

THE NORTHVILLE RECORD.

No. 40.

NORTHVILLE, MICH., FRIDAY, MAY 13, 1898.

Vol. XXIX.

IT IS COMING.

The Detroit, Plymouth & Northville Electric Railway

WAS GRANTED A FRANCHISE BY THE VILLAGE OF WAYNE.

Will Be in Operation to Plymouth by September 1st.

Apparently there is but little doubt but what electric cars will be running out of Northville to Detroit via Plymouth and Wayne some time in September next. The village of Wayne granted the new franchise last week and among the stipulations are the following:

The said corporation shall be entitled to charge at the rate of one and one-half (1 1/2) cents per mile, except as hereinafter provided, for the carriage of any single passenger for one continuous trip between any two points on its line between the village of Wayne and the village of Northville; shall charge not more than five cents for any single continuous ride within the Township of Nankin; shall charge not more than fifteen cents for one continuous trip between the village of Wayne and the village of Plymouth, and not more than twenty cents for one continuous trip between the village of Wayne and the village of Northville. Eight school tickets, good within the district, shall be sold for twenty-five cents. All children six (6) years old or under, if accompanied by their parents or guardians, shall be carried free.

The said railway company shall, before September 1, 1898, build and put into operation a line of railway as provided, between the village of Wayne and the village of Plymouth. Cars shall be run each way not less often than one hour apart beginning not later than 6:00 o'clock a. m., continuing at least as late as 8:00 o'clock p. m.

Representatives of the Plymouth village council were present when the Wayne's franchise was granted and they intimated that their village would grant the company a similar ordinance without any difficulty. The township of Northville and Plymouth has granted the company a franchise on condition that the two villages granted one, therefore the road to Northville seems assured and in all probability cars will be running here in time for the Plymouth fair.

The item in last week's Record should have said a former post-office building, instead of a meat market building, that has been fitted up for Dr. Mesher's office. Think your correspondent must have been a little off.

Robert Clark of Milford, formerly of Novi, went to Birmingham last week to purchase lumber for the re-building of their house which was burned two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee West entertained the Argonaut club Thursday night in their usual hospitable manner. A lively discussion of the present war by the club, filled their souls full of patriotism that war-songs were informally sung until a late hour.

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the entertainment at the Baptist church Tuesday evening were given a rare treat. The young impersonator, Frank Russell, showed himself to be possessed of a versatility of talent seldom equaled. His work was a surprise to those who had not been privileged to meet him before, as they had not expected to find such remarkable powers in one so young, and at so early a stage of his career. The young man, scarcely more than a boy, is certainly a genius in his chosen line of work, and has a bright future before him. Novi people have been unusually favored in respect to entertainment of this kind, as they have had the opportunity several times of listening to Herbert

Sprague, who, as was expected, has become famous; and the highest praise they can give the handsome young artist who so delighted them Tuesday evening is to say, as so many have, that he will very soon reach the high standard set by Mr. Sprague. In addition to his wonderful mobility of feature which enables him to assume such a marvelous variety of expressions, Mr. Russell is a fine singer, and above all has that thorough understanding of his own capabilities, which is so necessary in his line of work, to enable him to choose exactly the selections which are best adapted to his special use, though his ability covers a very wide range of interpretation. In his early childhood Mr. Russell's home was in Novi, and his future career will be watched by Novi people with the greatest interest.

Suburban News.

It takes from $6,000 to $9,000 a day to run Camp Eaton.

Spain now occupies something of the position of the suddenly abbreviated party who "didn't know it was loaded."

Rev. Morgan Wood has partly regained the good opinion of Northville people by enlisting, but he will have to make a good record to entirely efface the memory of his dereliction from his engagement here.

According to one of our exchanges Decoration day comes on "Monday May 22nd" this year. What's the matter with observing the 30th as usual? Probably the devil has been putting up a job on the boss by playing off a back number almanac on him.

The Brighton Argus lays the theft of a preacher's flag to "some Spaniard," and the swiping of a clock and a pair of shoes to "some soldiers."

Pretty risky business, you fellows, to chance getting both armies after you. Such reckless bravery makes even the editor of a county paper shudder.

The Times' "school notes" department intimates that the school children are the only ones who demonstrate patriotically in Milford. It seems to be quite a wide spread American idea that noise and patriotism are synonymous, yet after all we don't fail when it comes to business, Dewey?

MAINE MEMORIAL.

Rev. Mr. Ward Delivered a Brilliant Address.

The Maine memorial service in the Methodist church Sunday evening was a grand one. The address by Pastor Ward was one of the very best, most patriotic and inspiring addresses ever heard in the village.

After reviewing the causes of the present war, he paid a glowing tribute to those 264 heroes who, by Spanish treachery, were hurled into eternity, and our magnificent battleship destroyed. Then as a fitting finale Mr. Ward exhibited Spain's flag of oppression; Cuba's of an oppressed people; England's Union Jack representing light, liberty and advancement, and as a climax he unfurled the Stars and Stripes, representing everything that is good and right. The enthusiasm of the audience could no longer be restrained, and clapping of hands went through the church that fairly shook it, as Old Glory entwined itself in graceful folds about the speaker's head and shoulders. The address was a brilliant one and Mr. Ward is being congratulated upon all sides.

Simmons-Singer Wedding.

Wednesday at noon, Mr. Lawrence W. Simmons of our village, was married to Mrs. Jennie L. Singer, at her home, 554 6th street, Detroit. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Herbener in the presence of a number of friends of the bride and groom from Northville and Detroit.

The bride was handsomely attired in a traveling gown of green and carried a large bouquet of bridal roses. After the ceremony the whole bridal party repaired in carriages to the Cadillac Hotel, where a specially prepared repast was served in a private dining room, after which Mr. and Mrs. Simmons bade their guests good-bye and took the 2.20 train for Chicago.

It is their intention to make their future home in Northville, and our citizens will find the bride one to be esteemed to the same degree that Mr. Simmons has always been.

To the Public.

Having purchased the meat-market owned by Jacob Miller, we shall endeavor to keep the same up to its former standard of excellence and shall hope by fair dealing and prompt and courteous treatment, to merit a share of the public patronage.

The Delray and Springwells Times gives Island Lake visitors a pointer on wearing white Fedoras at the camp. The "ice cream" style of head-gear doesn't take there, and so excites the tastes of the soldiers that they make the wearer's life a burden as long as he stays. Some of the visitors last Sunday traded off their nice hats for old caps, the Times representative observed, to escape the persecution incident to the wearing of them.

A fad of some of the Plymouth boys at present is to scare nervous citizens out of their wits with "tick tacks," an arrangement of waxed thread which, when attached to a window is invisible in the dark, and is capable, under proper manipulation, of emitting unearthly squeals which can throw the average youngster into spasms of delight and timid people into spasms of another sort. A counter-fraud which might be called a slap bang is in store for the offenders if caught, which will make them wish they were on some other tack.

The fellows that are "withholding" are mostly the lucky buyers who didn't have to sell too soon. HOW IT SPREADS.

People all over Michigan talking about it. How it spreads. Can't keep a "good thing" down. Ever notice how "good things" are limited? Letter the article, more imitators. Fortunately the public has a safeguard. Praise can't be limited. And true praise takes root and spreads. Claim is one thing, proof is another. Claim is what the manufacturer says. Proof is what the people say. Everywhere in Michigan people say Dean's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys. Care all kidney pills. W. S. Kilmer, Passenger Engineer, on the M. C. Ry., residing at 214 Orange street, Jackson, Mich., says: "In 1895 I had considerable trouble with my kidneys from the result of a severe cold which settled there and though I tried every means at hand and treated with doctors the pains through the small of my back became more persistent and severe. To add to my troubles the kidney secretions were unnatural and irregular. At last I was obliged to lay off work. When at home getting no better under the treatment I was then taking, some one advised me to use Dean's Kidney Pills and I procured a box more out of curiosity than from any expectation that they might help me. Now, I want this thoroughly understood, when I finished the box I went back to work without a pain or an ache. But to make matters doubly certain I took a second box. Since that time and that is, three years ago, I have neither had an ache nor a pain. Is it any wonder that at this date, 1898, I recommend Dean's Kidney Pills. Dean's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Dean's and take no substitute.

War with Spain. As war with Spain has broken out the officials seem to think that all that will be needed is warships, torpedoes and other instruments of destruction. But really what will be needed more than anything else is a good supply of "5 DROPS" (manufactured by the Swanson Rheumatic Cure Co., 367 Dearborn street, Chicago, Ill.), to knock out the rheumatism which is sure to grip our soldiers and sailors in the miasmatic climate of Cuba and the surrounding islands, where the war will be waged. The truth is that something to be feared, cure is precisely what is needed right now in the desolated "Queen of the Antilles." These 20,000 reconcentrados reported sick and dying by hundreds need provisions. It is true, but they need good medicines fully as much. If Miss Barton, the good lady who has charge of the Red-Cross relief work, was supplied with "5 DROPS" she could, by their agency, save many a sick Cuban. These miraculous "5 DROPS" conquer many of the worst diseases that afflict ailing humanity, such as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, the excruciating Sciatica and the other diseases for which it is recommended. The War Department should see that there is an abundant supply of "5 DROPS" in the medicine chests.

A GREENFUL WOMAN. From 'The Democrat', Brazil, Indiana. Every woman cannot be beautiful, but a cheerful face often supplies the deficiency. But no one can be cheerful and bring joy to others unless they have perfect health. Fortunately, since I have placed this precious boon within the reach of every woman as the following incident proves: Mrs. Adianta Robinson, wife of William Robinson, farmer and stockman, near Howesville, Clay County, Ind., is thirty-two years old and has for several years been in declining health and despondent. For three months she was not only unable to attend to her domestic duties but too feeble to be up and about. To-day she is in good health and able to attend to her household affairs. She relates her experience as follows: "I was afflicted with female troubles and was in a delicate state of health. I lost my appetite, grew thin and was greatly depressed. After taking various remedies without being benefited, I was induced by a friend to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. "Early in the summer of 1897 I procured a box of them and, before flushing the second box I began to improve and by the time I had taken the five boxes I was able to go about my usual work and stopped taking the pills. "My daughter Anne, twelve years old, was also afflicted with decline and debility. She lost flesh, seemed to be bloodless and had no ambition. She took two boxes of the pills and they restored her appetite, aided digestion and brought color to her cheeks. "I now have the best of health. I thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People the best medicine we ever had in our family and recommend them to all needing a remedy for toning up and rebuilding a shattered system. "No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They restore strength and health to exhausted women when every effort of the physician proves unavailing. These vegetable pills are especially recommended as a specific for diseases of the blood and nerves."

TALMAGES SERMON.

THE "SHEIK'S DAUGHTER" SUNDAY'S SUBJECT.

From the Text: Exodus 3:1, as follows: "Now Moses kept the flock of Jethro, his father-in-law, the priest of Midian."

In the southeastern part of Arabia a man is sitting by a well. It is an arid country, and water is scarce, so that a well is of great value, and flocks and herds are driven vast distances to have their thirst slaked. Jethro, a Midianite sheik and priest, was so fortunate as to have seven daughters; and they are practical girls, and yonder they come driving the sheep and cattle and camels of their father to the watering. They lower the buckets and then pull them up, the water splashing on the stones and chilling their feet, and the troughs are filled. Who is that man out there sitting unconcerned and looking on? Why does he not come to help the women in this hard work of drawing water? But no sooner have the dry lips and panting nostrils of the flocks begun to cool a little in the brimming trough of the well, than some rough Bedouin shepherds break in upon the scene, and with clubs and shouts drive back the animals that were drinking, and frighten these girls until they fly in retreat, and the flocks of these ill-mannered shepherds are driven to the troughs, taking the places of the other flocks. Now that man sitting by the well begins to color up, and his eye flashes with indignation, and all the gallantry of his nature is aroused. It is Moses, who naturally had a quick temper anyhow, as he demonstrated on one occasion when he saw an Egyptian oppressing an Israelite and gave the Egyptian a sudden clip and buried him in the sand, and as he showed afterward when he broke all the Ten Commandments at once by shattering the two granite slabs on which the law was written. But the injustice of this treatment of the seven girls sets him on fire with wrath, and he takes this shepherd by the throat, and pushes back another shepherd (ill he falls over the trough, and aims a stunning blow between the eyes of another, as he cries, "Begone, you villain!" and he hoots and roars at the sheep and cattle and camels of these invaders, and drives them back, and having cleared the place of the desperadoes, he told the seven girls of this Midianite sheik to gather their flocks together and bring them again to the watering.

O, you ought to see a fight between the shepherds at a well in the Orient as I saw it in December, 1899. There were here a group of rough men who had driven the cattle many miles, and here another group who had driven their cattle as many miles. Who should have precedence? Such clashing of buckets! Such hooting of horns! Such kicking of hoofs! Such vehemence in a language I fortunately could not understand! Now the sheep with a peculiar mark across their woolly backs were at the trough, and now the sheep of another mark. It was one of the most exciting scenes I ever witnessed.

An old book describes one of these contentions at an eastern well when it says: "One day the poor men, the widows and the orphans met together and were driving their camels and their flocks to drink, and were all standing by the water-side. Dajj came up and stopped them all, and took possession of the water for his master's cattle. Just then an old woman belonging to the tribe of Aba came up and accosted him in a suppliant manner saying, 'Be so good, Master Dajj, as to let my cattle drink. They are all the property I possess and I live by their milk. Pity my flock, have compassion on me. Grant my request and let them drink.' Then came another old woman and addressed him: 'Oh, Master Dajj, I am a poor, weak old woman as you see. Time has dealt hardly with me. It has aimed its arrows at me, and its daily and nightly calamities have destroyed all my men. I have lost my children and my husband, and since then I have been in great distress. These sheep are all that I possess. Let them drink for I live on the milk that they produce. Pity my forlorn state. I have no one to tend them. Therefore grant my supplication' and of thy kindness let them drink.' But in this case the brutal slave, so far from granting this humble request, smote the woman to the ground."

A like scrimmage has taken place at the well in the triangle of Arabia between the Bedouin shepherds and Moses, championing the cause of the seven daughters who had driven their father's flocks to the watering. One of these girls, Zipporah, her name meaning, "little bird," was fascinated by this heroic behavior of Moses, for however timid woman herself may be she always admires courage in a man. Zipporah became the bride of Moses one of the mightiest men of all the centuries. Zipporah little thought that that morning as she helped drive her father's flocks to the well, she was splendidly deciding her own destiny. Had she stayed in the tent or house while the other six daughters of the sheik tended to their herds, her life would probably have been a tame and uneventful life in the solitude; but her industry, her fidelity to her father's interest, her spirit of helpfulness brought her into league with one of the grandest characters of all history. They met at that famous well, and while she admired the courage of Moses he admired the filial behavior of Zipporah.

The fact that it took the seven daughters to drive the flocks to the well implies that they were immense flocks, and that her father was a man of wealth. What was the use of Zipporah's demeaning herself with work when she might have reclined on the hillside near her father's tent, and plucked buttercups and dreamed out romances, and sighed idly to the winds, and wept over imaginary songs to the brooks. No, she knew that work was honorable, and that every girl ought to have something to do, and so she starts with the bleating and lowing and bellowing and neighing droves to the well for the watering.

Around every home there are flocks and droves of cares and anxieties, and every daughter of the family, though there be seven, ought to be doing her part to take care of the flocks. In many households, not only is Zipporah, but all her sisters, without practical and useful employments. Many of them are waiting for fortunate and prosperous matrimonial alliance, but some, loonier like themselves will come along, and after counting the large number of father Jethro's sheep and camels will make proposal that will be accepted, and neither of them having done anything more practical than to chew chocolate caramels, the two rothings will start on the road of life together, every step more and more a failure. That daughter of the Midianite sheik will never find her Moses. Girls of America! imitate Zipporah. Do something practical. Do something helpful. Do something well. Many have fathers with great flocks of absorbing duties, and such a father needs help in home, or office, or field. Go out and help him with the flocks. The reason that so many men now condemn themselves to unaffiliated and solitary life is because they cannot support the modern young woman, who rises at half-past ten in the morning and retires after midnight, one of the trashiest novels in her hands most of the time between the late rising and the late retiring—a thousand of them not worth one Zipporah.

There is a question that every father and mother ought to ask the daughter at breakfast or tea table, and that all the daughters of the wealthy sheik ought to ask each other: "What would you do if the family fortune should fall in sickness should prostrate the breadwinner, if the flocks of Jethro should be destroyed by a sudden excursion of wolves and bears and hyenas from the mountain? What would you do for a living? Can you support yourself? Can you take care of an invalid mother or brother or sister as well as yourself? Yea, bring it down to what any day might come to a prosperous family, 'Can you cook a dinner if the servants should make a strike for higher wages and leave that morning?' Every minute of every hour of every day of every year there are families, sprung from prosperity into hardship, and alas! it is such exigency the seven daughters of Jethro can do nothing but sit around and cry and wait for some one to come and hunt them up a situation for which they have no qualification. Get at something useful, get at it right away! Do not say: 'If I were thrown upon my own resources I would become a music teacher.' There are now more music teachers than could be supported if they were all Mozarts and Wagners and Handels. Do not say: 'I will go to embroidering slippers.' There are more slippers now than there are feet.

Our friend and Washington townsman, W. W. Corcoran, did a magnificent thing when he built and endowed the "Louise Home" for the support of the unfortunate aristocracy of the south—the people who once had everything but have come to nothing. We want another W. W. Corcoran to build a "Louise Home" for the unfortunate aristocracy of the north. But institutions like that in every city of the land could not take care of one-half the unfortunate aristocracy of the north and south, whose large fortunes have failed, and who, through lack of acquaintance with any style of work, cannot now earn their own bread.

There needs to be peaceful, yet radical revolution among most of the prosperous homes of America, by which the elegant do-nothings may be transformed into practical do-somethings. Let useless women go to work and gather the flocks. Come, Zipporah, let me introduce you to Moses! But you do not mean that this man affianced to this country girl was the great Moses of history, do you? You do not mean that he was the man who afterward wrought such wonders? Surely, you do not mean the man whose staff dropped, wriggled into a serpent, and then, clutched, stiffened again into a staff? You do not mean the challenger of Egyptian thrones and palaces? You do not mean him who struck the rock so hard it wept in a stream for thirty hosts? Surely, you do not mean the man who stood alone with God on the quaking Sinai ranges; not him to whom the Red Sea was surrendered? Yes, the same Moses defending the seven daughters of the Midianite sheik; who afterward rescued a nation.

See also in this call of Moses that God has a great memory. Four hundred years before he had promised the deliverance of the oppressed Israelites of Egypt. The clock of time has struck the hour, and now Moses is called to the work of rescue. Four hundred years is a very long time, but you see God can remember a promise four hundred years as well as you can remember four hundred minutes. Four hundred years includes all your ancestry that you know anything about and all the promises made to them, and we may expect fulfillment in our heart and life of all the blessings predicted to our Christian ancestry centuries ago. You have a dim remembrance, if any remembrance at all, of your great grandfather, but God sees those who were on their knees in 1508 as well as those on their knees in 1898, and the blessings he promised the former and their descendants have arrived or will arrive. While they are not hereditary, it is a grand thing to have had a pious ancestry. So God in this chapter calls up the pedigree of the people whom Moses was to deliver, and Moses is ordered to say to them, "The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath sent me unto you." It that thought be divinely accurate, let me ask, what are we doing by prayer and by a holy life for the redemption of the next four hundred years? Our work is not only with the people of the latter part of the nineteenth century, but with those in the closing of the twentieth century, and the closing of the twenty-second century, and the closing of the twenty-third century. For four hundred years, if the world continues to swing until that time or if it drops, then no, notwithstanding the influence will go on in other latitudes and longitudes of God's universe.

Still further, watch this spectacle of genuine courage. No wonder when Moses scattered the rude shepherds, he won Zipporah's heart. What mattered it to Moses whether the cattle of the seven daughters of Jethro were driven from the troughs by the rude herdsmen? Sense of justice bred his courage, and the word wants more of the spirit that will dare almost anything to see others righted. All the time at wells of comfort, at wells of joy, at wells of religion, and at wells of literature there are outrages practiced, the wrong herds getting the first water. Those who have the previous right, come in last, if they come in at all. Thank God we have here and there a strong man to set things right! I am so glad that when God has an especial work to do, he has some one ready to accomplish it. Is there a Bible to translate, there is a Wickliff to translate it; if there is a literature to be energized, there is a Shakespeare to energize it; if there is an error to smite, there is a Luther to smite it; if there is to be a nation freed, there is a Moses to free it. But courage is needed in religion, in literature, in statesmanship, in all spheres; heroics to defend Jethro's seven daughters and their flocks and put to flight the insolent invaders. And those who do the brave work will win somewhere high reward. The loudest cheer of heaven is to be given "to him that overcometh."

Oh, what a fascinating and inspiring character this Moses! How tame all other stories compared with the biography of Moses! From the latices of her bathing house on the Nile, the music, daughter of Pharaoh, sees him in the floating cradle of papyrus leaves made water tight by bladders; his infantile cry is heard among the marble palaces and princesses hush hush with their lullabies; workmen by the roadside drop their work to look on him when as a boy he passed, so beautiful was he; two bowls put before his infant eyes for choice to demonstrate his wisdom, the one bowl containing rubies and the other containing coals of fire. Sufficiently wise was he to take the gems, but divinely directed, he took the coals and put them to his mouth, and his tongue was burnt, and he was left a stammerer all his days, so that he declared, in Exod. 4:10, "I am slow of speech and of slow tongue;" and on and on until he set firm foot among the crumpling basalt, and his ear was not deafened by the thunderous "you shall not" of Mount Sinai; the man who went to the relief of the Isaelites who were scourged like a sea without chopped straw they were required to make firm bricks, the story of their oppression found chiseled on the tomb of Rochere at Thebes; and when his armies were impeded by venomous serpents, sent crates of asses, the snake destroying birds, to clear the way so that his host could march straight ahead, thus surprising the enemy, who thought they must take another route to avoid the reptiles; the whole sky an aquarium to drop quails for him and the hosts following; the only man in all ages whom Christ likens to himself; the man of whom it is written, "Jehovah spoke unto Moses face to face as a man speaketh to his friend," the man who had the most wonderful face of all time, the Lord coming down out of heaven to bury him. No human lips to read the service. No choir to chant a Psalm. No organ to roll a requiem. No angel alighting upon the scene; but God laying him out for the last sleep; God upturning the earth to receive the saint; God's smoothings or banking the dust above the sacred form; God, with a eulogy and benediction, closing the sublime obsequies of law-giver, poet and warrior: "And no man knoweth of his sepulchre unto this day." Get your eye on him, instead of trying to imitate some smaller example.

A great snow storm came on a prairie in Minnesota, and a farmer in a sleigh was lost, and after a while struck the track of another sleigh, and felt cheered to go on, since he had found the track of another traveler. He heard sleigh bells preceding him, and hastened on and on and caught up with his predecessor, who said: "Where are you going?" "I am following you," was the answer that came back. The fact is that they were both lost, and had gone round and round in a circle. Then they talked the matter over, and looking up, saw the north star, and toward the north was their home, and they started straight for it. Oh, instead of imitating men like ourselves, and circling round and round, let us look up and take some starry guide like Moses, and follow on until we join him amid the "delectable mountains." You say you can not reach his character. Oh, no. Neither can you reach the north star, but you can be guided by its heavenly pointing.

Disinfectants and perfumes can be diffused by a newly-patented night light consisting of a candle around which is wound an absorbent casing which carries the perfume and vaporizes slowly as the candle burns downward.

TOO MUCH SCIENCE.

THE LATTER DAY IDEAS OF INFALLIBILITY.

How Old Reuben Proves It—Facts Are Noted. Than All the Newfangled Notions—Krazz!—Several Convincing Proofs Are Cited.

"Good morning, Reuben." "Mornin'." The old man shook himself out of the corner of the car into which he was snugly huddled when the other shot through the door as the motorman threw on half the power in a chunk, says the Pittsburg News. "Nice weather, after all, isn't it?" "Yes, purty good. Jist about soft'nough."

"Doing any blowing yet?" "Little. Worked some of the sloping ground last week and think I'll do some of the high places this week if it don't rain no more."

"Groundhog had to take it all back, didn't he?" Reuben looks out of the window without answering. The other repeats the question in another form and Reuben says slowly:

"I don't know about that. The way the weather's been I don't believe he seen his shadow."

"Well, he could have seen it and it amounts to the same as if he had. You know so long's there is a equint of sunlight he's bound to see his shadow."

"But s'posin' he don't see the sun, then what?" "That's his mistake. He ought to see it if it's out."

"Well, I tell you, if it was out he'd see it and this weather shows he didn't. Can't tell me nothin' like that."

"Seems to have made a mistake this time, anyway."

"Don't believe it. There's too much of this skeptic business, anyway. Half the people don't believe nuthin' now. Mighty Samson! Some people'll tell you that if a rooster crows in front of your door there won't be no strangers come that day. And they'll tell you that if your foot itches in the sole with your boots on, you won't walk on strange ground. Roarin', Cain! I'm glad I hold to my faith as well's I do!"

"Well, you know people are more exact now than when we were young. There is no doubt less faith and more science than there was then and that makes a diff'ence."

"Sci—pooh! Great balls of soap! What does science do when she goes agin' the facts, hey? That's what I want to know."

"Facts always agree with science—or science always agrees with facts, I believe is right because—"

"That's what I want to know. Now, here, when Ewas about this big, back in Berks county, they was a woman who had a baby that was born to be drowned a certain day; its time was to come then. The woman she naturally don't want the baby to drown and what does she do? She takes the baby along for her when she goes out in the field and takes it 'way up on a high hill. She was bound to save the child if it could be done. No water within miles of the place. So she takes the baby and puts it on a lot of leaves she gathered up, a regular bed of 'em, and goes on about her work. During the day she comes back now and agin to see if it's all right. Well, sir, the last time she come what do you s'pose? There was the baby layin'—drowned dead. What's your science got to say about things like that, hey? Spring of water just riz up outen the ground and drowned the baby. Science? Git out! That's genuine, that is. I tell you, sir, it's too much science that's hurtin' us—that's what it is."

Interesting Facts About Perspiration. Some interesting investigations have been made in the matter of perspiration, and the following conclusions have been arrived at: The perspiration is more concentrated on the right side of the body; it would, by the way, be interesting to know whether the opposite was the case in the left-handed. The palm of the hand sweats four times more than the sign of the chest, and the cheeks one and one-half times as much. There is a slow increase in the sweat in the afternoon, especially noticeable from eight to twelve o'clock at night. After midnight there is a diminution. Feeding has but little influence on this function. Elevation of the surrounding temperature increases the perspiration.

Lord Bute's Wealth. The Marquis of Bute is possibly more than any British peer the architect of his own fortune. It is estimated that his fortune, if converted into gold, would represent the weight of at least 80 tons of bulion, and would require for its transport the utmost strength of 50 teams of horses. His income may safely be estimated at $2,000 a day. Add to this 16 titles, besides dignities innumerable and five lordly houses, and it will readily be acknowledged that the Marquis has reason to think himself among the blessed of the earth. Cardiff has been to Lord Bute the source from which lucky millions have flowed.

Elephant Executioner from India. Mr. Hagenbeck of Hamburg, the eminent importer of wild animals, has just bought a very remarkable elephant, aged eighty. This animal is asserted to have long performed the part of an executioner. In the district of India where it kills the people are prohibited by their religion from putting a criminal to death, and therefore, it is arranged that the criminal to be executed places his head beneath a stone, on which the elephant treads. This venerable executioner is going to Berlin.

DR. AYER'S Sarsaparilla. is the name to remember when buying Sarsaparilla. Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been curing people right along for nearly 50 years. That is why it is acknowledged to be the sovereign Sarsaparilla. It is the original and the standard. The record of the remedy is without a rival,—a record that is written in the blood of thousands, purified by its power. "I was a lady who was suffering from blood poisoning and must have contracted this disease from her; for I had four large sores, or ulcers, break out on my person. I doctors for a long time, both by external application and with various blood medicines; but in spite of all that I could do, the sores would not heal. At last I purchased six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, thinking I would give it a thorough trial. Before the six bottles had been taken, the ulcers were healed, the skin sound and natural, and my health better than it had been for years. I have been well ever since. I had rather have one bottle of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind."—Mrs. A. F. TAYLOR, Englewood, N. Dak. Get Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Philip Doelle, on Tuesday, received a draft for $1,000 from the Security Trust and Life Insurance Co. of Philadelphia at the hands of R. H. Beal, State agent, in settlement of her claim under a policy issued to her husband. The claim was paid before the expiration of the time allowed by the policy, which is very commendable. This company follows a plan which is different from others, in rating every case according to individual merits, by which Mr. Doelle was able to obtain insurance which in all probability he could not have secured elsewhere.

Will Johnson's hired girl and daughter in a buggy yesterday morning in attempting to drive by Harley Johnson while coming into town ran over Art Brook's little daughter Bessie who was going slowly along the right-hand side of South Center street on her bicycle in an opposite direction. The accident looks like a piece of pure carelessness on the part of the occupants of the buggy as they turned out on the left side of the road to run by Harley who was driving along in the same direction, and Bessie was clear over on the right side of the road. The little girl was unconscious when picked up and it is not known yet how serious the accident may prove. The occupants of the Johnson rig did not stop to see the result of the accident.

The Surprise of All.
 Ma James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cow-lee, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discovery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with La Grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowdoo and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into Hasty Consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and seeing loss of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at George C. Hueston's Drug Store.

Ed. Fields was the cause of considerable excitement in the opera-house during Saturday night's performance. He persisted in annoying and loud talk, and when the marshal requested him to be quiet he got very important and saucily declined to do anything except as he pleased. When Marshal Macomber talks, he means business, and Fields kept on his "monkey" work until the marshal yanked him down the two flights of stairs out of the hall. Any noise in the gallery sounds to the people below like a "thousand of brick" and for a few moments the audience thought the building was coming down, and a scramble was made for the doors by some of the more nervous people. Fields had to be hand-cuffed and led to the entrance of the jail before he realized, "where he was at" and then he "begged like a trooper" to be let off. The marshal finally released him on his promise to behave himself and he went on home. It is safe to say that the young man will not be let off so easily next time.

Michigan National Guard Officers Find Physical Examinations Very Severe—New Officers for the First Regiment—Eight New Companies Ordered.

Many M. N. G. Officers Fail to Pass.

The physical examination of officers and sergeants of the Michigan National Guard at Camp Eaton is very severe and many fail to pass. The first to be examined were the sergeants of the regiments, as it was desired that they should assist in the examination of the men. Of the 19 sergeants six passed and four were rejected for physical disability. The latter are McNaughton, of the Fifth; Maj. Harvey, of the Fourth; Maj. Hume, of the Third; and Capt. Bailey, of the Third. Maj. McNaughton is a magnificent specimen of physical manhood, and an excellent athlete, but Examining Surgeon Monday would not pass him, on account of his heart. Maj. Harvey has rheumatism; Capt. Bailey, poor eyesight, and Maj. Hume, slight physical defects.

The surgeons who did pass were immediately mustered into the U. S. service. The enlisted sergeants are Maj. Lawrence D. Knowles, Second Infantry; Capt. Andrew P. Biddle, Second Independent Battalion, of Detroit; Capt. James A. King, Fifth Infantry; Capt. Charles D. W. Coby, First Infantry; Capt. John L. Birchard, Second Infantry; and Capt. R. R. Owen, First Infantry. There are still five more sergeants needed to fill Michigan's quota, and Gov. Pingree has only 1,925 applicants to choose from.

The officers of the First Regiment were the next to come under fire and it proved disastrous to their hopes. Col. Tyrrell and Maj. Howell were the first to fall; then Capt. Snook, Co. F; Capt. Frank J. McNolly, Co. D; First Lieut. Barton C. Hineley, Co. D; Second Lieut. Chas. M. Frost, Co. D; were all rejected. The enlisted men were considerably worked up over it and marched to Col. Tyrrell's quarters and publicly demonstrated their sympathy for the officers. Col. Tyrrell and Maj. Howell both made speeches to the men and advised them to do nothing rash that would disgrace the regiment and its officers. They both expressed regret at not being able to accompany the regiment, and hoped that it would bring credit upon itself and the towns which it represents. The speeches brought forth hearty cheers from the boys, and they left in better spirits.

Gov. Pingree poured balm into the wounds of Col. Tyrrell and Maj. Howell by giving the former a commission as major, and giving him charge of organizing the recruits of the eight new companies gathered in various parts of the state. Maj. Howell is given a commission of major of state troops and is detailed as provost marshal of Camp Eaton.

The next regimental officer turned down was Lieut. Col. Vos, of the Second, who was rejected because of slight physical ailment. He took the result in a manly way and in a speech to his men he told them that it was their first duty to be soldiers and not to allow the absence of their old officers to deter them from enlisting. He was loudly cheered and his speech had a good effect throughout the camp.

The examination of the officers of the Second Independent Battalion (Cos. A, B and F, Detroit Light Guard and Co. G, of Monroe), was not as disastrous as to the officers of the old First regiment. Second Lieut. Fred W. Reising, of Co. G (Monroe), failed to pass on account of defective hearing, he being the only officer that failed to qualify.

The result of the physical examinations somewhat surprised the members of the First Regiment. The twelve companies were examined and out of 1,072 men 233 failed to pass. Several of the companies lost over 20 men each, while only nine were plucked out of the Lansing company. Nearly all of the men who failed were sent home, and there is a general hustle for recruits.

Michigan's Second Regiment. Gen. Irish issued a formal order attaching the First Independent Battalion (Cos. C, D, E and H of the old Fourth M. N. G.) to the Second Regiment M. N. G., thus forming the Second Michigan Volunteer Regiment. The officers of the Second Regiment are: Col. William T. McGuffin, Grand Rapids; Maj. T. H. Reynolds, Detroit; Maj. B. L. Abbey, Kalamazoo; Maj. W. B. Kalmback, Grand Rapids; Maj. L. D. Knowles, surgeon, Three Rivers; Capt. John L. Birchard, assistant surgeon, Grand Rapids.

This makes Maj. Reynolds, of Detroit, the senior major, and he will be entitled to the right of the line. The line officers of the regiment went before the examining board and four failed to pass. They are Capt. Wm. M. Hatch, Company D (Battle Creek), whose vision is very poor; Capt. Joseph J. Nolan, Company C (Kalamazoo), Capt. Ed. Rode and First Lieut. Max A. Kean, Co. C (Scott Guards of Detroit). The latter is minus several front teeth, which was marked against him, but as he passed an otherwise excellent examination, his case may be reconsidered. Capt. Rode had rheumatism and is over the weight limit.

Organization of Eight New Companies. The state military board has decided to allow the following towns to raise the additional eight companies necessary to fill out Michigan's quota of volunteers: Benton Harbor, Traverse City, Ionia, Mt. Clemens, Three Rivers and Allegan. Two companies, and the Detroit Light Guard an additional company. They are ordered to organize immediately and await orders. They will not go to Island Lake until one regiment has been mustered and sent away to one of the camps of instruction.

Michigan's First Regiment. Adjt. Gen. Irish has issued a special order consolidating the Second Independent Battalion, which is composed of Cos. A, B and F, Detroit Light Guard and Co. G of Monroe, with the First Regiment, Michigan National Guard, making it 12 companies, forming the First Michigan Volunteers. Capt. Gardner has been commissioned colonel. Lieut. Col. Fred Shubel, Jr., of Lansing, will be retained as lieutenant colonel and as the regiment is entitled to three majors the order commissions Maj. Henry L. Hunt, of Jackson, major first battalion; Capt. Chas. W. Parrish, of Detroit, major second battalion and Capt. John P. Kirk, of Ypsilanti, major third battalion. The other staff officers are: Maj. Wm. B. Watts, of Jackson, surgeon; Capt. Andrew P. Biddle, of Detroit, assistant surgeon; Capt. E. W. White, of Jackson, chaplain; First Lieut. Duggan, adjutant. The latter is sergeant-major of the Nineteenth Infantry, U. S. A., stationed at Mobile, and was highly recommended by Col. Gardner.

The promotion of the line officers to field officers left a good many vacancies in some of the companies which were filled by election. It is announced that the troops will leave Camp Eaton as soon as the regiments are mustered and equipped. They will probably go to Chickamauga, where they will rendezvous, and other regiments will follow as rapidly as possible.

Co. A (Ann Arbor), First Infantry, Capt. Ross Granger, had the honor of being the first company mustered in, and the soldier boys were given a rousing reception as they lined up to take the oath of allegiance to their country. Co. B (Adrian), Capt. James M. Holloway, was next mustered in and then followed Co. C (Tecumseh), Capt. Thos. R. Kyle; Co. D (Jackson), Capt. Cyrus F. Smith; Co. E (Lansing), Capt. Robt. J. Craig; Co. F (Mason), Capt. George J. Griffin; Co. G (Ypsilanti), Capt. Frank B. McKeand; Co. H (Jackson), Capt. Benj. C. Newell.

The companies of the Second Independent Battalion (Detroit Light Guard), that were attached to the First Regiment have had their letter changed. Co. A will now be known as I, Co. B as K, Co. C as L and Co. G, of Monroe, as M. They were mustered in as follows: Co. I (Detroit), Capt. Duncan Henderson; Co. K (Detroit), Capt. W. H. Sink; Co. L (Detroit), Capt. Chas. S. Baxter; Co. M (Monroe), Capt. John M. Gittman.

Michigan Loyal Legion. Grand Rapids gave the Michigan commandery of the Loyal Legion a patriotic reception and the sessions were thoroughly enjoyed. The annual banquet was largely attended and the hall was elaborately decorated with patriotic emblems. Col. Henry M. Duffield, the retiring commander, presided. Officers elected: Commander, Claudius B. Grant, of Lansing; senior vice commander, James T. Sterling, of Detroit; junior vice, Orrin Blamp, of Bay City; recorder, F. W. Swift, of Detroit; register, Charles L. Williams, of Detroit; chancellor, James Rhines, of Detroit; treasurer, L. H. Chamberlin, of Detroit; chaplain, L. A. Arthur, of Detroit.

MICHIGAN NEWS ITEMS. The second ward school house at Cadillac was destroyed by fire. Loss $9,000. The outlook is now favorable for the proposed electric road between Flint and Fenton. The farm house of A. A. Peck, of Emmett township, Calhoun county, burned with contents. Loss $2,000. St. Clair now has pure water, the intake pipe of the waterworks having been extended 1,000 feet further out into the river. The United States land office at Grayling is to be consolidated with the office at Marquette, because of lack of business at the former.

WILL OCCUPY CUBA.

66,000 TROOPS TO BE LANDED AT ONCE.

President McKinley and His Advisers Decide That Havana Must be Taken at Once—Hope to Drive Spanish Out by the Middle of June.

Washington, Gen. Miles says positively that he will have 66,000 troops in Cuba within 10 days. This army of invasion will consist of 16,000 soldiers of the regular U. S. Army and 50,000 of the volunteers being mustered in from the several states.

President McKinley, Secretaries Alger and Long and their advisers have become convinced that this nation must now take aggressive action all along the line. The bugbear of the yellow fever scourge is to be ignored, and the Spaniards are to be ejected from Cuba before midsummer. If American soldiers can drive them out, next week the permanent army of occupation will be established in Cuba, and volunteer regiments will be hurrying forward to reinforce it from nearly every state east of the Rocky mountains. By the same time the volunteers and regulars west of the great divide will be embarked on transports and fairly started on their voyage of 3,500 miles to establish American provisional government in the Philippines.

The first division of regulars, aggregating 15,000 men, and a regiment of Cubans which has been organized, armed and drilled at Key West, will be landed in Cuba as speedily as they can be transported to a point within 300 miles of the gulf coast cities. This force will at once establish an entrenched camp, fully fortified, to be used as the base of operations for the land attack on Havana. The transport vessels, as rapidly as they are emptied, will hurry back to be refilled with volunteer regiments ordered as reinforcements to the regulars, the latter beginning active operations in the field as soon as they are relieved of the duty of holding the established base.

Within 10 days after the first landing it is expected that the transports will complete a third round trip, and the volunteer division, which has in the meantime held the base, will evacuate it on the arrival of the relief, and advance in support of the first regular division. This process will be repeated until at least two volunteer army corps of 25,000 men each have been successively established in Cuba, with a supporting force of 50,000 volunteers more on the southern coast of the U. S. less than 24 hours away.

The volunteer regiments to compose the force will be selected from among those most prompt to muster. State organizations which are earliest accepted by the United States will be rewarded with the most active duty, except in a few instances.

Major Gen. Shafter will command the regulars and Major Gen. Lee and Wade will lead the two divisions of volunteers. It is believed this force will insure the speedy downfall of Havana and assure the complete surrender of Spanish rule in the island before the rainy season fully sets in. The statement is made on authority that ships enough to convey the whole expedition, their equipment and subsistence, supplies, await the orders of the government.

Chickamauga: The entire force of U. S. regulars stationed at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga park, has been ordered to the front. The First and Tenth cavalry go to New Orleans to embark for Cuba, the Second cavalry to Mobile, the Third and Sixth to Tampa. The entire infantry force is ordered to Tampa.

Washington: Maj. Gen. Miles and his entire staff have gone to Tampa to superintend the embarkation of the army of invasion, and will accompany the army. Gen. Miles said: "The campaign will be pushed with all possible speed and the war brought to a termination in the shortest possible time."

Gen. Nunez, of the Cuban army, has returned from a conference with the insurgent leaders and Gen. Miles is assured that the insurgent forces under Gen. Gomez will operate under Miles' direct orders.

Supplies and Troops for Dewey. Troops and supplies will be sent at once to assist acting Rear Admiral Dewey in holding the Philippines. If the original program is adhered to the volunteers to be sent will include two regiments of infantry and two batteries of heavy artillery from California, one regiment of infantry from Oregon, one from Washington, and one battalion of infantry and senator Shoup's troop of riflemen from Idaho. In addition to these volunteers the war department has about 5,000 available regulars on the coast which will also be sent. The California naval militia is anxious to go and will probably be accepted.

The cruiser Charleston has a crew of 357 men and can accommodate the marines which are to be sent to reinforce Dewey's naval force. Orders were given for the Charleston at Mare Island to rush her stores and provisions on board and have her ready to proceed to Manila as a convoy for the transports.

The navy department hurried together an exceptionally large stock of ammunition to go forward to replenish the ammunition of Dewey's fleet. The quartermaster general of California promptly engaged the necessary transports for 10,000 men and the supplies, all the splendid fast vessels of the Panama and Pacific mail ship lines having been placed at the disposal of the United States.

Revolutionary outbreaks and bread riots in Spain have caused eight provinces besides Madrid to be placed under martial law.

VOLUNTEERS ORDERED SOUTH

Ordered to Concentrate at Chickamauga, Washington and Coast Cities.

The war department has issued an order for the concentration of the volunteer army being mustered in from the various states. The order taken in connection with the extensive preparations being made by the quartermaster and commissary departments is a practical corroboration of the semi-official reports that 50,000 or 60,000 troops are to be landed on Cuba at once.

The first regiments raised in each state mustered in and found ready for service are to be sent to Chickamauga to be "licked into shape," and thence sent to Tampa and other gulf ports, including Mobile, New Orleans and Galveston, preparatory to embarking for Cuba. The second division of regiments go to Washington, where they are to form a reserve, ready to reinforce the Cuban army at any moment, to man the coast defenses, or for other purposes. The third division is to remain for the present in the states in which the organizations are mustered, subject to call for duty in the Philippines or for general reserve purposes. Possibly they may never be called upon to leave their native states.

Ohio will send to Chickamauga three regiments of infantry, three batteries of light artillery and eight troops of cavalry; to Washington, one regiment of infantry and one light battery; in reserve at Camp Bushnell, four regiments of infantry.

Michigan will send to Chickamauga two regiments of infantry, to Washington, one regiment of infantry, in reserve at Camp Eaton, one regiment of infantry.

Later, the First Michigan Volunteers have been ordered to Tampa at once instead of to Chickamauga. The total force of volunteers to be concentrated at Chickamauga will be 38 regiments of infantry, one regiment and nine troops of cavalry, and six batteries of light art, one heavy of art, one regiment of infantry, one troop of cavalry, and four batteries of heavy artillery. At San Antonio, Tex., one regiment of infantry and nine troops of cavalry. At New Orleans, three regiments of infantry. At Mobile one regiment of infantry. At Tampa, Fla., one regiment of infantry. As soon as the regulars embark for Cuba the volunteers concentrated at Chickamauga will move to Tampa, Mobile and New Orleans and all those mentioned above will follow the regulars into Cuba, with the exception of those at San Francisco which are intended for service in the Philippines.

At Washington, D. C., will be concentrated the second division of the volunteer army of Cuban invasion which will consist of 25 regiments and two battalions of infantry, one troop of cavalry and three batteries of light artillery.

The reserve and coast defense forces to be held in the various state camps until needed elsewhere will consist of 48 regiments of infantry, one regiment and five troops of cavalry, seven heavy and five light batteries of artillery.

Honor for Dewey and His Men.

The President and congress, in behalf of the American people, have paid a fitting tribute to the heroism of Commodore Dewey and his officers and men, for the magnificent and unparalleled victory in Manila bay. President McKinley sent a message to congress setting forth the principal facts relating to the achievement and recommended that a vote of thanks be extended by congress to Commodore Dewey and the gallant officers and men of his fleet.

Without a word of debate and without a dissenting voice the Senate agreed to a resolution carrying into effect the recommendation of the President. A bill was then presented increasing the number of rear admirals in the navy from six to seven, in order that the President might nominate Commodore Dewey to the highest position in the navy within his gift, and that, too, was passed without dissent. In addition a joint resolution was unanimously agreed to directing the secretary of the navy to present to Commodore Dewey a sword of honor, and to have struck, in commemoration of the battle of Manila, a bronze medal for each of the officers and men who participated in the gallant fight. The resolution appropriates $10,000 to enable the secretary to carry its provisions into effect.

The House also promptly concurred in the President's recommendation and passed the bill creating an additional rear-admiral of the navy.

Spanish Monarchy in Danger.

All Spain is in an uproar and revolution is in the air. The people are defying the troops and the royal family on the point of flight. The mobs cry: "Down with Moret and Bermejo." The Western leaders are discussing ways and means for bringing the Cuban butcher into power. Surprise, disappointment and indignation have been caused at Madrid by the tremendous destruction done by the American fleet at Manila. Owing to the excited condition of the populace martial law has been proclaimed at Madrid. Rioting and bloodshed are reported at Seville, Barcelona and Valencia. There is the most intense excitement throughout the kingdom and a revolution is imminent. Madrid is an armed camp and the queen regent and the boy king have completed all preparations for flight. While the Carlists are active, it is believed, nevertheless, that the dictatorship of Weyler may be the outcome of the crisis. CHAPTER XXXI.—(Continued.)
"We went to Blantyre, my son John and I. He told us that he would not renew the lease. At first we thought that he was mad; it seemed to us that the very stones by the wayside must rise up and cry out against it. He said that we must leave Bromhill. My son John looked at him and answered, 'The Moores have always lived at Bromhill, and always will. We shall see about that,' said Blantyre. 'I have a more eligible tenant in view, and you will be compelled to leave whether you like it or not.' This to a Moore of Bromhill, my lady! I think we were too stunned to speak. We went out of his office, and it seemed to me that the earth and sky were meeting. Then we heard afterward that Peter Harrogate had bribed the agent with a fifty-pound note to persuade Lord Caraven to refuse us the lease. My lady, it is a crying injustice. We are sons of the soil, we have made the farm what it is. If the earl sends us from it, he will send me to my grave. I should die on the threshold, I could not live one day away from my house. He must not do it, Lady Caraven. The bonds of long generations must not be so easily broken. He cannot send his old retainers away in that fashion—men whose fathers died in the service of his ancestors, men whose bodies have been interposed to meet the blows intended for the lords of Caraven. What is fifty pounds compared to that?"

"No," replied Lady Caraven, gravely, "it must not be."

"They told me," the old man continued, "that the young earl is careless, and that he leaves everything to Blantyre. You will plead for me, my lady; you will remember that an old, white-haired man has left his life in your hands—for I should die if I left my home for one day. Ask for justice for me, and if the agent must be bribed, I will give him twice fifty pounds; ask for justice for me as you hope for mercy."

All pale and trembling, she rose from her seat, frightened at the responsibility that he had placed upon her, remembering how her last petition for merciful consideration had been received.

"You may leave your cause in my hands," she said. "I think I may promise that you shall have justice."

He raised his trembling hands and blessed her, and Lady Caraven went in-doors with a weight at her heart. Not least did she feel her great anger against Blantyre, this man who advised him and counseled him in wrong-doing, this man who committed all unkind and unjust acts in the name of the earl. Then, with her vivid imagination, she was not slow to picture the painful scenes in the farm at Bromhill. It seemed to her almost cruel that one man should have so much power over another. She remembered her last defeat, and wondered when she thought what another would cost her.

She must set about her present undertaking differently; she must be more gracious, more winning; she must condescend to plead. She had the life of a white-haired old man; the happiness of a whole family, in her hands—there would be no room for self—she must be more patient. She remembered Longfellow's beautiful words:

"Bear a lily in thy hand— Gates of brass cannot withstand One touch of that magic wand."

She would lose no time in puzzling reflections, but do that which had been asked of her. She would go, "lily in hand," and refuse to leave her husband until her prayer was granted. She smiled to herself as she thought how diplomatic she was growing. On the last occasion that she had a favor to beg from him she had not thought of a fitting time. She was growing wiser.

"After luncheon to-day," she decided, "and that resolve to control her own impudence and study her husband's humors was one of the wisest resolves she had ever made in her life."

After luncheon there was generally an interval of quiet in the castle. Most of the ladies went to their own rooms; some of the gentlemen went to the billiard room, some sought the library. As good fortune would have it, Lord Caraven went to the library alone. Hildred followed him.

"Are you going to write a letter?" she asked.

"Yes, unless you will be kind enough to write it for me," he replied. "It seems to me a sin to exert one's self on such a day as this," said the handsome earl, proceeding leisurely to seat himself in an easy chair and watch his wife while she wrote for him."

CHAPTER XXXII.

ER promptitude pleased him; her desire to meet his wishes gratified him. The letter she had written was just what he wanted. The young wife smiled to herself at the thought of how well she was progressing. She looked up at him with a smile, saying to herself that she must bring the whole artillery of her smiles and grace to bear upon him.

"Should you like a companion for a short time?" she said. "I like this old library in the afternoon; the sunshine slants on the wall. I often come here, and, looking around me, I meditate on the glories of the dead and gone Caravens. They were a noble race; no wonder that you are proud of them."

"I am proud of them," confessed the earl. "I am grateful enough, but I love the honor of my house."

"And no wonder. I was looking at the other day some of those portraits in the eastern gallery. They were noble men, those ancestors of yours; some of them have kindly faces. Ah, they may talk of worldly and money, but I would rather have the proud distinction of noble birth like yours than all the money in the world!"

"Would you?" he asked, dreamily. "That seems strange."

"I do not think so. We all value most highly that which we have not," she replied, simply. "It must be an incentive to a noble and glorious life to have such ancestors as yours."

An expression of deeper earnestness than she had yet seen came over his face.

"I am an unworthy successor to the honor of the Caravens," he said. "I thought it would all be different when I began life."

"And why was it not different?" asked the young wife.

"I cannot tell," he replied. "I think indolence has been my ruin. I have never yet taken a real interest in anything."

"That is strange," said Hildred; "but it does not follow that you never will."

The window at which they were sitting was open, and long tendrils of white jasmine blew in. Sometimes they touched the earl's face, and it was under the pretext of removing them that they should tease him; that his young wife drew nearer to him. It might have touched any man's heart to see how she watched his face, how she kept her eyes fixed upon it, lest by word or deed she should irritate him. She drew back the long sprays of jasmine.

The view from the window was a beautiful one, extending over the pleasure grounds and the green undulating woods. The wind that came in so gently was laden with the breath of flowers. Hildred looked at her husband, and then, half kneeling, she took up her station by the side of his chair. What it cost her to make that advance no one but herself knew. Her face flushed, her heart beat. It seemed to her a bold step. If Lord Caraven felt any surprise, he was very careful not to show it.

"Your ancestors were such noble men," she said. "I had no ancestors, yet I would never do a mean action. Where do my instincts of nobility come from? And you, Lord Caraven—you call yourself an unworthy descendant of these great men. Why?"

"This is a troublesome question," he replied, with a smile, "and the answer would have but little interest for you."

"Everything that concerns you interests me," she rejoined, quickly. "Why should it not?"

"I have not been so kind to you, Hildred," he said, "that you should feel interested in me."

"Perhaps we have both made mistakes," she returned. "I think I can guess what you would say. You mean that you have done nothing great and glorious."

"It may be so," said the earl. She looked up at him, with all her heart in her eyes.

"There is one thing to be said," she remarked. "You may not have done any great or brilliant deeds, but you have never done a mean one."

"I hope not," he replied.

"Nor," she continued, quickly, "would you allow a mean or unjust deed to be done in your name—would you?"

"No," he answered, so decidedly that she was filled with great content.

She ventured on a further liberty, one that touched him. She laid her hand on his.

"I knew it," she said, "I was sure of it. I knew that you might seem indolent, that you might be unfairly influenced, that you might perhaps at times be misled, but I feel quite sure that it was against your code of honor, against your wish and will against your ideas of right."

"What is against them, Hildred?" he asked.

She was silent for a few minutes, and then she laid her hand more tenderly upon his.

"Thank you," she said, "for letting me speak to you. I was half afraid at first, but now you give me courage."

Her sweet humility disarmed him. If she had been proud, haughty or peevish, there would have been little chance to plead her case. Her gentleness touched him. For the first time in his life he took her hands and clasped them in his own.

"Do not be afraid of speaking to me, Hildred," he said.

She had so much at stake that she trembled. He saw her beautiful face grow pale, and her lips tremble.

"Hildred," he said, gently, "you pain me. What is it you would say? Speak to me without fear."

Then she took courage. She raised her eyes to his.

"I know of a great act of injustice that is being done in your name, Lord Caraven," and in her own forceful language she told him the whole story. He listened in silence.

"Do you assure me, Hildred," he said at last, "that this is true?"

"It is perfectly true," she replied.

"That Blantyre has taken that bribe, and has refused in my name to renew Moore's lease?"

"Yes, he has done that."

"Then," said the earl, with unusual decision, "his reign will be a short one. He told me that Moore was letting the land go to ruin—that the farm was not bringing in half what it could be made to bring—that— Well, I have no patience to repeat all he said. If this be true, he has deceived me—and, by my earldom, I vow he shall not deceive me twice!"

She had hardly dared to hope for such ready answer—such hopeful response.

"Will you listen to me," she said, "while I tell you more?"

"Yes, I will listen," replied the earl, with gloomy face.

She did not spare him. She told him how his estate was worse cared for and more mismanaged than any other in England—how the poor cried out for help and did not receive it, the sick and the sorrowful for relief and did not get it.

"DREW BACK THE SPRAYS.

It—how the wretched homes caused fever and rheumatism and a host of miseries—how the laborers on his estate were worse paid, worse lodged and worse fed than on any other—how the tenants were more heavily taxed—how his name was spoken with curses, not blessings."

COST OF FRENCH MINISTERIES.

Government Needs an Electoral Army to Sustain It.

The ministry of education and the fine arts has no fewer than 115,709 paid officials, says the Nineteenth Century. As to the ministry of war, it is difficult to determine the exact number of civilian employes connected with it. They are lost in the crowd of military officials. Besides, ministers have a trick, in preparing the estimates, of hiding as much as possible the full number of their subordinate functionaries. Their salaries are so small and their duties of such slight importance, when they are not altogether useless, that to furnish full details might lead to their being got rid of. Parliament and the press are clamoring for retrenchment and reform. The budget, which at the time of writing is not yet voted, amounts to the enormous figure of 3,500,000,000 francs ($140,000,000), and every day a few millions are added for the purpose of satisfying electoral interests, while there is an annual deficit, which can only be made good by the aid of disguised loans. Is it on the lower officials that this golden shower falls? They are ten or twelve in a room, occupied in classifying papers or copying documents which have already been written once in an adjoining office. They receive from 2,000 francs to 6,000 francs a year, according to position and seniority; altogether 20,000 francs or 25,000 francs. It would be easy to do away with half of them without detriment to the service; indeed, it would be an advantage to suppress useless circumspection and exact assiduity from the clerks. But the government, as organized at present, has such great need of an electoral army to sustain it that it is obliged to go on increasing the number of its interested supporters in order not to succumb to party attacks.

THE DAWN OF WOMANHOOD.

Earnest Words From Mrs. Pinkham to Mothers Who Have Daughters, and a Letter From Mrs. Dunmore, of Somerville, Mass.

The advent of womanhood is fraught with dangers which even careful mothers too often neglect.

One of the dangers to a young woman is belated menstruation. "The lily droops on its stem and dies before its beauty is unfolded," or she may have entered into the perfection of womanhood with little apparent inconvenience or disorder of health. But suddenly the menses entirely cease.

Mother, puerile malady is taking hold of your daughter, and quick consumption may follow! Take in start steps to produce regular menstruation.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certain to assist nature to perform her regular duties, procure it at once; there are volumes of testimony from grateful mothers who have had their daughters' health restored by its use. If personal advice is desired, write quickly to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. It will be given you without charge, and it will be the advice of abundant experience and success.

Read the following from Mrs. CHARLES DUNMORE, 102 Fremont St., Winter Hill, Somerville, Mass.:

"I was in pain day and night; my doctor did not seem to help me. I could not seem to find any relief until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had inflammation of the womb, a bearing-down pain, and the whites very badly. The pain was so intense that I could not sleep at night. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a few months, and am now all right. Before that I took morphine pills for my pains; that was a great mistake; for the relief was only momentary and the effect vile. I am so thankful to be relieved of my sufferings, for the pains I had were something terrible."
