zodiacal sign and ruling planet, published under their initials, should send: Sex, date, month, year and place of birth; also the time and year of marriage, if known. Two cent stamps for further instructions. If you prefer the delineation sent by mail send twelve two-cent stamps to cover expenses. Address: Prof. G. W. Cunningham, Dept. 1, 1st St. Clinton St., Chicago.

P. S. Terms: 10.

According to data furnished the zodiacal sign Virgo, which Mercury rules, was rising at your birth, therefore Mercury is your ruling planet or signifier. You are medium height or above, with slender figure; dark complexion; hair and eyes, the eyes have a peculiar brightness and quick restlessness. You are endowed by nature with a kind and obliging disposition, you are kind to animals and humane in all things. You are very industrious and energetic; you make up your mind quick and every move you make is quick. You are too impulsive and you will be a little more conservative if you find it to your advantage. You are rather too modest and do not push yourself forward as you should, consequently you are not appreciated to the extent your ability should command. If you had been born twelve minutes earlier it would have changed these indications very materially, for the sign Leo would have been more or less considered.

Miss M. J. Gesselle, Iowa.

According to data furnished the zodiacal sign Aquarius, which Uranus rules, was rising at your birth, therefore Uranus is your ruling planet or signifier. The sign Pisces, which Jupiter rules, was intercepted at the ascendant. You are naturally the possessor of two kinds of temperaments. At times you are very cheerful, happy, jolly and loyal, then again you will be subject to moods of the blues and find fault with the world. You are a free thinker, and especially fond of a free press; you are quite a leader in anything you only become interested in, if it will be in a very modest way and without boasting. You are fond of water and enjoy a good glass of it at any time in preference to almost any other drink. You are very fond of the mystical and take delight in unraveling a mystery. Marriage is only average fortunate for you, however you will have more than average wealth and will always be provided for.

Mr. H. B. Roloff, Minn.

According to data furnished, the zodiacal sign Gemini, which Mercury rules, was rising at your birth, therefore Mercury is your ruling planet or signifier. You are medium height or above; medium to dark complexion; hair and eyes, the eyes have a peculiar sparkle and sharp sight. You are quick in all your actions and oftentimes change your mind too quick for your own best interests, and it would be better for you to deliberate more on important business matters. You are very fond of books and everything relating to literary attainments, and will always admire a person that has a fine mind. You do not think that wealth is the only thing to live for and will spend a fair portion of your money for books and papers. You will make more money through a salaried position than in any other way. You are somewhat lacking in confidence in your ability and should cultivate self-esteem.

Note.—Those who have sent in their stamps (26 cents) for readings by mail, will usually be promptly answered. In cases where there is an apparent delay the astrologer should be notified at once and the mistake will be rectified.

NEW WORK FOR WOMEN.

Weaving Silks Fabrics with the Hand Loom, Pleasur and Profitable.

An English woman, a Mrs. Bayley, has discovered a new industry for women, or rather, an old one revised, in weaving artistic-patterned silk fabrics by hand. Power looms, she says, are unable to produce these fabrics of the high artistic merit of which the hand loom is capable. For rich silks Mrs. Bayley asserts that the hand weaving is a cheaper and even quicker mode of weaving than power-loom work, and that since country farms over England cannot obtain the requisite number of hands to produce the work that is ordered in consequence of the revived demand for costly silks, she said that hand-loom weaving can be carried on with profit in ladies' own homes. From four to five dollars a week can easily be earned by any woman in this work. Mrs. Bayley says, and that is in England. The same work can be produced in better returns in this country. The suggestion is not made merely for working girls. Mrs. Bayley believes that there is a paying field in the production of high-silk fabrics that is worthy the attention of cultivated women of small means, who would find the work not only lucrative but attractive. In commenting upon Mrs. Bayley's proposition, the Dry Goods Chronicle of this city says: "It is not so many years ago since women, strong, healthy, English, German, and French women, worked hand looms in Fife, Scotland, worked both shaft harness and Jacquard looms; weaving intricate patterns and super-satins, swinging the shuttles by hand and working the harness and Jacquard by foot power. Almost every mill then, of any size boasted of a hand loom department. Hand looms were also to be seen in many of the homes of these foreign weavers. At that time the hand loom weaver looked upon the power loom attendant as little better than a day laborer, or part and parcel of the machine he was attending. It is time that the old hand loom weaver possessed much more knowledge of the intricacies of the Jacquard and loom detail than is known by the power loom weaver to-day, many of whom do not understand the formation of the Dobby chain. The hand loom weaver always declared that he had served his time at weaving and would quilt for a year or two before he was permitted to 'kick a warp' or 'throw a shuttle.' The advent of the power loom signaled the degeneration of the hand loom weaver. Many of the old hand looms have been developed into looms-floors, but the majority are simply 'rinding' the power loom—they don't call it weaving."

WOMAN CIVIL ENGINEER.

Miss Marian S. Parker is in the Van of "New Women."

Miss Marian S. Parker of New York enjoys the unique distinction of being the only practical woman civil engineer in this country. She is a slight, young girl, apparently about 20 years of age, and has a womanly, graceful manner, that makes her very charming. Miss Parker seems quite unacquainted with the fact that her position as the first woman in her profession makes her interesting.

"Really, there isn't anything to tell," she replied to an inquiry. "I made my mind up as a civil engineer, and as for my education, I was the most natural thing in the world, and I just followed my inclinations. I wouldn't do anything else." At first, she continued, "I thought to study architecture, for plans and designs have always had a great attraction for me. Then, as I became more and more interested in mathematics, I realized that branch of science would be more to my liking. Civil engineering was just the thing, so at 15 I began earnest preparation."

Very probably Miss Parker inherits her liking for problems and all such mathematical things from her father, who is a prominent patent lawyer in Detroit, Mich. In the office where she is daily engaged, Miss Parker has her desk, table, and high stool, just as the other assistants do. For the past year and a half she has been employed on the Astor hotel, now in process of construction. She has worked on all parts of the structure detailing and designing and also making the shop drawings at times. These last are the plans for the workmen to follow, and must be absolutely correct, even to the smallest fraction of an inch. These have to be proved and checked, every calculation being gone over the second time by an accurate and careful civil engineer. Miss Parker has sometimes been entrusted with this duty. The work is of a difficult nature, and involves great responsibility on the part of whoever is given it to do. Estimating the amount of material needed is another of the things she is sometimes called upon to calculate.

MISS MARIAN S. PARKER.

As a famous American artist sketching a mosque in Constantinople last summer, an old-Turkish woman came near and squatted down by a scribe to have him read a letter from her son in the United States. As she saw the painter she drew her old mantle about her and scornfully muttered a word resembling "English." The artist told his dragoman to say that he was not English but American. The old woman's face lighted with joy, and creeping near she lifted the skirt of his coat to her lips.

A bulletin of the California Experiment Station gives an account of the seeds and plants available for distribution this year. The variety is striking. The list includes French vines, Persian grapes, Australian seed bush, and Algerian wheat. The possibilities of California soils are attested by what is thus offered, at a slight charge, to those interested in cultivation of various sorts. Bringing the surprise of a traveler from Persia to be offered in far California nineteen varieties of his country's table grapes. But that will be possible after the distribution is made.

A successful test was made last week at Anderson, Ind., of a complicated fence-making machine, for which the patentees, John Shumaker, and son, claim absolutely no credit. They state their bodies and brains simply carried out plans given to them by spirits and that the work as it progressed was directed by the spirits. They have been at work a year, but have a wonderful piece of machinery which will likely revolutionize the manufacture of wire fence because of the rapidity that is possible.

The matter of dividing the township of Northville into two precincts, one to be known as the township of Northville and the other as the township of Northville. This will be a benefit we believe to all concerned. The matter will be fully outlined in next week's Record. Briefly the measure will tend to a more economical manner of running the township, give the county one more supervisor, an extra set of delegates to all conventions and do away with all strife and feeling that has always existed between the two ends of the town.

Village Caucuses.

The village caucuses will necessarily all have to be held next week. The probabilities are the "Workmen's" will be held on Wednesday and the "Citizens" on Friday evening. E. K. Starkweather is chairman of the former committee and J. A. Doupur of the latter.

Saturday Night, February 20, 1897

Ends the Cost Sale. The 43 days to buy goods at actual cost has been appreciated by hundreds of customers, as at this time of the year cash is a little hard to get. Although people's wants are not great, with close times it keeps everybody guessing to know where the least cash would go the farthest, but judging from the number of parcels that have left my store in the past 43 days of my Cost Sale, would convince any man, woman or child that hundreds of my customers guess right.

Saturday Night, February 20th, ends the Cost Sale of 43 Days at T. G.'s.

Commencing Monday morning, February 22nd, I will give my customers a One Week Remnant Sale, as we have sold lots of goods in the above sale and have accumulated numerous Remnants and Short Ends of every description which I shall sell at a closing out price, as I shall be receiving my New Spring Stock. We need every inch of room to display what I think will be the Largest and Finest Line of Spring Goods I have ever shown the people of Northville and vicinity. My Spring Stock will embrace everything new in Wall Paper, Carpets, Clothing, Hats, Caps and Gents' Furnishings, Ladies' Misses' and Children's Shoes and Rubbers, Ladies' and Misses' Spring Capes and Jackets, Dry Goods and Notions. Feel positive that my trade will be delighted with the line I shall show this spring.

P. S.—Many customers are asking for my monthly Price List. Will say that as soon as my Spring Lines are all in I will then issue Monthly Quotations for the benefit of my customers.

Commencing Monday, February 22nd, One Week Sale of Lots and Remnants at prices to close them out. As ever yours

NOVI LOCALS.

Armed. Steve is on the sled. Miss Aggie McOran is still staying in New Hudson.

Mrs. Harry Spencer called on Northville friends Tuesday.

Mrs. E. Hobbs is spending the week with her daughter at Salem.

North Gates is turning out some very handsome rag carpets these days.

Nettie Marshall is doing her term of school and is visiting about town.

And still they continue to spring surprises. This evening there will be one at E. Cogdill's.

Mrs. D. Dunham and Mrs. J. Durham visited Farmington friends last week Friday and Saturday.

Valentines were flying around Novi in great shape Monday. One man was so very thoughtful that he sent his wife two of the pretty variety in one envelope.

Jay Dunham was home Sunday from Saginaw. He had lost his hand as was reported in last week's issue, but he is badly crippled and may yet lose it.

The second of the ENDC socials held last week at Mr. Ingalls' home for the benefit of the needy. The amount of $13. This assures the purchase of the organ which will be made immediately.

The Ladies Aid met with Mrs. Helen Wednesday and elected the following officers for ensuing year: President, Mrs. Hubert; Vice-pres., Mrs. D. Leavenworth; Secretary, Mrs. Sam Spencer; Treasurer, Mrs. F. Blagden.

The W. B. M. circle held a pleasant meeting at Mrs. Gae Tibbitts' last week Thursday. There were thirty-two present and a large amount of sewing was accomplished as well as a lot of visiting. One new member was added to the circle.

The entertainment at the Methodist church Tuesday night was not quite what was expected. Mr. Lovewell could not be present but David Gage gave an interesting talk and Charles Rogers gave two good recitations. Proceeds nearly $5.

The ENDC never possesses their meetings because there happens to be a dance in the neighborhood, so the one need stay away on that account again. Come and exercise your brains first and then if you feel like exercising the other extremity there'll be time enough left.

Mrs. S. J. Egan gave a birthday dinner Saturday in honor of her own and Mrs. J. J. Smith's birthday. Guests invited were Rev. Mr. Mitchell and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle and Mrs. Moore of Waukegan; Mrs. J. J. Smith and daughter, Mrs. Libbie Spencer and son, Mr. and Mrs. F. V.

Spencer, Mrs. E. A. Spencer of Novi. We are informed that the anonymous communication in last week's issue was not written by any authority of the North Novi Debating club, whose officers claim to have no cause for complaint for the misdoings of any one except the donors and the instigation bearing any intimation at fighting is false.

At the joint debate to be held tonight—Friday, February 19th—the question for discussion is: Resolved, that all foreign immigration should be prohibited. Affirmative, ENDC. Negative, W. B. M. The resolutions program will consist of recitations, essays, and music. Each club has one hour for debate. The judges will be chosen at the meeting.

All those who are so desirous of creating a good by reporting a case of sewerage in town are informed that there is nothing of the kind being indulged in so far as Anna Kerley is concerned. It is hoped that by the time the sewerage reaches the money holders here that he will have recovered from the indisposition from which he has been suffering.

Here, Leavenworth, a Novi chap, who went out to chop some wood, instead of letting his sled do it. This is where he intended to go, but he got lost and had to be rescued. He had the sled of the tax was secretary of the interior of the territory in less than a second. Dr. Higgins was called and found the big toe so nearly severed that it was a total loss, and he removed it with such skill and so satisfactorily that Leavenworth has had no occasion to hack the other foot. Adrian Press.

Bert naturally feels rather "cut up" over the untoward affair, and it isn't safe to ask him too many questions just now, but it is safe to assume that he would not want to see the mark in that state again.

Northville young folks go over to Novi, an adjoining precinct, Saturday night, and indulge in dancing, singing, and tobacco quite larger than doughnuts, for Novi's respectable merchants to stumple over, much to the annoyance and disgust of the Northvillers. They will be proper subjects for the ENDC and W. B. M. to consider at a joint meeting. They ought to be augmented with clubs of cow, the young Northvillers.—Adrian Press.

That the "famous willings" should have "rights" brought to bear on them goes without saying, but neither of these mentioned would be willing to discuss such "subjects." However, if the offense is ever repeated, it has been decided to inflict a punishment, beside which a full grown, international, unabridged cyclone would seem a gentle zephyr.—The Press man's vocabulary will be turned loose on them with no reservations, mental or specific.

The beautiful evening and excellent sleighing brought another house full of visitors to the W. B. M. club Saturday night. The miscellaneous program was made so long by the additional and encores that the discussion was omitted. This is a violation of one of the unwritten rules of the society and does not often occur, as the members are aware that they are cheating themselves out of the best part for them, of the meeting. The program for Feb. 20 is as follows:

- Business.
- Instrumental music—Harry Bogart.
- Recitation—Ira West.
- Reading—Mrs. Ruth Madison.
- Impromptu—Jas. Clapp.
- Vocal duet—Mrs. Minnie Dunham, Mrs. Alice Hazen.
- Critic's report—Mrs. Della Harmon.
- Music—N. A. Clapp.
- Music on recitations by visitors.
- Queries.
- Reces.
- Collection of queries.
- Recitation—Blanche Dunham.
- Debate: Resolved, that the United States should recognize the Cubans as belligerents. Affirmative, Gage, N. Hoget, Rogers, Courter. Negative, Clapp, Bogart, J. Clapp.

beautiful supper served. Proceeds $25.16.

The Baptist donation proved to be, as was expected, a very enjoyable affair. The program was a good one! Proceeds $15.

Messrs. John Thayer, A. B. Beach, John E. Richardson and William Thoms were delegates to the county convention at Pontiac last week.

The little baby of Mr. Woodruff, J. C. Woodruff has been very sick with inflammation of the lungs, but is now better. Dr. Holcomb of Southfield is the attending physician.

Don't fail to attend the entertainment "Living Pictures of the Civil War" to be given this Friday and Saturday evenings, Feb. 19 and 20, in the town hall. Admission ten cents.

The G. G. had a most enjoyable time at the home of Mrs. Amy Conroy last week. One of the most attractive features of the day was a short but spicy paper read and edited by Mrs. J. J. Moran.

Mrs. L. B. DuPuis will fill the Methodist pulpit until her husband, Rev. L. B. DuPuis, is able to take the place again. He is now in and out of convalescence under the skillful treatment of Dr. T. H. Turner.

It has been reported that Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Moore may occupy a part of Mrs. Cecilia Murray's home. One would suppose by the remarks that they reside there but they still reside at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Moore on Main street, east.

The funeral services of Mrs. John Arthur were held Saturday from her late residence, Rev. D. M. Ward officiating. Interment in the village cemetery. Deceased lady was born John Arthur and a daughter Mrs. Floyd Laplain to mourn their loss. The company extended sympathy.

The valentine party given Friday evening by Miss Lulu Grace was a unique and pleasant event, about thirty participating. A beautiful feast, followed by the cream, nuts and candy, was served. A room with red decorations was occupied by Miss Jessie Sample who wore a red costume and carried valentines tied with red ribbon which she distributed to the boys. The room with pink decorations was occupied by the hostess, Miss Lulu Grace, who was very prettily attired with pink and carried valentines tied with pink ribbon which were given to the girls. The valentines were correspondingly answered and the boys finding their counterparts noted as their escort for the evening. Everybody had a good time.

The teachers' association meeting Saturday was largely attended and was one of great interest and enjoyment. The program as announced was carried out in a very acceptable manner. The paper entitled "The District School" by Miss Etan Deiling was highly enjoyed and brought forth many excellent points of interest and displayed wonderful talent in one so young, being only seventeen years old. Miss Deiling was a graduate from the Farmington High School in '96 and is now teaching and having excellent success. The papers by Misses Bolstead and Blanchard were also pleasingly rendered. Dr. J. J. Moore gave an interesting address on "Ventilation." He is a pleasing speaker and also master of his profession. His remarks were very instructive. The other members on the program were good and the occasion proved both pleasing and beneficial. This association is the only one that has been kept up in Oakland county which goes to prove with the enthusiastic workers are. May success attend each teacher and scholar represented who are striving to build educational character.
